HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY HOLDS LIVELY MEETING

Interesting Program and Delightful Refreshments

At the regular meeting of the Horticultural Society Monday night the organization fulfilled its promise to become one of the most active, if not the most active, clubs on the campus. A large number of members were present and a most interesting program had been prepared. President Westcourt called the meeting to order, brought such business before the body as was necessary and turned the meeting over to Messrs. Whitman, Livingston, and McGee, who had arranged the evening's papers and refreshments.

Mr. G. D. Livingston was first on the program with a well-delivered talk on the history of Horticulture in Harrison County. Mr. Harry McGee then addressed the society on the Pecan Industry in Harrison County, and stressed especially the future prospects of pecan growing in this locality. Mr. Charles Whitman concluded the talks of the evening with a discussion on the Receiving End of the A.R.T. Company. McGee wore to carry the ball himself because of his shoulder, he made certain the Farmer victory by his headwork alone. As safety he was out of the defense, but his return of punts was certain and sure. It took a football brain to run that team through Texas after penalties had pushed us back again and again from a touchdown, but "Knick" didn't let that get his goat and we went through in great form.

The Aggie line was a scrapping machine in itself. Davis and Gouger were under punts to perfection, and hit freely. The Texas backs were supposed to be good at circling the ends but only once did they succeed in breaking through Gouger and Davis. Davis blocked the Texas punt behind their goal line at the end of the first half and but for the whistle—but we aren't griping. The line proper opened holes for the plunging Farmer backs and to the line is due much of the credit for the successful playing of Mahan and Alexander. Drake, in his last game against Texas, got his revenge, for last year's defeat. His running-mate, Carruthers, had the hardest man on the Texas eleven to handle, but he handled him to the satisfaction of all concerned, except the west bleachers. Captain Woody made his exit from College football fiercely fighting and never did the big man so tear up the enemy line and plays before they reached the line. His place was rammed again and again and out from under the mountains of men would come Wilson—and the ball was where it started. Murrah at left guard did good work. Several Texas plays were rudely stopped behind their starting point by the heavy Aggie and he needed watching at all times. Johnnie Pierce can play anywhere. Perhaps that is why he showed such versatility in holding aid methods promptly applied, while others ran for a stretcher and professional aid. Before it was possible for such to arrive the man had breathed his last.

It was with the deepest sadness that the company heard the news. Cooper had been one of the most active men of the organization and was admired and loved by every associate. His loss came as a heavy blow and his memory will be cherished by all who knew him, in his company, in his class, and in his school.

His character, as judged by those who were in daily contact and association with him, was that of a man of duty and honor and through his death the corps has lost a most loyal and well-loved member. He took the highest interest in all things relative to the school and gave his untiring support to every good cause. His friends are numbered as all those who knew him.

In the Military Department Sergeant Cooper has an enviable record. He was a member of the Senior Division of the R. O. T. C. and attached the camp at Zachary Taylor during the summer. In the classroom he has always been designated as an excellent student and every instructor held him in the highest regard.

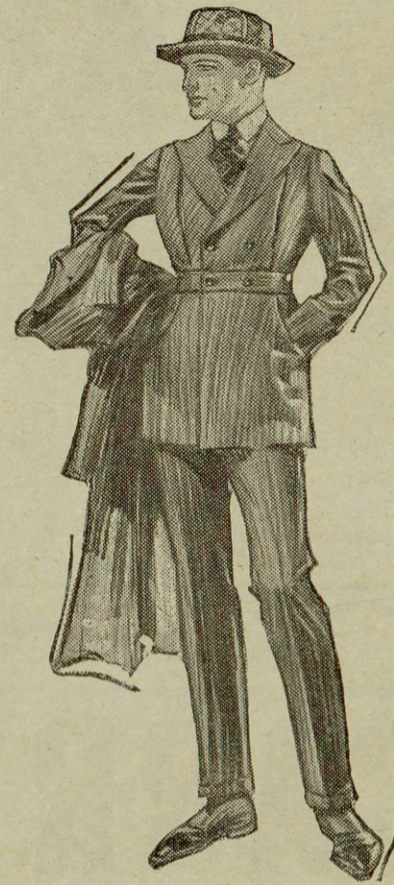

The Georgetown Club of his home city, Company C, and the Junior Class rendered such honors as were in keeping until the remains were transported to Georgetown for interment. The flag hung at half-mast Thursday and Silver Taps was played by the band Wednesday night. Lieutenant Thrasher and Sergeant Brinkman accompanied the remains to Georgetown.

Texas another time in the third quarter, Texas lined up her play and toward the end of the period had grasped the offensive from the Aggies. The beginning of the fourth quarter marked the farthest advance of the orange and white and by the middle of the period the Farmers had regained their stride and were smashing through as in the first part of the game. Two first downs in the last five minutes of play made Texas prospects gloomy and had the Aggie drive been allowed to continue a few minutes longer, another score would probably have decorated the score board.

Texas began tricks and open formations in the last quarter and these were responsible for two of her five first downs, forward passes bringing in two. A. and M. made first down six times, four coming in the first quarter. For the first time this year the Aggies pulled something besides straight football. Their shift play worked well. Texas' shift never did damage. The superiority of A. and M. was indisputable and no one can say anything but that the best team won.

Wilson won the toss and chose to receive at the north goal. Higginbotham returned the Texas kick-off. Hig at once punted to the Texas 35 yard line and Brennon punted back, the ball going out of bounds on the A. and M. 35 yard mark. On the first play of the game, Hig lost one yard around left end, Graves getting the tackle. Higginbotham then shoved a long punt for 55 yards to the Texas twenty. McCallum started Varsity's offensive with two yards thru right tackle and Hedick added two over left tackle. With six yards to go, Texas punted on the third down to mid-field. The exchange of punts had netted A. and M. 30 yards and advancing into enemy territory
