COMMANDANT WEDS MISS COOK OF NAVASOTA

Many of Col. Ashburn's Friends Go To Navasota to Witness Elaborate Wedding.

After taking part in twenty-seven weddings of his friends Colonel Ike S. Ashburn, Jr., commandant of the College, turned the tables on his friends to the extent that he was the groom in the twenty-eighth wedding.

The marriage of Colonel Ike Ashburn to Miss Beulah Templeton Cook in Navasota, Wednesday evening, October twenty-fifth, at eight-thirty o'clock, was solemnized with a large number of Colonel Ashburn's bachelor-day associates participating as escorts to the maidenhood friends of Miss Cook.

The wedding was held in the First Methodist Church which was very beautifully decorated with colors to correspond with the pastel color scheme which was most artistically carried out in the wedding.

After two beautiful solos by Miss Bertha Foster and Mrs. Mae Pedigo, the bride in her beautiful wedding gown patterned from that worn by Princess Mary of England in her recent wedding, came down the left aisle on her father's arm as the groom entered with his best man, D. X. Bible, from the right.

Mrs. Constance Boyles was matron of honor. Little Miss Elizabeth Ney was junior bridesmaid and was escorted by Master Carl Ney. Miss Mary Terrell was ring bearer and brought the ring in on a bible. The bridesmaids in their beautiful dresses of pastel color, carried a staff and beautiful chrysanthemums, followed the ring bearer down the left aisle as their escorts proceeded down the aisle on the right.

The groomsmen and bridesmaids were: Mr. F. G. Anderson and Miss Helen Salyer; Mr. R. J. Cole and Miss Francis Harris; Mr. James Sullivan and Miss Elouise Harris; Captain F. A. Liddell of Houston, and Miss Francis Rucker; Mr. W. D. Howell of Bryan, and Miss Elaine Bizzell of College Station; Mr. T. F. Mayo of Col-

FARMERS GIVE OUACHITA TEAM INITIAL DEFEAT

Captain Wilson and Neeley Star for Aggies. Terbeville and Self for Ouachita.

Playing under a tropical sun and against the strongest and best conditioned club which has attempted to invade Aggieland and snatch for all laurels from them this season, the powerful Aggie machine, employing straight plays and few forward passes proved to the enthusiastic fans and dope followers the real strength of the Farmer crew which will begin its secret work-outs on the gridiron at Kyle Field, Monday afternoon, in preparation for the first big conference game of the 1922 season, that is to be played at the Cotton Palace, Saturday the 4th day of November, with the "touted" Baylor Bears, the opponent.

Without a doubt, Friday's contest was the fastest and most thrilling conflict witnessed on Kyle Field thus far, the Ouachita mentor bringing to Aggieland a squad of athletes, well trained and tutored in their team work. The plays were snapped with speed and percision and upon only two occasions were the opponents credited with penalties, both of which were the results of off-side plays. The Ouachita eleven numbered among its veterans, such men as Terbeville, a half-back of the "Jack" Mahan type, and Self, a quarterback capable of the generalship of any football eleven. These two players, especially, were responsible for the majority of first downs hammered through the Aggie advance guard and throughout the afternoon the Farmers found them difficult to stop.

The game opened with Ouachita kicking off to "Puny" Wilson who returned the ball ten yards. A beautiful pass, Gill to Evans, netted the Aggie eleven thirty yards and the advance was continued in scrimmage to the opponent's five-yard line where after three tries and with only one yard to go, the Ouachita line stiffened and the Farmers were unable to score.

With the ball in their possession the opponents elected to kick and af-
