much like the last one and like everyone that has gone before. Instead of regretting anything that might have happened last term, just see that it will not happen this term.

MID TERM DANCES WERE ENJOYED BY THOSE ATTENDING o'clock sharp, the notes of "Home Sweet Home", which is Chinese for "That's all, There Ain't Any More," sent the merry-makers home and the mid-term dances were at an end.

In an advance notice of the festivities we learned that there was to be a "Saturnalia of fun for students and girls all Mid-term." Upon conferring with our old friend Webster we found: Saturnalia:—A. period of excesses of vice or crime." Many of the cadets remained at College Station during the holidays in expectation of seeing the Armory converted into a jail, Guion Hall turned into a modern Monte Carlo, and the Y. M. C. A. made into an all-night caberet with "Pa" Mathews as Florenz Ziegfeld directing the Ayers Laundry Employees as the Follies chorus.

NEXT YEAR LONGHORN OFFICERS ELECTED

The Junior Class held a meeting on Sunday, January 25, for the purpose of electing officers who will have charge of publishing the 1926 Longhorn. The editor, business manager, and art editor were chosen early in the year in order that they may make plans for next year's Longhorn and acquire valuable knowledge from the staff of this year's annual.

A. J. Longley of Westover, who is Junior assistant on this year's staff, was elected editor of the 1926 Longhorn. G. E. Garrett of Weimar will be business manager and G. E. Christensen of Dallas will be art editor. A staff headed by these men should be able to publish a Longhorn entirely up to the standard of previous annuals in every respect.
