the building needs of the College.

Every member present expressed himself as in deep sympathy with the Institution and willing to use his influence to the utmost in an endeavor to provide better facilities at the College for training men. While these men recognize the difficulties with which the State is confronted because of a shortage of funds, they indicated their sympathy for the Institution and their desire to be helpful to it.

Their visit will undoubtedly be of value as they can speak with assurance and with a personal knowledge concerning the College and its problems when its interests are being considered by the bodies of which they are members. The students' reactions made a very favorable impression upon the visitors and all in all their visit will be very beneficial to the school.

A reception on the presidents lawn, honoring Governor Moody and the committeemen until train time marked the close of their visit.

FISH TRACK TEAM GIVEN

TRIP TO HOUSTON

As a reward for their faithful work all during the track season, seventeen members of the freshman track squad were given a trip to Houston to see the Southwestern Conference track meet. There they saw one of the greatest collections of track stars ever entered in a conference meet. In addition to the southwestern stars, they had a chance to see a runner of international fame, who broke the world's record in an exhibition run during the meet. This trip was of great value to the Aggie freshmen as they were enabled to see the styles of the best men in each event.

WASTE BASKET STUFF.

Under a virgin cedar tree the college newstand stood:

With wares displayed both risque and staid,

To charm one's every mood.

A bottle of drink a flare of pink and a form of grace divine,

Leads students thoughts from Ag to art and with a deep

Drawn sigh he sadly parts with his last and only dime.

The daily sheet with headlines neat,

of scandal recently discovered,

Of a riot or a roaring flood, twenty-eight skeletons uncovered.

REED & POWERS

Confectionery and Drugs

The daily news, helps banish the blues, or words to that effect,

Not so with the stude who sadly learned that his words were vain, His love was spurned, his gal had married by heck.

Some news is good, some is bad and some is not so worse,

People are the same, there's nothing in a name,

Could you properly call this verse?

So I've scattered around some silliness profound and now an apology is expected.

And by the way, be it as it may, my purpose is now effected.

The editor requested with tears in his voice, for filler for unfilled space, I grabbed my pen with a derisive grin and caught three men off the base.

RULE DAWSON ELIGIBLE FOR PONY ELEVEN

Mustang football stock for next year took a rise Saturday upon receipt here of news from Houston, declaring Stanley Dawson, all-Conference end and captain of the Southwestern Conference champions, eligible for another year of play.

Dawson was ruled ineligible at the close of the conference. S. M. U. officials appealed the decision at the annual meeting of the conference held at Houston Saturday morning. The conference officials voted that the calendar year should apply three years from the date of first participation.

Dawson had played three years of basketball, but had played only two years of football. He was unanimously selected as all-conference end at the close of the last football season. Before coming to S. M. U. he was all-State high school end on the El Paso High School Team.

The eligibility of Dawson will solve one of the major problems confronting Coach Ray Morrison for next year's team. With Dawson and Alex Hooks he will have two of the best wing men in the conference. They both will fit into the type of play next year that will result from the new "lateral pass" rule.

Glorifying the Nation's Press

UNDER the careful scrutiny of the Fine Arts Commission, the Board of Engineers, the Building Inspector, various civic organizations, the District Commissioners and Congress itself—the National Press Building is now being built in Washington, D. C., as a monument to the Press, and to serve as headquarters for the National Press and as an office building.

Congress set aside the height limitation of zoning laws by special act, so that the building could be of maximum usefulness and still conform with the symmetry of the adjacent sky line.

The financing of this undertaking has been very impressive—$6,000,000 worth of bonds were oversubscribed 300% by a mighty response from every section of the country.

The elevator installation consists of seven (7) Otis Gearless Traction Elevators with Unit Multi-Voltage Control and Car Switch operation at 450 feet per minute, six (6) of these elevators being used exclusively for passenger service and one (1) as a service elevator. There is also a small dressing room elevator and a sidewalk elevator
