

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE
LOSES TWO POPULAR FAC-ULTY MEMBERS

Professors N. M. McGinnis and S.
A. McMillan Resign to Enter
Business World

December the first witnessed the loss of two valuable men by the School of Agriculture. Professor McGinnis of the Horticultural Department, and for years one of the most popular faculty members of the entire College, on this date severed himself from the institution and has gone to Dallas with Mrs. McGinnis where he is to enter the newly-opened field of commercial landscape art and beautification. Both students and faculty witnessed his departure regretfully and especially will those students who have known him personally, either in the class room or in social life, miss his wonderful personality in their daily routine.

On this same date, Professor S. A. McMillan of the Agronomy Department also separated himself from the College and with his family departed Tuesday. Mr. McMillan has been connected with the school as Professor of Farm Management and with difficulty will his position be filled for the coming term. Mr. McMillan is likewise entering the business world and is to immediately become a director of an oil company in which he holds considerable interest. Professor McMillan, also leaves a great body of friends and especially will he be missed by the students of agronomy.

NOTE OF THANKS

Sunday night.

The men who speak to us at these services are not of the average type; on the contrary they are men of education and experience, invited by our Y. M. C. A. to speak. Many of these speakers are known all over the United States for the splendid characters they possess and the record they have attained during their lives. Should we not appreciate this fact by coming out to these services ourselves and assisting in every way we possibly can to make them successful?

At the service on one Sunday night we were extremely fortunate in having with us Mrs. A. R. Kadell of Bryan who rendered a beautiful solo and aided us in many other ways. Mrs. Kadell has a voice which when

SENIOR STUDENT RETURNS TO SCHOOL AFTER ILLNESS

J. T. Rollins, more familiarly known as "Dough", has returned to school after a few weeks absence due to hospital confinement from an appendicitis operation. "Dough" is attending classes with the aid of a cane and is greeting his classmates and profs with his broad smile—we missed "Dough" but that is too mild an expression to refer to your correspondents!

Aleck Harris has composed a parody on "You Can't Get Lovin' Where There Aint Any Love." A certain young lady of Waco is responsible for the inspiration. It's really good—ask him to sing it for you sometime.

"LEAVE IT TO JANE" HERE
NEXT TUESDAY

The announcement of the prospective visit of America's best musical comedy "Leave It To Jane," to the people of Bryan and College on Tuesday, Dec. 9th, should be the means of crowding that playhouse to its limit when this attraction comes to town. The book and lyrics are by Gug Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse and the music by Jerome Kern. F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, America's foremost musical comedy producers, direct the tour. "Leave It To Jane" is adapted from George Ade's famous play, "The College Widow," is a delightful story that has both wit and ginger, with pretty sentiment, and it is said there is charm to be detected everywhere in this gay production. The spirit of youth and merrymaking obtains throughout. The comeliness of the young ladies
