

exhibit. Although among the steers there are no outstanding individuals like those sent last year to Kansas City or Chicago, yet the steer herd on the whole is the most uniform in type and quality that has ever gone out from the College. Every animal of each breed has sufficient finish to stand up well in his class among steers.

William Sim, veteran herdsman of the College, Owen Garrigan, and H. Tickle, student, went as caretakers and assistants to Professors Williams and Buchanan.

Forty-five Seniors and Juniors will leave here Friday night under the supervision of Professor Stangle to take part in judging the types and breeds of livestock at the State Fair. The Juniors will do practice judging with the Seniors for four days, the fifth day will amount to an illumination contest of Seniors for places on the International team.

DALLAS TRIP A CONTINUOUS ROUND OF JOY

The special train left Dallas Sunday night at 9:10 and arrived at College Station about 3:00 a. m. Monday morning. Lack of sleep could be plainly told on the faces of the returned cadets, but there was also a fresh look of newer and greater faith and love for the team which again upset the "dope"—for the game had been heralded as a well-fought tie, or if won, it would be only because of favorable breaks to the one team or the other.

WORK STARTED ON MEMORIAL SHAFT AT A. AND M.

can flag, carved in the stone and tinted in the colors of our national emblem. The tinting of the flag will be done by master stone cutters, proficient in the art of polishing stone. On the front of the monument will be a bronze tablet bearing the names of our heroes and the classes that gave the memorial to perpetuate the memory of the dead.

The shaft is to be located in the center of the lot on the west side of Guion Hall. It will be a key to later landscape development. Plans for additional work on the lot have not been completed at this time, but Dr. Bizzell promises walks and benches to be constructed as a stimulus for architectural ingenuity along lines of later development.

AGGIE BAND WINS PRAISE IN FORT WORTH

entertainment for these unusual exponents of that fine art, namely music. Among the diversions were sight-seeing parties, automobile rides, a dance and an elaborate banquet at the Texas Hotel. It was here that Sol Bartlett, more familiarly known to the residents of Fort Worth as the "brown eyed Apollo," demonstrated his ability as a speaker. He thanked them for the kindnesses lavished upon the band and assured them that the band would be among those present at the Fat Stock Show in March.

The band returned to College Sunday morning and all were loud in their praise for the sincere hospitality shown them.

have won the bronze bull twice and need win it only one more time to make it our permanent property. Mr. Stangel, our coach, says that we have the best chance this year that we have had in many years.

One of the features of the Rodeo is a big pageant. Louis Dodson promises to make the one this year more gorgeous and more beautiful than ever before. The hair raising, breath taking broncho and steer riding is an event that is always looked forward to with a great deal of enthusiasm. The rest of the features will be new and novel to everybody.

The rodeo will be staged on the night of November the 9th. Every cadet should make it a point to have this night set aside for the purpose of seeing the big attraction of the year. It will be one of the most profitable evenings that you have ever spent. Enjoy a treat that very few have the opportunity to witness.

The junior committeemen are O. H. Kimball, Manager; B. H. Hopkins, Business Manager; L. Dodson, Society; and V. Kenedy, Decorations.

Now outside the three-mile zone. It will be at the Palace Friday and Saturday. Come and get your "Tea With a Kick."

"Prexy" Bizzell went to Austin Sunday night to appear before the highway commission and representing Bryan, To have the new state highway come by way of Bryan instead of Navasota.
