A Southern College Association in Chicago was started when representatives of nine southern college alumni clubs met at the Congress Hotel and elected officers and mapped out a plan of organization which is expected eventually to include every Southern Alumni Club in Chicago. The purpose of the organization is to have every Southern College and University organize a Chicago Alumni Club which will become a part of the Southern College Association. The majority of these clubs have small membership and the Association will bring these clubs together so that the members will be able to have all the advantages which a large alumni club offers. The Association will handle the entertainment of Southerners in Chicago and an invitation has been extended to every Southern college man in Chicago to join.

The following Chicago Alumni Clubs are charter members of the Southern College Association: Duke University, University of Virginia, Vanderbilt University, Tulane University, University of Texas, University of North Carolina, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Georgia Tech, and Texas A. and M.

The A. H. Department now has a livestock exhibit making the round of a number of South Texas fairs. This exhibit first went to the Comal County Fair at New Braunfels, and from there to the Gonzales County Fair and to the Guadalupe County Fair at Seguin. It will proceed to LaGrange, Victoria, and probably Floresville and Nixon, according to D. W. Williams, head of the A. H. Department.

One of the features of the exhibit is the mare mule, "Beck," with her stallion offspring, "Pat," owned by the college. Other well-bred animals include four dairy cows, eleven hogs, and six sheep. There is also a large booth containing information concerning the production of poultry, dairy and beef cattle, hogs, sheep, and horses.

Campus residents will probably have the convenience of natural gas in their homes some time in the near future, as arrangements are being made to bring gas to Bryan and College Station. The project is being undertaken by the Lone Star Gas Company and indications are that the installation will be completed by the first of February.

A college night celebration, featuring college songs and yells given by groups of A. & M. cadets and Sewanee students, was staged in the Palace Theatre, at Dallas Friday night. Both the Aggie and Sewanee teams were presented during the performance.

Allen Peoples made his maiden stage appearance directing the Aggie representation in their part of the program. "Farmers Fight" and "Military" were given, and followed by "The Spirit of Aggiland." The words to the song were shown on the screen and the entire audience took part in the singing.

The rest of the celebration was taken over by the management and the Sewanee group.

A SMILE

A smile is a boquet that may be placed in the hands of the living but not on the bier of the Dead. It "drives anger from the face of a fighting man, fear from the lips of a child, and arrests the despondent thrust of self-destruction." It is an emblem of universal friendship, a token of love and the greatest asset of the modern business world. A smile is a gift, the giving of which costs nothing but from which one reaps untold profits. So fellows forget those gripes and SMILE.

An Intercollegiate Song Book of 280 pages has just been published by Thornton W. Allen, 113 W. 57 St., New York. This book contains the school songs of all the large colleges in the United States. It is being sold for $3.75.
