

"SNOOKS" GARDNER
SPORT EDITOR
"MACK" MCREYNOLDS
ASSISTANT

SPORTS

"JINX" JINKS
ASSOCIATE
SPORT EDITOR

TENNIS TEAM MEETS TEXAS ON SATURDAY

Second Meet of Season For Aggie Team—Longhorns have Fast Aggregation.

The Aggie tennis team have their second meet of the season when they meet the Longhorn players here on Saturday in what is expected to be the hardest of the year for the local team. It is not known exactly who will be on the Austin team but it is a sure bet that Coach Penick has developed a team of the same class as those of former years. With the passing of Granger and Drumwright the Longhorns lost two real net stars but there seems to be no limit to the number of net stars at the University.

The Aggie team has had only one meet this year, as the first meet on the schedule was rained out two weeks ago. Last Saturday the team met the Baylor team at Waco and lost after one of the closest meets ever staged, since tennis was taken up as a major sport among the colleges of the southwest. The games were played on concrete courts and as the Aggie players had never played on this kind of a court before they were at somewhat of a disadvantage. Most of the men on the team were playing on the team for the first time and were not so steady as they might have been. They are expected to show much better in the meet of this week, playing on the home court and facing our age-old rival.

Coach Cahn has not as yet announced the lineup but it is expected that practically the same men who faced the Bears will perform for the Aggies. This team consisted of Chambers, Baker, Rounds, and Johnson, and should give a good account of themselves in this meet.

The Longhorns were to play the Bears this week but it is not known here whether the meet was held or not so it is impossible to say just who will comprise the orange team. However, from reports coming from the capitol city it seems as if Gregory, White and Tabor are sure to appear here.

It was thought at first that the meet would be held in the afternoon but due to the conflict with the baseball games and the track meet with the Mustangs, the games will be played in the morning. Though no time has been decided on the first match will probably get under way by nine-thirty. As there will be classes on at this time it will be impossible to have a large crowd but it is a sure thing that the meet will be well worth the while of all those able to get off. Tennis is yet in its infancy here so let's turn out and support the team and bring home another championship.

—A.M.C.—

A restaurant starts when Greek meets Greek;

A river widens when creek meets creek;

But a romance starts within a week
From a campus dance, where cheek
meets cheek.

S. W. CONFERENCE BASEBALL SLATED FOR WEEK-END

Aggies vs. S. M. U. and Baylor-Texas Frays Headliners for Conference Fans.

Recent heavy rains caused four conference games of baseball to be postponed last week, but if these downpours only stay in the background for a while things pertaining to this sport are due to happen in a hurry by the time that Saturday, April 15 has come to a close. No less than thirteen contests between conference teams are carded for this and next week. S. M. U. is scheduled for four games during the present week, two with Rice and two at Kyle Field. Baylor and Texas meet in two promising battles at Waco today, and tomorrow. A. and M. and Texas both have plenty of work ahead of them for next week.

The Aggies are carded to go to Houston and hitch up with Bob Countryman's Rice Owls Monday and Tuesday. Little is known of the calibre of the Owls' team as a whole but it is an admitted fact that they have in Eddie Dyer the very best pitcher in the Southwestern Conference. However, he will probably have to work against our own Mr. Olsen and eight others that will tend to make things rather interesting. Texas plays the razorbacks from Arkansas Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and then Uncle Billy Dish brings his herd of Longhorns here for clashes on Friday and Saturday.

There is little doubt but that this will be the most exciting series played on Kyle Field this spring. It is enough to say "Aggies versus Longhorns." Added to this fact is the probability of a pitchers battle between Olsen and Captain "Bus" Gallett. The latter who is pitching his fourth year for "State" and has been a big factor in winning three championships for that institution, has the enviable record of never having lost a collegiate game since he enrolled there. Olsen has been going great this year and with the kind of support he has gotten from his teammates it should be the sort of game that satisfies the most radical fan. If these two men oppose each other Matthews or Gill will work in the other for A. and M. while Liesner, Ponsford or Eckhardt will toil for the orange and white.

