

THE BATTALION

their duties and importance to the play, not to mention Mr. Winn's helpful work with the staff. Neither must it be overlooked that the cast which produced the oft-quoted 'Free Speech' started the ball to rolling and will form valuable material for next year.

Next year? Certainly, if one can consider this short season the first year of the club. For the efforts of the College players have not only brought about "The Arrival of Kitty" but have ushered in the arrival of the A. and M. Dramatic Club. Thanks to the friends and supporters to the idea next year will see a strong development of dramatic work at A. and M.

To Professor R. D. Brackett goes the credit for organizing and training the cast for the superior productions of the Club. In devoting his time and genius to this work he has been actuated only by the desire to give to A. and M. the honor of a Dramatic Club with a record of creditable achievement.

BEST TALENT IN THE COLLEGE TO ARRAY FOR SHOW

Artists Are Ready to Give the Funniest Exhibition Yet Seen on This Campus

A new high water mark for success in student stunt nights will be set tonight when the A. and M. College Band blossoms forth in its annual program. Imported artists who are to assist in putting this College's biggest night across, arrive here today. Those who know say that the offerings tonight are far above the average and that those who miss it will "miss it."

Mechanics and carpenters were busy all day yesterday putting in the stage and scenic effects for tonight's attraction and Business Manager Milner this morning pronounces that everything is ready.

A new feature that has just been secured will be a fight to the finish between Bryan's best black white hopes. Promoters Knickerbocker and Wilson ably assisted by Coach A. Hunter of the College midnight club of boxers, will stage a free for all battle royal that will eclipse any former attempt in this direction. A half dozen of Brazos county Senegambian champions will enter the lists tonight to fight to the end for the large purse which is being hung up.

Goodman will render his "I Gave Her That" together with three or four more of the latest hits including a little ditty concerning the recapture of a cat. Mr. G. A. Geist will deal in some caricatures of a local nature that will singe their way across his easel and accompany his demonstrations with the crayon with a line of patter that will appeal.

The Cast Iron Quartet will sing a number of new hits and John McCormack Vandervoort will render "Bye Lo."

The band and allied orchestras will be prepared to "whoop 'em up" with jazz music of the vintage of 1920. It is to be a big night. A dollar's worth of entertainment will be offered to students for twenty-five cents and to campus residents and officers of the College for thirty-five cents.

A crowd of spectators at least equal to that which generally marks the band concerts is expected to have the opportunity of attending this novel and pleasing entertainment.

The show will be given in the Animal Husbandry Pavilion and will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

INVITATION FROM RICE

Engineering Students of A. and M. Invited to Attend Engineering Exhibition at Rice Institute

J. C. Nagle, Dean of Engineering, is in receipt of an invitation from President Edgar Odell Lovett of Rice Institute, for representatives of the School of Engineering to be present at the engineering exhibition by the students of Rice Institute on next Friday afternoon and evening.
