

K. M. THORNTON MAKES TALK BEFORE CHEMISTRY CLUB

During the last meeting of the Chemistry Club Mr. K. M. Thornton, professor of Industrial Chemistry, brought before the members an exceptionally interesting talk about the technology of petroleum and petroleum products. Starting with the description of oil production, he followed in outline form the simple cubilation of the crude oil, remarking that the crude oil may be divided into two main classes—those containing asphalt as a base, and those having paraffine. He emphasized the fact that each distillate can be further split or "cracked" into other products, according to wish and means.

The Chemistry Club is very much indebted to Prof. Thornton for his kindness, and every one enjoyed greatly his talk, but sorry not to have obtained a detailed description here due to the lack of time.

T CLUB DANCE SPLENDID AFFAIR

The dance given by the T Club was one of the most successful affairs held in Bryan this year. This dance was the first of a series of annual affairs to be given by the T Club.

The hall was beautifully decorated presenting a pleasing effect to the eye in red and white. The walls were covered with large maroon and white blankets, while the lights were artistically decorated with red and white crepe paper.

Promptly at nine o'clock, Scott Alexander, president of the club, accompanied by Miss Beulah Cook, led the grand march. About one hundred couples took part in the skillfully led march. As a fitting climax the dancers formed the famed Aggie "T", while the orchestra played the well known tune "Wild-cat." After the distribution of programs engraved with the T Club seal, the first dance commenced.

Holicks Orchestra furnished the crowd with music unexcelled in the state of Texas.

The Methodists of the student body and campus will meet in the Y chapel Sunday at 2:30 for final organization. The organization committee will make its recommendations and officers will be elected. A good program of music is promised. The service will be over within an hour at the most.

Last Sunday Rev. Ramsey spoke briefly and interestingly and Misses Simms and Lovell sang to the complete enjoyment of the cadets and campus people who were present. These Sunday afternoon meetings are to round out the students' social life as well as his religion. The league in Bryan is thoroughly interested in our organization and diplomatic relations between the two will be established as soon as possible—especially with the young sisters of Bryan. There is nothing dull about this hour of service. Come out and hear something good.

NORTHWEST TEXAS CLUB GIVES BANQUET AND THEATRE PARTY

Miss Brown was the center of attraction preventing any lagging moments with her ready wit and timely hits. When the repast had been enjoyed and cash was served she showed unusual tact and adaptability in securing two portions of ice cream.

All formality dispensed with, toasts were next in order—those receiving recognition and applause being given by Mr. Burkes which was, "Woman is the masterpiece of the great author—the edition is large and every man should have a copy", and Miss Henry's toast to man. Miss Lois Pipkin received warmest thoughts with her toast to the boys from out West where the friendship is a little longer and the hand shake a little stronger.

The dinner party was followed by a theatre party at the Queen where it was necessary for the gallery stormers to first rush the immitable Catfish and his partner from same. The bunch took possession and everybody got acquainted to an extent that every indication of hilarious enjoyment was shown by ceaseless chatter and boisterous laughing.

The entire membership feels that they owe the success of the affair to the young ladies, without whom it would have been a miserable failure and with whom it was a pleasant success. Thanks are acknowledged to the Hotel management and Queen theatre for every courtesy extended. The young ladies present were: Grace Morehead, Nina Henry, Maude Brown, Gussie Brockman, Lena Wooten, Ethel Evans, Minnie Thompson, Richie Newland, Dona Newland, Susie Sanders, Eloise Black, Lois Pipkin, Louise Pipkin.

LETTERS AWARDED

At a meeting of the A. and M. College Athletic Council immediately following the fourth victory over Texas University in basketball this year, T's were awarded to eight men as follows: Captain E. E. McQuillen of Galveston; Captain elect A. L. Forbes of Houston; R. J. Ehlert of Galveston; W. H. Williams of Houston; G. H. Hartung of Houston; G. B. Gouger of San Antonio; P. A. Dwyer of San Antonio and J. A. Pierce of Tyler.

Gold basketballs with the championship and an ever-victorious bar with the total points scored during the season—560 to 298—attached were awarded by the Athletic Council to the above eight men and to W. L. Driver, Coach.

A gold basketball for meritorious service was awarded W. M. Burkes of Reagan, captain of the Reserve team. Burkes is a senior and this is his third year on the squad.

Silver basketballs were awarded to members of the Reserve team as follows: H. R. Delee of Dallas; L. S. Keen of Kearens; F. G. Taylor of Waco; N. V. Jones of Denton; J. P. March of El Paso; W. N. Roper of Dallas.

Company F furnished two good men for the Junior Stock Judging Team. It will be remembered by some that Snell was high man in the sheep ring at the fair last fall. And Mowery is hard to beat.

It seems that some of the members of F. Company had rather forfeit the privilege of going to Bryan than to go to reveille.
