for the manouevers and fancy movements.

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 16, 17, and 18, have been selected as R. V. days and approved by the faculty. Those students who go on the several inspection trips will be able to get back to College in time for the festivities. Just how many visiting girls will be here is not definitely known, but from all indications a large number are coming to A. and M. for these days.

Most of the visiting girls will be taken care of in campus homes. The Y. M. C. A. has accommodations for some, and therefore it is not likely that a dormitory will be utilized.

In the ancient civilization of Peru streams were bridged and strong stone roads were built. Shade trees and sweet-scented herbs were set along the borders of the road, and at intervals, signs were erected for the direction of the travelers. Inns were built every twelve miles—a day's journey.—Colorado Highways.

Why Agricultural College Graduates are on the Purina Mills Pay Roll

(Special to the Class of '25)

FOR thirty years the Purina Mills have maintained a department devoted to the development of the most approved thoughts on animal nutrition and livestock feeding.

It's a big job—this business of helping the farmer lower his cost of producing milk, eggs, pork and beef. It means continual research work in the laboratories of Purina Mills.

It means a staff of chemists to test and analyze the grains and other ingredients used in making balanced rations. It means a staff of practical farmers to make actual field and feed-lot comparisons between the efficiency and economy of various mixtures. It means a staff of educated young men to go to the farmer's own barn—to help him balance his home-grown feeds with proper concentrates—to help him cull his non-producers—to teach him to keep daily records of his milk and egg production—and to impress upon him the importance of knowing his feed cost.

Whenever you gentlemen see a checkerboard bag of Purina Chows, you can take a personal pride in it, for the Purina Mills are relying on agricultural college graduates like you upon their staff to maintain the high standard of Purina Chows.

As long as there is a place for a ration which proves by actual records that it lowers the farmer's production costs, there is a big place for Purina Chows. And as long as there is that big place for Purina Chows, there will be a place in Purina Mills for many of the men who have learned the principles of scientific feeding.

A Mexican archaeologist announces that a prehistoric city has been found at a place called Atcapotzalco. It is thought that this announcement will give cross-word puzzles a new lease of life.

During a violent gale in Rockhurst, Illinois, several temporary buildings, including a bank, were swept away. This, we believe, is the first recorded instance of a bank being destroyed by an overdraft.

A seventy-three-old bachelor has just got married in Boston. After seventy, one's power of resistance almost inevitably weakens.

A member of the Mt. Everest expedition says that at a certain height onions and peppermints are quite flavorless. We suppose that is why consumers of these delicacies always prefer the inside of the 'bus.

According to Dr. Jacobson, who has recently returned from Tibet, husbands in that country have to sleep outside their huts eight months out of the twelve. Thank goodness, spring-cleaning does not last so long in this country.

According to the dean of the U. N. C. a freshman's roommate has more to do with his failing work than either athletics or fraternities or any other outside activity.

Wild: Did you ever hear about the man who drank gasoline for hooch?

Wilder: No.

Wild: Now instead of hicking, he honks.

One can not always be a hero, but one can always be a man.—Goethe.

Be careful about what you start while trying to stop something.

Judge—"Young man, how did this accident happen?"

Finchley—"Well, sir, I dimmed my lights and was hugging the curve."

Judge—"Yeah, that's how most accidents happen."
