

FARMERS DEFEAT RICE 13 TO 6

ever, that the offensive they opened up began to have its effect; on the first play after that period began, Dansby shot a pass to Red Wilson who only had to step across the goal line for the touchdown. Dansby kicked the goal that put the Farmers in the lead. Beginning at this time, the Aggies began to display the fight that made possible the glorious victory they finally won. Before the final whistle had blown, another 6 points had been added to the total after Berry had circled around the end that Allison had cleared for him, for ten yards and the touchdown. Dansby's attempt at goal was blocked.

The individual stars of the Aggie team numbered the brilliant Waugh, Allison, Fay Wilson, Mitt Dansby, and Hardman. The giant tackle, Waugh, covered himself in a blaze of glory; a fitting climax to his career on Kyle Field. This game was the best he has turned in during his brilliant career at Aggieland. Allison's work was one of the features of the game and Hardman, the other lineman who distinguished himself, played a game that was beyond reproach. Mitt Dansby was the backfield man on the maroon eleven to which much of the credit for the victory must be given. His passing made possible the first touchdown, his goal the winning point,—breaking the tie; and his line plunging, the second touchdown. For just before Berry made his run for the counter, the Aggie half had just made 10 yards over the much touted Underwood, the Owl pivot man, placing the ball on Rice's 10 yard line.

To Mule Wilson goes the honor of keeping the ball out of the Aggie territory with his consistent punting. Although suffering terribly from an injured shoulder, he carried the ball for substantial gains and sent the ball sailing far thru the air on his punts. His presence in the machine, after his entry in the second quarter, seemed to act as an incentive to his teammates, for those Aggies fought in the second half.

The powerful Heisman aggregation furnished several stars in the game. Among those were: "Grandpa" Wood the versatile half and passer; Hale, the elusive end, who is very adept at grabbing passes; and Wilford, the other Rice half who handled the punting assignment very well. The Rice line presented the most powerful opposition the Aggies have faced this season. Truly, this game was a battle between the two best lines in the conference, with the Aggies handicapped with the absence of several of its regulars who saw service in only part of the game because of injuries and the work of Norman Dansby who has been out of the last two games with an injury.

EXPERIMENT STATION GIVES ASSISTANCE TO AGRICULTURAL JOURNALISTS

It has been the aim of the Extension Service for several years to help create a Chair of Journalism at A. and M., so that the relation of agriculture to journalism may be studied and properly established. As a means to this end, the Extension Service has invited a number of newspapers throughout the State to send copies of their papers here, where they may be kept and filed. The purpose of this is twofold. In the first place, these papers offer to those students who are taking what may be termed a course in journalism a unique opportunity to study journalism. Then, in the second place, the papers are preserved by binding them in book form, thus making the papers a permanent record. If at any time, say after a number of years, the condition of crops in a certain locality is desired to be known, it can be ascertained by referring to the newspaper file.

Several students have enrolled in the course, and their names with the name of the newspaper they are studying are as follows:

C. C. Wilson, "Troup Banner."

W. M. Tompkins, "Weslako News."

M. E. Dealy, "Cameron Enterprise."

R. L. Lenschner, "San Saba Star."

It was pointed out that there is a wide field in journalism open to energetic and vigorous men. It was also stated that the relation of journalism to agriculture was of utmost importance in this State. From this it is easy enough to see why it would be logical to establish a Chair of Journalism at this institution. Texas, being one of the richest agricultural states in the Union, needs the advertisement that the circulation of newspapers can bring. A reference was made to the fact that as soon as the invitation was extended to the various newspapers to send copies here that they immediately began mentioning the agricultural standing and production of the localities which the various newspapers represented.

Prof: "Who was the first radio fan?"

Stude: "Adam."

Prof: "How's that?"

Stude: "They took his rib and made a loud speaker out of it."

—Ex.

Father: "Johnny why is it that you are always at the bottom of the class?"

Johnny: "It doesn't make any difference father, they teach the same things at both ends."

—Exchange.

Mother: "Lulu, you stood out on the porch quite a while last nite."

Lulu: "Why mother, I only stood there for a second."

Mother: "But I'm sure I heard a third and a fourth."

—Exchange.

You will not find any forty-niners among the successful gold-diggers of today.

Soph—How's the hash today?

Fish—Still a mystery, sir.
