Bottom row: March, Williams, Hartung, Forbes (captain), Dwyer (captain-elect), Ehler.

SOUTHWESTERN CHAMPIONS.

The above is a picture of the Southwestern Champion Aggie squad. One that successfully completed the most stringent schedule that an Aggie team ever faced. Although they were defeated in a few games they always emerged with the old Farmer fight still in their veins and ready for the next game. All of the above men with the exception of Captain Forbes will be back next year and with the Freshmen material of this year available the Aggies bid fair to bring the Conference championship to rest in Aggie land for another year.

STATE CHAMPIONS.

The Aggie matmen for the second time have brought home the State Championship in wrestling. This year's team under the coaching of Jones met and defeated the University mat men by taking five out of seven bouts and were runners up in the Southwestern Conference Meet at Stillwater, Oklahoma, being beat by Oklahoma A. and M. for that honor. They defeated the Oklahoma University 39 to 7. The above men deserve much praise for the way in which they went about their work; they had no "T" waiting for them to spur them on to greater effort but they did have something that is necessary to every "T" man and that is Aggie fight. It is hoped that the Athletic Council will recognize the hard work that these men have had to endure and will award the winners with the Farmer "T".

THE HEART OF A WOMAN.

First, the heart of a woman is different than any other kind of heart in all the world.
It is bigger, it is more tender, it is more "various." It is more susceptible. It is more tolerant. It is more long suffering. It is more kind. It is more generous. It is more lovable. It is more WONDERFUL than any other sort of heart.

The heart of a woman is the heart of hearts.

If you would know what real suffering is, find a woman's heart that has been broken. Look there into the ashes of its ruins and you shall know. Also, if you would learn of the superlative sweetness of happiness, again search for the heart of a woman who has found the gold behind the glitter of love, and there you shall see such wonder as your eyes have never before seen.

For again I say that there is no heart like unto the heart of a woman.

Its patience is that of Job, plus that of a dozen worlds. And its sufferings and forgetting power is greater than the crystalized power of the sun, moon and all of the stars.

Through gentleness it breathes. Through strength it walks.

But the greatest thing about the great heart of a woman is its LOVE. Its walls are lined with it. Its floors are paved with it. Its furnishings are of love in its entirety. While, if you would peep into the heart of a woman where love is, such fragrance would meet your senses as of the rarest myrrh. And you would believe that heaven is here and now.

The heart of a woman is the main-spring of the world!

MODESTY A LA 1921.

I saw her in a bathing suit upon a placid sea,
I was her latest raw recruit and she looked good to me.
We chased each other on the sand and splashed without a care;
I held her up with willing hand the while she paddled there.
I've seen her in a ballroom gown, where all was gay and bright,
And feared her waist was coming down, tho she was free from fright.

I trembled lest the shoulder straps, that dropped down on her arm,
Might slip or break, or cause mishap, unmasking all her charms.
I've seen her romping on the shores.
I've seen her dancing too.
Each half of her, therefore, has been exposed to view.
She is a gentle, proper maid—I deem her still sublime,
For modestly she has displayed—but one-half at a time.

LOVE.

Love has been described as a ticklish sensation around the heart, which cannot be scratched; but, in my opinion, love affects more parts of the human organism than the heart. It affects the brain, the nerves; it makes a sane man feel like a lunatic, and a lunatic feel like a sane man. It gives a man the audacity of an Aaron Burr; it gave one Cadet so much audacity that he actually asked a young lady if he could put his arms around her. Of course she didn't consent, and the Cadet was dejected for a week afterwards.

I was once in love, and while it lasted, I felt like a king. I felt like I carried the world around in my pocket when, really, I didn't possess a cent. I built air castles in the day time and dreamed of her at night. Love gave me courage to ask my lady for a kiss. She finally consented, and I kissed her, very quickly, smack in the mouth. I felt BIG; I felt like I had conquered a world. I was on the point of asking for another, when she said: "You kissed me like you were scared to death; make it longer and more formal." This was too much for a man of my standing and capabilities, so I bade her a hasty farewell.

Ever after, however, I pant for her, and she pants for me, so we make a pair of pants. The pants, though, didn't last long, but finally developed into breeches of promise.

I know the gods above
Made Ted for me to love—
They picked him out from all the rest,
Because they knew I'd love him the best.
