PERSONALS

Mr. A. L. C. Magruder was on the campus visiting his son A. D. Magruder.

Mrs. W. B. Bizzell returned from a visit to her daughter, Miss Elaine Bizzell. Miss Bizzell is now a junior at State University.

O. A. Proehl greeted friends on the campus last week.

Mr. Jack Forgason witnessed the State-Vanderbilt game in Dallas Saturday.

W. E. Langlotz and C. R. Woods were visitors in Tabor Saturday.

S. C. Creager spent the week-end in Navasota.

H. L. Evershberg, Co. C Inf., visited his parent in Brenham over the week-end.

Norwood Shields, Co. B visited his home in Waco Saturday.

A. D. Schmidt, Co. C Inf., and C. R. Wehrman, Co. C spent Saturday and Sunday in Brenha mvisiting their parents.

J. B. Ketterson, A. D. Boger, and A. B. Muller, accompanied the football to Baton Rouge. Of course we are just making a guess but we would lay a pence on it, that, the football game was of secondary interest.

Payne Harrison and Ralph Bonnett, staff members left Monday to assist in the work connected with the A. and M. exhibit at the Dallas Fair.

DERE RUMMITT.

Agg'eland, Texas, October 21, 1923.

Dear Rummitt:

You bet! At least I hope you did, for we beat L. S. U. 28-0. The game was played at Baton Rouge. That night they had a dance and during the "moonlight waltzes" I hear that Jim Forgason was still "battlin' rouge." Battin's a new turn. Jim says that after that dance he believes that dancing is a new turn for stand- ing still.

So you think you're a pretty good chemist? Grasp this one! If benzene alco—hol another load away would alde—hyde?

Ralph Bonnet lived out in the tents last year. He said that some nights it was so cold he put on so much cover on his bed that every half hour he had to get out of bed and rest.

We play S. M. U. here Friday. They wanted to play on Friday so that their train could take its time on the way back, so the injured wouldn't be jarred any. They don't have to be back 'till Monday.

We're going to put stripes on the Mustangs and make a Zebra out of it (Sport Model Jackass).

I expect to be a distinguished student this term, as I have a new pass-key to all the buildings. I ought to pass—on that. You've heard of the "key to the situation." This is what I call th e"key to graduation".

I have a quiz on tomorrow, and the whole section is in the room now waiting; so I will have to close, as my roommate's girl write shim.

Oceans of love with a kiss on every wave,

Tom.

Mrs.: "I must dress at once, dear. The Browns are coming this evening to make us a visit. Should I put on the percolator?"

Mr.: "Don't bother, you're dressed good enough the way you are."

THE MUSTANGS ARE COMING ON FRIDAY

Mustangs, we have not forgotten the game that we played there last year. You are billed as Grudge Fight No. 2. Howard Payne has paid and you are next. It will take us a long time to forget that trip to Dallas after the Baylor Bears had torn our green team to pieces the week before and when the remaining stars were scholastically ineligible.

We remember how your Valentino-trousered rooters that night after your victory, poured into the lobby of the Adolphus Hotel where our team was sitting waiting for the time to go back home. We remember how your rooters filed by those boys as they sat there with tears streaming down their faces thinking of the game that they had lost to you. We remember how you sent us cards boasting of the score and of the fact that it was the worst beating that an A. & M. team had had since 1916. Yes, we remember those little things. There is little chance that we will ever forget them but perhaps in the years that come the thought will be sweetened by the memory that in the following year the debt was repaid. And if by chance fate rules that your Mustang team carries away the game again, here on our home field and under our own nose, we will show you that the cadets can take defeat with a lift of the chin and a smile on their face.

Half the lies they tell about boot-leggers ain't so!
