Will Aggies Make Trip to Coast?

At a meeting in Dallas last week, Charlie Paddock said the Texas Aggies or Southern Methodist University Mustangs likely will be selected to meet the Pacific Coast champions in the Tournament of Roses grid battle, if either team wins the Southwest Conference Championship. Paddock is a member of the Tournament of Roses committee, and had stopped in Dallas for a day of rest on his lecture tour.

Paddock is quoted as saying in Dallas, "The Aggies seem to be the pick of the conference so far, and if they rout the Mustangs, Dana Bible's team will be selected to play at Pasadena New Year's Day. If S. M. U. defeats Missouri and then wins the second conference title in succession, their defeat by Centenary must be overlooked, and we must offer them a chance to face the best eleven of the Pacific Coast."

Coach Bible's comment on Paddock's statement was to the effect that football officials and players at Aggieland are concerned wholly and entirely with their Southwest Conference schedule, and that while they are glad the winner will get recognition, the Aggies will point toward the conference title and not toward a post-season game.

The victory of the Mustangs over Missouri last Saturday was watched with great interest by Dr. Stonier, vice-president of the University of Southern California. While Dr. Stonier did not announce the reason of his being at the game, other than just to see a football game, his presence may have been significant. As an official of the California University, his influence probably would have great effect as to which team the 1927 Pacific Coast champions would meet in the annual Tournament of Roses football game.

AGGIES RECEIVED IN ROYAL STYLE

On a certain 22nd day in October, the cohorts of Cols. Nelson and Bourland, journeyed forth to Frogland in the heart of Fort Worth, thinking only of a bloody battle as they have learned to think of on Corps trips before; but instead of the accustomed jeers, "beat the Aggies, hey boy scout, etc.," they were met by the T. C. U. band playing our own beloved war hymn. Not only the T. C. U. band but their student body and the people of Fort Worth gave them a royal, an unexcelled welcome into their midst.

Instead of the stickers that we were so accustomed of seeing in other cities on like occasions, "beat the Aggies, and run the farmer boys back to the sticks" we saw on the cars of the purple and white the courteous signs of "Aggies ride with me." Not a car was too crowded but what one more Aggie could ride.

They made us feel that the T. C. U. campus was ours. Not a one among us was a stranger to the girls, from the most timid and self-conscious "fish" to the most dignified senior. The Administrative Committee left not a stone unturned in the details of the barbecue and the refreshments of the Aggies and their friends.

After their moral victory, the time when we are so accustomed of hearing such jeering remarks as "who won the game and where were the fighting farmers today," we heard the more soothing remarks of "nice game Aggie friend, see you at the dance tonight."

SPECIALS WILL BRING THROG TO PONY-AGGIE GAME

Five special trains, two from Dallas, two from Houston, and one from Waco, have already been scheduled to bring to College Station what is expected to be one of the largest crowds ever to witness a football game on Kyle Field for the Aggie-S. M. U. game on November 5.

With the exception of the Thanksgiving games with the University of Texas, the game with S. M. U. two years ago on Kyle Field drew the largest attendance in the history of A. & M. athletics, and it is expected that over twelve thousand fans and twenty-five hundred A. & M. cadets will swell the attendance this year to nearly fifteen thousand.

The game will have an important bearing in the race for the Southwestern Conference championship and will probably be the deciding game of the year, if both teams win all their

COMPLETE FIGURES ON REGISTRATION

Total of Nearly 2,500 Students Enrolled

The complete registration information for the present year up to Oct. 10 has just been completed by the Registrar's office and forwarded to the Heads of Departments and Deans of the College. The list includes the number of men in each class according to course, and a total of the men in Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, as well as Graduate and Special Students. The enrollments for the last two years are included with this information for the purpose of comparison.

The registration up to Oct. 10 puts the number of Graduate students at 58, with 307 Seniors, 391 Juniors, 654 Sophomores, 1005 Freshmen, 24 Special Students, and 5 students in the two-year course in Agriculture. This grand total of 2444 compares with a total of 2330 for last year, and 2084 for the session 1925-26. This

G CO. WINS TROPHY COVETED BY MANY

Leffingwell Gives Men Full Credit for Winning Prize

Eyes! Right! Thus was the smart and snappy command of Captain Sam Leffingwell, Co. G Infantry carried out to perfection as the company passed the reviewing stand of the Colonel and his party, and helped win the much coveted trophy of the parade. The trophy, an enameled silver loving cup, was presented by the Ft. Worth Ex-student's Association to the company presenting the best appearance in the parade at Fort Worth last Saturday. The company was marched on the field in front of the grandstand and presented with the cup just before the game. Mr. Amon G. Carter, Editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, made the presentation speech.

Capt. Leffingwell gave his company full credit for the good appearance and display of ability that it made in the parade. Sammy is a member of last year's cross country team and was a promising man for this year but because of his desire to do justice to the company which he was commanding he gave up athletics and has turned toward the task of putting out the best drilled company for the year.
