

FROGS ARE COMING

DROP KICKS

Gang, you saw that team standing at attention while you were singing Taps didn't you? Wonder how they felt, think it over.

You were putting out in true Aggie fashion, don't weaken, your cause is only strengthened now.

A spectator remarked with surprise, "Why the Soldier Boys are carrying the Gents off the Field." That man needs to know that all Aggieland appreciates a Sportsman and recognizes his real worth.

Man it was in the air last Saturday, starting at five a. m. Eastern Standard time.

The yelling in the Mess Hall doesn't hurt one thing but watch and don't become destructive.

The T. C. U. student body were exceedingly nice to you last year, so be on your toes and render all possible aid.

It is the start of a hard fight for Conference honors so take heed and don't slip.

The race is upon us and to the twelfth man goes the honor of upholding the greatest team in this little Kingdom of football.

Say, you saw Harry Phillips catch that pass last Saturday, didn't you?

Don't Forget: Chill 'em Boy Chill 'em.

STUDENTS AT C. I. A.

START HOCKEY PRACTICE

Announcement comes from Miss Mary Virginia Williams, hockey manager at C. I. A., that the annual series of hockey games ending with the colorful A. and M.-Texas take-off game to be played just before Thanksgiving, will soon start. Practice games will be held every Saturday, and a record kept of these games to determine who can play in the Thanksgiving affray.

Eligibility consists in coming out for at least one practice game monthly and also two afternoons each week. Two teams are picked from the eligibles, one team representing A. and M. and the other team representing Texas, and the two teams battle it out in the Thanksgiving contest.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM HAS INITIAL TRY-OUT

Coach Anderson's Cross Countrymen had their premier try outs Saturday on the track behind Kyle Field. The team showed plenty of speed, and the race ended in a close finish. Winders, dark horse of the race, was first; Moore, Perkins, Brown, Shoemaker and Michael finishing in the order named. At the conclusion of three tryouts the team will be picked. At present the squad is working with the idea of coming into their top speed between the 10th and 24th of November. This will put them just about "right" for the conference meet to be held in Austin. It seems as though Winders will be the only individual star, however, the squad as a whole is much better than last years championship team. 'Tis queer indeed, but every time the football team wins a championship the cross country team has done likewise.

Listen, fellows, next time you go down to watch the football team work out drop by and give the cross country team the once over. Show them that you are interested in them, they need your support and interest too. They will appreciate your attitude. They are working just as hard as the other Varsity teams and deserve support. If you show them you are interested and behind them, they will work just that much harder. A championship is a championship regardless of what team gets it. Cross country doesn't arouse as much interest as football or baseball but they work just as hard, so get behind them and push. A "Cross Country Champs" would look good on that old Championship pennant this year.

BASKETBALL CENTER OF INTRAMURAL INTEREST

In the first three days of play the Cavalry unit has again showed itself as the leader on the basketball floor. Of the four games the horse soldiers played, three of them were victorious. Troop C, the champions of 1927, losing their only contest. Battery B, Battery C, and B Engineers appear to have the strongest teams of the lot by the early season games. The best games will probably come out of League D as each of the teams are exceptionally strong and from the dope it looks as though one of them will be in

T. C. U. TO INVADE CAMPUS SATURDAY

Jinx of Conference to Aggies.

Out of the North from Panther City they are to come Saturday, intent on a victory over all Aggieland. For the last three years they have succeeded once in getting the heavy end of a three to nothing score and twice in a lucky ties. Aggie teams, two of which were Conference Champions, have been forced to suffer a tie at the hands of spirited Frog teams.

What does the coming tilt hold for the Aggies? The game will be played on Kyle Field in the Heart of Aggieland, but the Frog jinx again. The older cadets that transferred from the Salvation Army in the Fall of '83 and Spring of '92 realize just what it means to meet a team that would call a victory over A. and M. a perfect season. The purple and white will play a game away above their heads in an attempt to keep the spell of the Frogs cast over Aggieland.

The predominating question in the minds of the fans who are interested in the coming tilt is how long can this phenomenon of football hold the Aggies. The defeats suffered before have not necessarily proved fatal, but to allow a slip on the first Conference game would throw the Aggies in a very crucial if not disastrous position.

The corps was right last Saturday, and so-right, they should be more so for this week-end. The time has come when each man realizes his true value and will put out to the end.

A Centenary Fan remarked that there wasn't a quiet spot for miles around this place, Gentlemen, there isn't supposed to be, so do your stuff.

T. C. U. fans will start arriving Friday to look you over, the Special train will get here around noon Saturday. The plans at present call for it to be back in Fort Worth by mid-nite the twentieth. How is it going back?

the finals.

In the first games Troop A whipped Company H out to the tune of 16-12; then A Engineers showed their superiority by beating Battery
