

How will your office look?

Not like this, of course

Yet you will find in it a dozen jobs that can be done more quickly and effectively by electricity—and done so quietly as to be practically unnoticed. In fact, electricity has completely revolutionized many office methods.

YOUR FATHER probably will recall the days of high stools, eyeshades, and evenings overtime.

But visit a modern office! A thousand letters to go out by four o'clock. A new price list to all customers in to-night's mail, without fail. Enter electricity. Two or three people turn switches, and the finished letters come out of an ingenious machine. Another motion and they are sealed and stamped. Only electricity could get that job done.

Here's a statistical job. The reports are in; thousands of figures to analyze. Looks like overtime for fifty clerks. "Certainly not," answers electricity, as a button starts the motor-driven sorters and tabulators. Key cards are punched with lightning fingers. Electric sorters devour 24,000 cards an hour. Tabulators add quantities and amounts in jig time, and print the totals.

Go to almost any bank today. Hand in your account book. Click, click, click, goes the electric book-keeping machine and back comes the book to you. Five operations performed in that brief moment. Everybody saves time,—you, the clerk, the bank,—when electricity is the book keeper.

In the office of to-morrow you will find "electrical fingers" doing more work than even to-day.

TO-DAY in a modern office you will find these electrical aids: Addressing Machines; Dictating Machines; Adding Machines; Multigraphs; Check-writers; Calculating Machines; Cash Registers; Interior Telephones; Card Recorders; Card Sorters; Time Recorders; Accounting Machines; Time Stamps; Clocks; Mailing Machines; Typewriters; Fans; MAZDA Lamps, and many other electric devices.

This familiar mark appears on many electrical products, including motors that drive time- and labor-saving office machines.

A. & M. PLAYWRIGHT

matter of fact the whole tone of the play is much more sophisticated than one would expect from a seventeen year old student at A. & M. Nevertheless, it is practically all his own work; Turner Bullock of S. M. U., his collaborator, furnishing only the technique of dramatization.

A man like Wathen is an asset to A. & M. One can point to his assured literary ability to disprove the statement that A. & M. has no cultural opportunity. He was prevented from coming back to A. & M. this fall and is now working in a Dallas office. He wished to come back, however, and there is a possibility of his doing so the second term.

"We had quite a game up to the boarding house last night."

"Poker?"

"No, the landlady was going to lick one of the boys for not paying his board, I tried to checker, she jumped me, crowned him and told us both to move."

"Did you do it?"

"Chess!"

"Rastus."

"What do you want, Mandy?"

"Don't forget to fetch me home a bar of tar soap. Ah aims to keep my schoolgirl complexion."

"He says I'm the nicest girl in town. Shall I ask him to call?"

"No, dear, let him keep on thinking so."

MASTER STROKE

The final touch necessary to make football as fool-proof as other high-powered business has been supplied by Northwestern University. Student ticket-passports, bearing portraits of their owners, must be presented for admittance to games. Student ticket managers explain the new wrinkle as a means of preventing students from selling their reservations.
