FRESHMAN BASKETBALL.

Smith, with three years experience with Port Arthur; F. Broiles, another Fort Worth boy, who has three letters to show for his high school experience, and J. A. Cotton, one-yearman from Abilene, compose the list of candidates from which the guards will be chosen.

Competition has been kept at a high pitch since practice began in December and the fact that the seventeen men now on the freshman squad were chosen from more than sixty, all of whom had experience, either high school or academy, speaks well for their ability.

AGGIES HAVE TWO GAMES THIS WEEK.

it may turn out to be more than the usual practice game. The Teachers have always had a good team and should put one out on the floor this week that will give the Farmers plenty of competition and the Cadets plenty of thrills.

Jinx says: "S. M. U. on its return home will stop in College Station for a game with the Aggies. As the noisy Aggie Cadets crowd the gym the Farmers and Ponies will mix it one week from Monday. That also should prove a splendid game." And so it should. Monday, Jan. 16, the Ponies will be the invaders for the second time during the college year and our chances for victory this time are just about the same as they were in football, depending on the start. Of course the dopesters have it that S. M. U. will win, but of course dopesters are often wrong. The Ponies will have the slight edge on the Aggies, in that they have played more conference games and had the added experience; but this should be overcome by the contest between the Aggies and Teachers next Thursday and Friday. Apparently the greatest fault that one can find with the Aggie team of this year is that they were a little self-conscious and it can never be said of any Aggie that self-consciousness remained with him long!
