

AGGIES SINK PIRATE SHIP, 54-0

Berry—and this clock-like aggregation displayed a versatility of attack that made even Jinx Tucker ponder.

Berry was undoubtedly the star of the game with his running, reception of passes and directing of the offense. McGuire truly used bloodhound instinct in picking holes and sneaking through them for repeated touch-downs and gains. There were far too many stars in the fray to name them one by one. The whole outfit starred for that matter.

For Southwestern, Meeks was their best lineman. Time after time during the last period he stopped the Aggie offense as it came around his side. Gunn, the man who ran sixty-five yards for his team against Rice last year was held out of the game intentionally for the first three quarters so that he might be in tip-top condition for the T. I. A. A. games. However, he proved a formidable man at the last.

The Line-Up:

DAME RUMOR

Dame Rumor has been trying to get in our columns for quite a while, but as we were crowded for room we did not give her much consideration. I believe that we have been making quite a mistake too, for she has some very interesting cases. At present she is very busy trying to watch a Buick Roadster and a Rollins Coupe and it is hard to determine just which will prove the most interesting. Looks as though someone will get her M. R. S. degree before her most intimate friend gets his B. S. Of course it is early to predict such, but she is always on the watch. She hopes however to have some interesting facts for you next week.

Dame Rumor tells us of two very prominent seniors who are to have visitors on the campus this week-end. It seems that these two are greatly concerned, and she says that they have a very interesting program of

QUEEN, FRIDAY, SATURDAY, "FEET OF CLAY"

Here's another gorgeous DeMille romance of married life which digs deep to the very bottom of human emotions.

The amazing story of a girl who goes from parties and petting at seventeen to marriage and responsibilities at twenty-one.

DeMille, supreme master of contrast, shows you the top and bottom of life—from opulent scenes in a gay millionaire's resort and aboard the world's largest and most magnificent yacht to scenes in a cheap New York apartment and situations that tug at the heart-strings.

A picture, poignant, powerful, tremendous in its scope, superb in its artistry—dressed in all the glowing color and luxury that DeMille can weave like a cloth of gold.

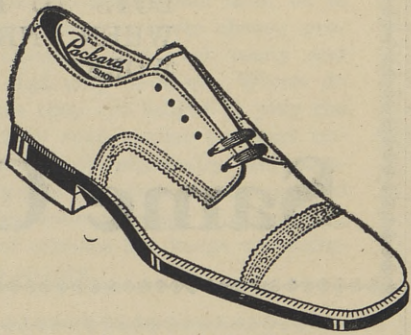

Adapted by Beulah Marie Dix from the gripping novel of the same name by Margareta Tuttle, but vastly amplified and colored to make it marvelous film entertainment.

You'll see—twenty young goddesses of the sea, riding speed-churned waves on leaping boards behind speeding motorboats—jousting matches between beauties mounted on "sea horses"—an exciting shark-fight that will make you gasp.

And hundreds of other scenes more thrillingly realistic and more sumptuously staged than any you have ever before seen on the screen.

You'll never forget "Feet of Clay." Take a tip and see it Friday Matinee, only 40c.

entertainment for them. Well we don't know about that, but it does look like they could have picked a week-end when there was a dance or something, so that we could all have a chance.

Franke—Colonel, this fish is lost. Stubbs—Well, why don't you find what company he is in and show him where it is?

Franke—Well, he is in my company, but I'm lost too.
