DEDICATED TO AN AGGIE'S NIGHT IN FT. WORTH

Sooner or later you'll forget All you're saying tonight, and yet 'Tis sweet for the stars to kiss the sea

But not half so sweet as your kissing me.

It doesn't mean a thing I know But I love to hear your line, and so, The star lit night has a thousand charms

As I lie content in your warm young arms.

Kiss my fingers, my hair, my eyes, Whisper a thousand precious lies.

Take me in your arms and then, Kiss my trembling lips again.

'Cause sooner or later you'll forget All you're saying tonight and yet—

Just never mind the bye and bye, 'Cause sooner or later so will I.

(For name, age, and telephone number of the author of the above effusion see Fish Roelofs.)

A man sometimes drinks to forget, and about the only thing he forgets is when to stop.
