NEW COMMITTEE NAMED ON STUDENT WELFARE

Principal Business of Such Committee is to Secure Students Viewpoint on College Life.

Some students have asked what the duties and functions of the Student Welfare Committee are. Such questions can best be answered by quoting College Regulations.

Paragraph 66, section 17 of College Regulations reads:

"A committee on Student Welfare consisting of the President, the Dean of the College, the Commandant, two members of the faculty, to be appointed by the President, and five students, nominated, subject to the approval of the President, as follows: Two by the Senior Class, one each by the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes.

"It shall be the duty of this committee to consider matters affecting the welfare and interest of the student body, and to make from time to time, such recommendations as it may deem proper."

At the first meeting of the committee, Dr. Bizzell stated that in the past, the faculty had experienced some difficulty in securing the student's point of view in matters about the College. His idea is to give the student body a means of expressing itself on matters of interest to them, consequently this committee has been created.

The members of the committee are privileged to make any suggestion or criticism which is constructive and helpful in any way. These suggestions are discussed and the ideas of both faculty and student members are voiced.

Some of the questions that have already been considered are those of food, water, lights, and walks, and in every instance the College authorities have done every thing in their power to improve conditions.

The committee is yours. Heretofore the student members have had to rely upon what they could gather in their daily observations, for ideas upon which to base their recommendations. If you think of anything

T-CLUB MEN PUT ON ATHLETIC EXHIBITION

Boxing Bouts Principal Attraction and Whole Program Greatly Enjoyed by the Spectators.

In order to furnish some excitement between terms members of the T-Association here put on a series of boxing bouts, a wrestling match and some athletic stunts at the College Gymnasium Wednesday night, January 21st.

Following is a resume of the events:

Wupperman and Cushing of the Artillery fought a fast bout.

Frazier and Jones contested on the mat for two falls, Frazier securing one and Jones one.

Wilson and Pullia pulled off a fast bout.

Wendt and McDonald, two heavies, came on and put on one of the cleverest scraps of the evening.

Snell and Ward, two light weights, battled three fast rounds.

Mahan and Logan, two middle weights, put up a scrappy bout.

After the regular bouts were finished two young "cultud" pugilists entered the squared ring and lustily pounded each other for about ten minutes. "Anthracite" Brewster excelled in long swings but "Battling Midnight" Jordan put in many effective short-arm jolts.

The crowning event of the evening came in the guise of a basketball game between the "Meal-Hound" team (composed of "Woody" Wilson, S. Alexander, R. Higginbotham, Mufrah, Scudder and Drake) and the Midgets (composed of Ward, Snell, and several others whose names were not obtainable.

R. V.'S MEET.

The R. V.'s met last week for the purpose of electing a King, to serve at the Carnival and to be present at the Queen's Ball which will be presented before and after respectively? the R. V. Hop on April 23rd. Finckney B. Price was unanimously selected to fill the position and so it is up to him to select the Queen.

FARMERS TAME MUSTANGS OF S. M. U. DALLAS

Played Ragged Game But Managed to Nose Out Ahead of Methodist Brethren.

In a very rough and poorly played game Tuesday night the A. and M. quint continued their winning streak by conquering the unruly Mustang Five from Dallas. From a basketball standpoint the Aggies were a sore disappointment to their followers, and they won not so much upon their own merits as upon S. M. U.'s inability to hit the basket. The whole team seemed to lose their heads and persisted in playing the man and not the ball. The result was that the passing, which has heretofore been the Aggies main asset, was almost entirely absent. It is true that the absence of Ehlert hurt the club but this cannot account for the lack of condition shown by several of the home team.

Altho the A. and M. quint did not play the basketball they are capable of they displayed lots of fight and this one factor may have been the deciding element of the game. For S. M. U., McKnight was the best performer with three goals to his credit. Probably the best actor on the Aggies side of the show was Burkes who put up one of the hardest fights ever seen on the local floor. McQuillen and Forbes seemed to be completely out of adjustment and their failure to put the ring around the ball was responsible for the closeness of the score.

The line-up:
A. and M. Position S. M. U.
McQuillen Forward Barnet
DeLee Forward Kitts
Forbes Center McKnight
Williams Guard Edmundson
Hartung Guard Cooper

Substitutes: A. and M.—Gouger for DeLee, Burks for Gouger.
Referee—Graves.

TROOP A CAVALRY LEVE MILITARY UNIT AT A. AND M.

Composed of Many Leading Students and May Capture Howell Trophy This June

Did you ever stop to realize how surprised these men of the classes of many years ago are when they come back to the old school and see the many changes and improvements that have taken place here since they used to run fish around and around the halls of the older dormitories? Take the military side of things now. It used to be that the boys were carried guns and walked many, many miles on long hikes were the only thing to be found around here in the form of cadets. A. and M., from a military standpoint meant infantry, and infantry alone.

Everybody knew how to deploy as skirmishers and do route step and all that stuff, but as far as a fighting unit was concerned they had to depend entirely upon their two good feet and their hob-nailed shoes. Not that their training was not good, or that they were liable to have to go out to battle some night at midnight, but everything was infantry—and it was one sided.

But look at our school now. We have a young West Point of our own and you have to look at a fellow's insignia to tell which of the many branches of the service he is boasting as absolutely the best. The old infantry is still here, but we have added recently the Artillery and the Signal Corps. They did a lot to put pep into the cadet corps; then work was interesting and different and they helped to show us that the doughboys aren't the only men in Uncle Sam's army.

But now look what has happened. Capt. Mower has organized a troop of Cavalry—and boys, let me say that he has got some bunch ganged up there on the top stoop of Leggett Hall. They've just started out, haven't even gotten all of their equipment yet, but they're starting out with a rush and an idea in their heads to rush right on up to the top
