

BAT SUBSCRIPTION.

in school has an equal chance with the largest to have the honor of editing a special edition of the Battalion. Company D, Infantry, won that honor last year. Battery B won the two previous years. Both organizations are out for another win but there is splendid opposition from other companies.

If every man works with his top kick he can help put his company on top. Send your girl, sister, or mother a birthday present that will last. Or if she has no birthday soon, send a subscription to the "Bat" as an early Christmas present. But remember to subscribe now, as this is the last week of the contest.

The standing of the different companies Tuesday was:

several feature pictures on the Hollywood movie lots, his latest being "The Campus Flirt," a Bebe Daniels production. He toured the world in 1924 in free competition with the leading athletes of eight countries.

Paddock will run an exhibition race with the Aggies' leading sprinters. Buck, the best 220-man in the South, will be wearing the Aggie colors and he has traversed the space in 21.4 seconds. Bob Graham from Jasper, W. C. Huccaba from Mount Pleasant, who was the best sprinter on the Fish team last year, and O'Neil, our 440-man will run in this race. The race will be run at 4:15 on October 18.

At 7:30 Paddock will speak in the Assembly Hall on a subject that is close to every Aggie's heart—clean sportsmanship—in the battle of life, as well as on the athletic field. He is a fluent speaker, with a keen appreciation of humor Don't fail to see and hear him.

at the El Paso expositions last spring. One heifer being shown was the junior champion at the exposition in Fort Worth last spring.

Six Ramboulet and three Southdowns make up the sheep showing.

Fourteen senior A. H. students, candidates for the livestock judging team that will go to the American Royal at Kansas City and the International Show at Chicago, will be at the Fair for practice this week end. A. K. Mackey, associate professor of animal husbandry will coach these students.

WHY—

Some one is always asking why this and why that . . . well here is an attempt to answer a few of those very pertinent whys. Why must every one go reg? The seniors are the only ones on the campus allowed to wear leather so the rest are forced to go reg to cover up their leather necks; and army officers are gentlemen, so you must become accustomed to covering up that manly growth of hair on arms and chest for no "gentleman" wears them, of course you know "she" does not.

Why are "fish" the goats for every one? They haven't been here long enough to get used to the shower baths.

Why can't sleeping be done in class? Because the iron cots are supposed to be better for that purpose.

Why do we have a hospital? To frighten bad boys from eating green apples.

What's alive about Bryan? The cadets are when they first get there.

What is genetics? A study of the ancestrage of the mess hall beef, also known as geology.

Where are the Brazos County coal mines? At the laundry.

Where is the laundry? There isn't any.

What is English? Stuff put on billiard balls in the Y basement.

What is military science? The proper manner to use the knife and fork.

Are girls foolish? Only about a uniform.

Why do cadets go wrong? Because their instructors went right.

Why build more dormitories? So some of the cadets can get the valuable experience of living in a house. Why did I come to college? No one will ever know.

LOVE(?)

Now girls were made for loving And if you miss your share, Some one will take it for you Nor ask you when or where. For love is a passing fancy Believe it or not it's so. It can't be saved like money When it comes right then it must go. As to finding an ideal flapper Why they all think they are that. And so will you for a moment, But will you when she's fat? So meet 'em, love 'em and leave 'em Even marry them if they're rich, For love . . . is only hearts racing, And slow ones are pushed in the ditch.

True love sounds great as an idea, You may say long marriages prove it. But it's only convenient habit Of souls too tired to remove it. We have one deity to honor, Omnipotent, wise, and just. Why worship a slip of a girlie For sake of animal lust?
