going in quarters in the hours before daybreak. And, at eight, everyone "passed" in review!

Prof. Brackett announces that the "Arrival of Kitty" will be presented at the Lyric Theatre in Bryan in a few days. An even better production than the one at College is assured. All students and Campus people who missed Guion Hall on April 6, are advised to journey to Bryan and get that spring grouch out of the system. Ask anyone who has seen it! There isn't a cleaner, peppier, comedy in Texas! It is rumored, only rumored, brother, that Mr. Ashburn will grant permits to all desiring to see "Kitty" in Bryan when they show, the only requirement being that the student state in the pass how many times he has already seen it.

ROSS VOLUNTEERS READY TO

secretly without the name of the voter being disclosed. So to be a member of this organization a student of the College must be considered a gentleman and a scholar of the highest standing. For this reason students accept membership in the R. V.'s as the greatest recognition that can be paid them by the student body.

In addition to the exhibition drill given each year at commencement which is unsurpassed in military circles the annual spring Hop is given about April 21.

Expense is not considered by the R. V.'s in making this annual event the most important affair of its kind in the whole country, and all three events are open to the students and their friends without any cost to them.

The Queen's Ball comes tonight. This affair originated with the spring carnival which was once presented along with the festivities but which has since been dropped. The Ross Volunteers elect the King and he in turn selects the Queen. Pinckney B. Price was named several weeks ago to play the kingly role in tonight's affair. The grand march starts at nine o'clock. There will be an intermission at 12 p. m. with recall to be sounded at 12:30 promptly and the end will not be reached until 3 a. m.

Friday night the Ross Volunteers as an organization, present the big dance of the series to the student body and their friends. The same hours apply as on Thursday night. Captain Waller T. Burns will lead the processional which will end by entering into the second night of dancing enjoyment.

The third and last number is a strictly informal affair Saturday night beginning at 8:30 and ending at midnight.

R. R. Thomas will represent F Company at the National Association of Cyclists Convention, to be held at Dallas soon. If he is unable to go A. R. Anderson will substitute for him. These two boys have done some wonderful stunts with bicycles lately.

REGULAR MEETING SCIENCE SEMINAR
MONDAY EVENING

An Unusually Interesting Meeting Was Had Through Discussions
by the Members.

The program of the meeting of the Science Seminar was unavoidably changed and short journal reviews and personal experiences took the place of the lecture which was to have been given by Professor E. O. Siecke on "Some Aspects of the Texas Forestry Problem."

Mr. A. H. Leidigh made a report on a recent article in the Agricultural Experiment Station Record concerning certain investigations of seed germination and the effect of after ripening upon the percentage of seed that would germinate properly. It seems that after ripening is a peculiarity of rice.

Dr. Ball also told the Seminar of recent trip to Austin to appear before the University Science Club as a representative of the College Science Seminar at which time he delivered his lecture on "Certain First Families of Texas" before that Club. Dr. F. W. Simonds, Professor of Geology at the University will appear before the Science Seminar as an exchange lecture at the first meeting in May.

Dr. O. M. Ball reported upon his discovery of certain fossil remains of a prehistoric dog which were recently found in the vicinity of College by Dr. Francis and himself. It has been learned since the discovery of these specimens that they represent a new genus and species not heretofore known.

It was also learned that Dr. Ball is to have a complete log of the hole which is to be bored in the vicinity of Bryan to a depth of 4000 feet in search for oil and the suggestion was made that the Seminar obtain as much of the core as possible to bring to the College for educational purposes.

The last discussion of the evening was a review of a recent article in Engineering and Contracting, describing a formula deduced by Mr. H. P. Gillette, Editor of that magazine in which he calculates average prices of all commodities.

Mr. Gillette shows that average prices are dependent only upon the total currency in circulation, rapidity of turn over of money, total population and per capita efficiency. As a check to his formula he showed that he could calculate with remarkable accuracy the average price that prevailed each year during the past sixty years. This discussion was led by Professor Roy M. Green.

VETERINARY CLUB MEETS

On the night of April 12, there was a called meeting of the Veterinary Club and a fair representation gathered in Francis Hall at 7:30.

After attending to all the business in a most approved form, Vice-president Johnson introduced the redoubtable Mr. Murray as the speaker of the occasion. Mr. Murray chose as a subject the matter of "Advertising" and dwelt with especial force on the necessity for advertising the School of Veterinary Medicine in our native State. His talk followed the form of a discus-

Before the meeting was declared adjourned the treasurer gave a report on delinquent dues and those delinquent were properly exhorted to pay. Those who were not present should make an effort to see Mr. Giles and get their accounts in a proper shape before our next meeting—the last one of the year.
