DOLORES CASSINELLI

“TARNISHED REPUTATIONS”

STRANGE TO SAY!

Judging from the supply of boots among the Casuals, Chlorinda is of the opinion that the high cost of leather has no effect on bootlegging.

A bacteriologist has created a new species of microbe by crossing one with another. W. W. Cox swears that it won't work, as he was crossed by more than one while in Goodwin Hall.

“Ikey” Cooper says that the H. C. L. hasn't hit him yet. That is, he can feel as cheap now as he ever did.

“Old” Pustejovsky was seen to try on a new pair of gloves at Maloney's yesterday and shook hands with himself.

“Rathjen” Evans, who is woman shy, paid Miss — a visit Sunday night and twisted his words as much as he did his hat.

“Red” Thompson who didn't see any “hot dogs” in the Mess Hall last night, caused the waiter to get a raise although it cost him the price of the cup and ten demerits.

“Deak” Neyland told a new nursery rhyme the other night and both of them nearly fell out of the cradle.

“Concrete” Lloyd is the most popular man in school. Concrete says his hair is the only thing that won't lay down on him.

“Birdseed” Baker thought that he had found a new pair of boots the other day but when he looked in them he shook hands with Leslie Ballard.

Francis Bell heard a bug in the picture show the other evening and was sorry he had his moustache with him.

Bill King when asked if he had his hand on his drum beat it.

Bill Weinert advertised for a “Paradise Lost” but, as they dropped out of his pocket when his hands were doing something else, he has lots to think about.

Billy Taylor is on the fence until he is issued a shetland pony.

Mike Mullane took a quiz in physics this morning on “heavenly bodies” and made one hundred per cent. Mike drew thirty-six figures.

Jack Finney who has had the sleeping sickness ever since he met us, hasn't opened both of his eyes since the time Flo Flo was here.

John Langston and his girl fell out in a moving automobile the other day and broke their engagement.

“Slim” Sherrill in Chemistry this morning asked Prof. Brayton what kind of unknown he had and came to find out that it was lead-acetate.

“Bubber” Levy says Waco is the place to buy your shoes as they put out the goods there.

A funny thing happened this a. m. when Prof. Stone caught Hike “Shimmy” McConnell shaking a test tube. This made Hike shake all the more. He also shook out a retort.

There is a rumor that Higginboth-am's football prowess is the result of taming Lyons.

Jack Mahan says that he can judge hogs as good as anyone but that its a job to catch them. We wonder what Jack “kneeds.”

“Goat” Saunders is now a wonderful dancer. He can now answer a question without getting out of step with the music.

Prof. Brackett, the other day, supposed that “Pontius Pilate” Ramsey's family must be in the habit of being late and; on inquiring, learned that his ancestors ran after the “May Flower” and missed it.

Fred Brison, because he parked his gum behind his ear which is unsanitary, was stuck by the Bull this morning.

“Buck” Schiwetz, who draws on the fourth floor of the Main building, was in need of (a) change so he drew on his father.

“Hawkshaw” Bradshaw made his initial appearance at the Junior Social and claimed that he felt lost as he didn't have a “cent” to his name.

There is one man in our class who thrills the fair sex to the extent that their breath comes out in short pants. Everytime they see him they say “Knickerbocker.”

“Red” Matney up and told Prof. McDonald that he wasn't studying History but that he was making it.

Our (Oliver) Loving man called up a girl and she called him down. This particular girl doesn't care for Loving.

Casey, our soda pop king, was heard to say that he is going to get rid of some of his fixtures this year but that “Cop” Forsythe might be here four years yet.

“Todda” Forbes always makes his point even though ringing up something besides goals.

Albert Percy says hazing will never be eradicated at A. and M. Surely not as long as he Percy-cutes them.

A medical paper announces that man is taller in the morning than in the evening. We would hate to see “Misery” Sherrill late in the evening. Clyde Edwards says that “Misery” is the shortest in the Confectionery.

“Skinny” Vandervoort is very patriotic and insists that for this reason alone he joined the civilian company. We are all glad that “Skinny” did not get in the R. O. T. C. as he might be a private still.

Modesty is the appendage of sobriety but is not the reason that Slim Farrell has been an humble boy all of his life.

We are glad to say that P. C. Coffin accomplishes everything he undertakes — But who ever saw a coffin that wasn't in for undertaking?

Phil Mockford says that the “Breeze that blew his gal away” was full of hot-air and had worlds of money.
