

have a talk with their class representative and give them what information they might need to remedy the cause of this "gripe." Success for an undertaking such as the Student Welfare Board depends upon everyone interested cooperating to the fullest extent. It is to be hoped that every student will use this channel opened up for him to make a better A. and M.

dance which will take place on the roomy gymnasium floor after the basketball game. The festivities must necessarily stop at midnight and the first "T" day will draw to a memorial close.

Only Too True.

Lazy men I've often seen
But the laziest I've yet found
Is the one who waits in a revolving door
For someone to push him around.

Drastic steps are being taken at the University of Kentucky to abolish cribbing. If a student is found guilty of cheating he is required to drop the course with a grade of five. In case of a second offense he is suspended from school for the year.

THEATRICAL SEASON

At its height in Bryan just the same as in New York. The road shows are arriving one after another and you must see them while the season is on. January, this month, brings to Bryan entertainment little heard of, much less hoped of, being produced right here in the city of Bryan. "Blossom Time," "Cohan's Minstrels" and "Meet The Wife" were the first attractions of the season and are minor affairs in comparison with The Lasses White Minstrels. The Theatrical season here would be lacking indeed if it did not include a visit from "Lasses" and his forty fellow entertainers. The present season is the fifth of the All Stars and each in turn have shown a substantial increase in popularity over its predecessor until now it may confidently be declared the most popular of all the black face aggregation now touring. The is the first time Bryan has had a chance to see this big minstrel show which will be staged here with its big street parade Monday, January 19th. Seats now on sale at The Dixie. The next big New York show will be The Shubert Production "The Passing Show" the biggest in every respect that ever made a town out of New York. The Living Chaneller and Castle House Orchestra are minstrel show in themselves.

Glowing reports carried home by hundreds of thousands of out-of-town visitors who saw the New York Winter Garden's annual revue, "The Passing Show" during its long runs in New York and Chicago, has spread to all people of the country and insures capacity audiences in every city it is presented. The production, which is the most expensive and spectacular affair in America at the present time, will be given here in its entirety, exactly as presented at the Winter Garden, the complete original production, down to the very last spangle, will be brought to The Palace Theatre, Bryan, Texas, Friday, January 23. In addition in the above minstrel you are privileged to see many of the greatest picture productions ever presented. Barbara La Marr in "Sandora", Richard Barthelemess in "Classmates", "The Sea Hank", "Three Women" and many others in the near future.

LONGHORN EXTRA SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN BEGINS NEXT WEEK

Hear Ye! The Longhorn Extra Subscription Campaign starts next week with a bang. Many students will want additional books this year, for this year's Longhorn fairly breathes the spirit of A. and M. No one wishes to give away his own Longhorn, and there are friends to whom a Longhorn would be more acceptable than anything which pertains to the school. The number of extra copies is limited; therefore be prepared with your money when the solicitors come around.

Prof: "Can someone give me a sentence using the word 'unaware' correctly?"

Co-ed rat: "I can."

Prof: "All right, let's hear it."

Co-ed rat: "Unaware is what you put on first and take off last."—Ex.

Mike: "I discovered a new kind of whiskey the other day."

Ike: "You did? What kind was it?"

Mike: "Chicken Whiskey."

Mike: "Two drinks and then you lay."—Ex.
