

PERSONNEL OF COMPANY "G"

stands high in his class work is borne out by the fact that he often is called upon to represent the Dairy Husbandry Department in an official test on stock farms of note.

"Peter" is a natural "bug hunter" having a deep love for plant life and an especial affection for flowers, so he spent most of last summer in Kentucky in search of "Four Roses." A red nose bears mute evidence.

When it comes to play, no one can have more fun than he but when play time is over you can't find a more conscientious and studious man. It has been said that "he would rather argue than eat," but he is a good loser. * All in all, "Peter" is a man whom we all admire and whose friendship we cherish.

Juniors.

Japour, M. J. Port Arthur
"Japappapi", is better known as Max along the Port Arthur coast, and even within a 20 mile radius of that place, is one of the valuable sergeants of Company G. The boys don't feel hard at "Jap" for blowing his little whistle every time the bugle call sounds, because he was on the Port Arthur Police Force so long that he is used to riots and disorders. Besides being a good Peace Officer Maxine, recently became a Fire Chief. In spite of these municipal characteristics, he is 100% pep, and one of the "Bull's" favorites, and is on the staff of 'Map Makers'. At Camp Taylor will be seen, and what he will do at A. and M. will be enumerated in the "Acts of the Mighty".

Symth, L. L. Mart, 30 miles from Mexia.

"Roundhouse Red," the pride of G Company and one of the most popular sergeants on the Campus, was put on the train at Mart and sent to College for brain treatment by his father, Dr. Smyth. Red's athletic ability at Camp Taylor was the talk of the South, his 100 yard dashes was the striking feature of the camp. "Smythy" holds the foremost place among the bayonet instructors on the Campus. Besides his physical marvels, Red has one of the finest dispositions in the Company, and completely monopolizes all of this "Popularity Stuff". As a map-maker just ask Col. Muller! As a ladies man, "Go-on, boy, you tell 'em". The future Captain of Company G.

Hall, T. Hightower
"T", as our popular "top-kick" is more familiarly known, entered school with a two year class of '18 and took up the long course of work for a degree the following year, being classed as a Distinguished student that session. Since his entrance at A. and M. "T" has been an active member of the "Y" cabinet. He is Secretary of the East Texas Club. College activities don't occupy all of his time, as his attentions to C. I. A. and a thorough correspondence course form the nucleus of his thought propagand. He also reads the "Lass-O" with as much interest as he does those letters bearing a Denton postmark. G Company was fortunate indeed, to obtain such an experienced man as its first sergeant, and his popularity with the whole company exemplifies their appreciation of the fact.

Atkins, H. L. Bandera
Some call him "Wrench Aviator," but others like the name 'Daddy', because of his mature ways. He was a mechanic in the S. A. T. C. and from his knowledge gained during that time he is now an expert watch repairer. His numerous professions do not stop here, for at Camp Taylor he was a howling success as a candy dealer. He has given up all of his professions in the business world now in order that he might give his whole time to his studies and to convincing everyone that Bandera is in Texas. However, just now his whole time seems to be spent in worrying about his growth, not because he does not want to be taller, but this means another uniform in the near future. Sgt. Atkin's physique shows him to be a member of the "Takers of Tantalac."

Forest L. Buie Waxahachie
When the gates of this great institution opened in September, 1917, someone forgot to close them and a rare "Fish" sauntered up the main driveway. It was not long before it was known that he was from Waxahachie and for what it was noted. Since then forest has made a record of which we are proud.

After successfully completing his freshman year he was recommended for the training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., where he made good and received a commission in the Infantry. He was then stationed at Camp Grant, Ill., in preparation for the trip across the pond.

When the Armistice was signed, the Army lost all of its attractions for Buie, however, and at the 1st of January, 1918, he was back with us again. In a few years he will be noted as the man who is the fault roads in Texas. He now has the honor of being the 1st Sergeant of the "peppiest" Band A. and M. know. He is a man who is cooperative, reserved, a good fellow. He is instrumental in producing the results that G Company is now obtaining. We predict for him a happy and prosperous future, and are proud to call him our friend.

Walker, J. A. Rockwall
"Reg" is the only survivor of the antiquated body of men known as the "P. H. H. R." He knows the history of the "Cave of the winds" from the year one to the present time. He is a racy saxophone artist of unusual ability. "Reg" is a real live one in his chosen profession, a follower of Jimmy Nagle and the "General." Besides being among the best applied men in his class, he has several years of practical engineering experience which causes us to predict for him a successful engineering career.

However, "Reg" does not limit his activities to the Campus, he is one of the few men who has social obligations in Bryan. He is popular equally among his fellow students and the faculty and G company is proud to list him on its roster.

Black, L. S. "Everywhere"
Leon hails from goodness knows where, we don't, neither does he. "Promptness," that's his motto, and to "Soupy" he is never late, but Reveille, that's digerent. His wisdom does not flow in that direction. NO! Never! L. S. Black, G Company reporter, is a regular ladies man. They all admire his shining curls and his cute and stately gait. It is
