

RICE OWLS NEXT---NOVEMBER 11

DROP-KICKS

Best in the world; and Dallas, too!

Texas football fans can now say that they have at last seen an All-American player in action on a Texas gridiron. Ye Editor hereby commits himself by picking Joel Hunt for quarterback on the first team of this mythical eleven. This is done without waiting to see him in action in the remaining games of the season. He has done enough already to be first choice on any man's team.

The expected duel between Hunt and Mann failed to materialize. Mann was so completely smothered that he never had a chance to show what he could do. Sammy Reed ran the Mustang team just about as well as Mann.

Everybody was looking for the wonderful Dawson to do something. He was pretty hard to find; perhaps Klepto Holmes could tell you where he was.

In defeat as well as in victory the stars can shine. Roach of the Ponies played a good game at tackle.

"Chuck" Bassett, in his first year at Aggie land has ably upheld the A. & M. line traditions. His forward wall in the Mustang game functioned perfectly, powerfully and smoothly. Few fans realize that on Hunt's sweeping gains off tackle the interference running of the guards is the making or the breaking of the play.

The S. M. U. game drew the largest crowd to Kyle Field in history with the exception of the Thanksgiving Day games. Close to fifteen thousand fans were on hand for the greatest football exhibition ever put on in the conference.

The game was almost an exact replica of the one played at Dallas last year except that the Aggies scored more often. In both games the Ponies, Horses, Mustangs, or whatever you call them, were badly outplayed by the Aggies. Perhaps the Ponies need some more horseshoes.

Inspired by the success of their brothers on the gridiron, the Aggie hill-and-dale runners turned in an overwhelming victory over the Longhorns.

AGGIE RUNNERS DEFEAT LONGHORNS

The Aggie cross-country team started the season off Saturday with a 18-41 victory over the Texas University runners.

Killian for the Farmers placed first with apparent ease, the beautiful striding Avila second, Brannon from State was third and the only man from Texas to come in short of eighth place.

It seemed that the opposing runners were considerably off form for the day, also the strange course had a negative effect on them. The Aggie contestants were additionally spirited by the standing score of the football game which was in full swing when the race was started. Captain Childers was slowed up a bit by a pain, but staged a fighting finish. The time was 23:10.

Order of finish:

- 1 Killian A. and M.
- 2 Avila A. and M.
- 3 Brannon T. U.
- 4 Haile A. and M.
- 5 Moore A. and M.
- 6 Shoemaker A. and M.
- 7 Childers A. and M.
- 8 Thompson A. and M.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

The Intramural Athletic Board held its first meeting of the year Thursday, Nov. 3 in the intramural athletic dept. office at the gym. W. L. Penberthy, director of intramural athletics, gave a brief summary of the work accomplished to date, in which it was brought out that more sports are being offered this year and that more students are participating in the various sports than ever before. The present program of physical training for freshmen has a great deal to create interest in intramural athletics and the fact that each company has a team entered in each sport has given more men an opportunity to get in the games.

It was decided at this meeting of the Intramural Board to give a medal to each member of the winning team in each sport and a medal to the manager. The winner of the tennis tournament will get a medal, as will the winner in each weight division in boxing and in wrestling. Medals will

HARD BATTLE IS EXPECTED

Owls Due to Play Their Best Game of the Year.

In preparing for the game with Rice Institute at Houston next Friday, the Texas Aggies are taking into consideration the prospects of a hard fight, realizing that Rice will go into the game keyed up to a high point of inspiration. Coach Bible, in consequence, has mapped out a program of thorough preparation though the opening workout of the week, following the game with the Mustangs last Saturday, was a light one.

The primary object of this week's practice will be to get the Aggies in the proper frame of mind for the coming game at Houston, Coach Bible said. The Owls always put up their best fight against A. & M. and it is usually a very determined team which is sent onto the field by Coach Heisman to combat the Aggies. It is a realization of this fact that the Aggie coaches hope to give their players.

Brooks Conover, halfback, suffered two broken bones in his right hand in the game with the Mustangs and will probably be out of the Aggie line-up until Thanksgiving. Bible is planning to use Dorsey to take Conover's place. Dorsey, who hails from Fort Worth, turned in a good game during the period he was in the line-up against the Mustangs Saturday.

Varnell, fullback, is getting in shape rapidly again, having about recovered from the effects of ankle that was sprained in the game with Texas Tech, and will likely get in the game with Rice.

The Aggies will leave here Friday morning on special train to Houston. This special will leave at 8 o'clock and will return after the game Friday night. It is expected to carry spectators as well as the players.

Indications are that the starting line-up Friday for the Aggies will be: Sikes and Petty, ends; Lister and Sprout, tackles; Bartlett, center; Holmes and Figari, guards; Hunt, quarterback; Dorsey, left half; Alsbrook, right half; Burgess, fullback.

A. & M. will stage a dual cross-country meet with Rice at Houston the same day as the game. The Aggie cross-country team defeated the University of Texas team 18 to 41 in the dual meet held here Saturday.
