

COTTON PALACE PARTY LEAVES A. & M. MONDAY

Byron Hope and L. Stallings will be the trio that will advance in front of the A. and M. duchess as the coronation ceremonies begin.

With their escort of uniformed military men the A. and M. duchess and maid have always been one of the most distinctive parties that have participated in the proceedings of royal effects making up the coronation ceremony of the King and Queen Cotton. The greatest ovation given by the many spectators who witnessed the courtly proceedings last year was bestowed when the A. and M. duchess was announced and moved out on the floor, escorted by the group of white uniformed men with their gold insignia and sparkling sabers worn at their side.

The party that will represent A. and M. at the Cotton Palace will leave Monday for Waco and will remain there during the week, taking part in all the festivities connected with the Cotton Palace.

ANNUAL RODEO FRIDAY NIGHT GREAT SUCCESS

Julia Ball. Following the gorgeous retinue of the Spanish Court, came the troop of jolly troubadours with their gay songs and sprightly dance. After the troubadours came the equestrians mounted on their gallant steeds. The entire party with striking and brilliant costumes was indeed a very beautiful sight.

After the pageant show was completed, there followed five great acts presented to the multitude that thronged the sides of the pavilion. The acts were almost without precedent. The chariot race was a thriller from beginning to end and never had such speed been seen in this part of the country. Daring riders exhibited their prowess and risked their lives to show their proficiency as broncho busters and steer riders. For the first time in forty nine years a real bullfight took place on Texas soil, and this was the time old "Doc" Schmidt gipped the bull. This added attraction was made possible by special legislation, which was obtained by Dr. Bizzell last week at Austin. The five ways through college showed some of the advantageous methods employed by students to get through college. These plans when well carried out will reduce the percentage of failures. The freshmen showed some skill in capturing the elusive greased porkers, due no doubt to their practice with greasy dishes in the mess hall.

The pavilion was crowded to the utmost and it was estimated that the crowd numbered about fifteen hundred. The gate receipts were well over six hundred dollars. This sum will go a long way to help send the stock judging team to Chicago next month. The rodeo was a great success and was among the best ever staged here.

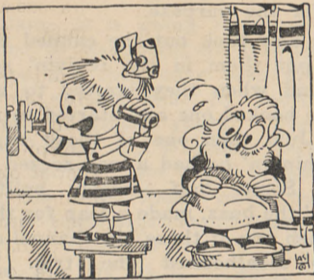

He: When I married you I thought you were an angel.

She: So that's why you never buy me any clothes.

'Twas Said:

When the butcher answered the telephone the shrill voice of a little girl greeted him: "Hello! Is that Mr. Wilson?"

"Yes, Bessie," he answered kindly; "what can I do for you?"

"Oh Mr. Wilson, please tell me where grandpa's liver is? The folks are out and I've got to put a hot flannel on it, and I don't know where it is."