The Longhorns that won the championship in 1921 were an entirely different combination from those now taking orders from the famous "Uncle Billy." Five stars who performed for them last spring are missing, now. These are: English, Ellis, Fitzgerald, Cox and Hart. Nevertheless, the institution at Austin still has a great coach and this combined with the knowledge that there is a great deal of good material there means that the Texas Longhorns of 1922 will be a real ball team.

—A.M.C.—

"Oh, slush," she said, "you give me cold feet."

Springtime— The Mustangs Are Coming

Track! This typical collegiate sport will come into its own here Saturday when the Aggies, undefeated champions of the Southwest Conference are carded for a dual meet with the S. M. U. Mustangs. It will offer for the first time an opportunity for the enthusiastic fan or the skeptical scribe to obtain a definite bearing relative to the Farmers and ascertain partially if they are in line for a duplication of last year's phenomenal success.

However, the Aggielanders will, in this meet, probably be without the services of their two leading dash champs as it was given out definitely here Thursday that Heine Wier, captain of last year's conference leaders and furlong sprinter extraordinary will not be entered and no authentic information is available regarding the entrance of Captain Sanders, high point man of last year's conference meet. In spite of their recent injuries and sickness, the two veteran speedkings have chalked up midseason time in practice workouts, and their failure to appear will, in anticipation of mediocre competition of the invaders, meet the hearty approval of the conservative followers who already cherish the thoughts of another championship.

The Mustang meet last year was held just after a heavy shower which made sprinting difficult and foot-holds treacherous, but they were easily turned back by a lopsided score which was greatly argued with a 15 point tally by Denny who scored in the hurdles and the pole vault and it must be borne in mind that the East Texan is now an alumnus, and it is no clothed fact that the College Station thinly clads are slightly weak in this department. However, Frazier and Miller in the hurdles and McCullough in the pole vault are being watched with interest to definitely ascertain to what extent the Aggies are really weak. The weights are regarded for Saturday's card as A. and M.'s intact. The jumps appear an ever break, the dashes showing a decided Maroon tint as well as the distance.

However, in spite of the above predictions by the Bat scribblers, Coach Anderson is preparing his men for the worst and no detail of grooming is being left undone to mar the Aggies initial appearance on the circuit this spring.

—A.M.C.—

I DON'T WANT TO BE BAD.

I don't want to be bad,
But I sure would like
To "roll my own"
An' be a "vamp"
An' "bob" my hair,
But, oh, how I wish
Some big, good-lookin' man
Would grab me up in his arms
An' say I was cute
An', oh, so sensible
An'—but of course I don't wanna be bad.—Purple and White.

OMAHA BLANKED BY AGGIES IN BIG TIME THRILLER

Sterling Defense Features Is Attractive Card of the Week.

The Aggie nine chalked up another win over a class "A" league team Monday when they defeated the Omaha Bees in what is really and trully "one of the prettiest games ever seen on the local diamond." Guynes, Former center-fielder, was the only man during the entire game to succeed in scraping the soil from the home plate with a pair of sliding pads. This one run of the contest came in the last half of the sixth. After Doherty struck out Guynes smashed the first ball thrown down the left field foul line for two bases. Morris struck out but Dwyer tapped a Texas leaguer to
(Continued on Page 7)

The Bullethead

The other day

At the ball game,
I sat in the press box
And behind me was a
Well known cadet
Explaining what they
Were doing on the diamond.
And she listened
For a long time intently
And then said:
"I don't like their suits,
Do you?"
And after awhile, she asked
"Why don't they play in
The wintertime? It would be Much cooler."
And he said something about
Their arms getting sore.
And she said:
"How funny?"
And then she spluttered:
"Why do they wave their hats
And yell so when the band
Is playing?"
And he said that "they
Have just signalled by
Wireless that the Brazos River
Is on a rise." And she said
"How funny?"
And he said:
"Yes, it's a scream,
Hit that ball, you
Bib cheese!" and she said
"Why, such awful
Language," and then
The first baseman missed one
In the dirt; and he said:
"Let down your apron!"
And then she asked:
"Why does he get down on
His stomach?" And he replied:
"There was a fly on it,
And he wanted to crush it"
And she said:
"How funny" and
"How funny" and
He didn't hit her but
I knew that he would never
Take her to another ball
Game.