ested along these lines. And especially is the Department of Rural Education offering an innovation in the summer work here. This is in the form of a rural demonstration school which will be organized here on the campus under the direction of Prof. Hughes of the Rural Education Department. For this purpose students from the first seven grades of the A. and M. Consolidated school will be used, and the teachers and those who are preparing themselves to teach and who attend this demonstration school methods and with such equipment as is usually found in the rural school.

Instruction at the summer session will be given by members of the present faculty of the College. The number of instructors who will take part in the summer work will be only about one-third of the full strength of the staff of the College. Instruction at the summer session will be similar to that given during the regular session except that it will, of necessity be much more concentrated.

JOHN R. BRAZELTON IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Avalanche of Votes at Last Minute
Turns the Tide. Mr. Brazelton Gives Out Statement.

The election of John Brazelton to the presidency of the "Y" Cabinet came about in a general election held in the main building, Friday, May 15, 1925. An avalanche of votes from the suffragist party gave Mr. Brazelton an overwhelming majority. At noon Friday, the other two candidates for the office conceded Mr. Brazelton's election because of the heavy vote cast by the suffragist party in the winner's favor. In an interview with a Battalion reporter, Mr. Brazelton made the following statement in regard to his policy for the coming scholastic year: "I am for the students. I am in favor of improving our picture shows, and shall lend my efforts toward securing high class pictures of the "Baby Peggy" type. I shall guarantee one juvenile comedy each week, and hope to bring about a closer cooperation between the students and my cabinet."

Mr. Brazelton will be ably assisted by Mr. J. T. McCluney, of Forrester, serving in the capacity of vice-president, and Mr. J. C. Appleman of Dallas, secretary-treasurer. The election of these three men to administer the affairs of the "Y" Cabinet marks the first decisive victory for advocates of co-education at the A. and M. College of Texas, and is the culmination of an up-hill fight by the suffragist party.

the date of its founding to the present time. The second is the section entitled, "Aggieland Pictorial Section," which gives a picture synopsis or story of college life throughout the year, from "College Night" through the spring festivities near the close of school.

The colored divisional plates in the book are equal to any art work found in any college annual this year. This work was done by the Art Editor, Vic LeMay, and Mr. G. A. Geist. The work is original, and there has been no repetition of pictures or ideas from previous Longhorns.

The 1925 Longhorn is considerably larger than the one of last year. The 1924 book had 456 pages, while this year's book contains 524 pages. The size of the page has been increased from 7 1-2 by 10 1-2 to 9 by 12 inches. The new annual is the largest book ever printed at A. and M. College, and according to information from the Hugh Stephens Press who is printing more than 25 college annuals this year, the A. and M. Longhorn is the largest in the southwest.

The extensive work of compiling the Longhorn was carried out by the following staff:

Editor-in-chief, D. B. Baxt.
Business Manager, T. R. Black.
Art Editor, Vic LeMay.
Associate Editor, H. R. Johnson.
Circulation Manager, Claude Mast.

Sectional Editors:

Administration, W. R. Frederick.
Classes, W. B. Orr.
Military, A. M. McNeel.
Vanity Fair, C. G. Marten
Athletics, A. M. Hiatt.
Clubs and Organizations, O. C. Anderson, Lewis Dodson.
Activities, R. W. Colglazier.
Longhorn Horn, E. O. Buck, P. C. Lipscomb.

Each member of the staff had a junior as an assistant to aid him in his special work.
