

TORO

(By T. Wine)

I read somewhere that the only haven for an optimist was the lunatic asylum. I almost believe that statement. Some fellows get married that haven't a bit of cents, but that's almost the same as the first instance.

I'm naturally a pessimist. Generally early in the morning and right before meals. Sometimes after going through the process of entering the mess hall and coming out, I am even more of a pessimist. However, I have a chronic dispeptic stomach. People so troubled should never be allowed to voice their opinion on any thing of importance, or serve on a jury, since they are the most "agin" people in the world.

Another thing. One of my friends has recently fallen in love. He kept it from me a long time, and now he gets "specials." He doesn't send any yet, because he is Scotch, but when he does I'll be ready for the river—or the wedding.

I remember, I was in love once. It's a kind of goofy feeling. Something you can't scratch. Once a girl even told me that she loved me. She kept calling me "Adolph" that night. I remember distinctly. She was hanging on my arm, on my neck. She pleaded with me not to leave her but I was firm and finally hung her on a hat-rack to sober up. And I've been having trouble with my feet ever since the winter she taught me to dance. She was one of these:

Roses are red,
Violets are blue
I love you

And you do too.

Gosh and the money I spent on that girl. Reckless, that's the way I am. High as eighty or ninety cents in one night. But I don't get stuck so easy now. I got a girl that's different.

I heard this one in class the other day.

The old negro cook, Mandy, hearing the lady of the house speaking to a visitor about companionate marriage said to her: "I say, Miz Fannie, what's dis here passhionate mahrige, I done heah about?"

Why Mandy, that's when two people live together until they find that they can't get along, and then part.

"Why, Miz Fannie, You white folks is gettin' moah lik us niggers evah day."

This one in class too.

"The Lindberg Sandwich stand was raided by the prohibition officers, and about five hundred gallons of sandwiches confiscated."

Again, oh, suffer on.

"Cadets have a tendency to yell before athletic games and after exams." True brother, true.

Why is it that people when in a barber chair always look so inferior? The most aggressive and outstanding person looks appealingly and trustfully into the barber's eyes. Because the barber generally has the edge on them.

I stopped a minute to listen and look in on the dance last night, especially look. It appears to me that there was more competition there,

MINUTES OF STUDENT WELFARE COMMITTEE

The student body as a whole has never heard of the Student Welfare Committee before. This committee is made up of a senior from each battalion, three representatives from the Junior Class, two from the Sophomore Class, one from the Freshman Class, and several members of the faculty. This committee meets many times during the school year, and it discusses the many various problems which face the student, and gives its conclusions to the faculty as recommendations to be acted on. If any of you students have anything you would like to be brought up before the committee, see one of the members.

The following discussions and actions were taken by the Committee:

1. R. W. Davidson was elected Secretary of the Committee and the Committee adopted a resolution that it should be the duty of the Secretary to submit to the Battalion reports of the minutes.

2. Mr. Bible, Chairman of the Sub-committee on outdoor swimming pool reported progress in arousing interest in such a pool.

3. The Chairman of the Committee was requested to take up with the proper authorities the matter of supplying hot water for bathing purposes immediately.

4. The Committee adopted a resolution expressing the sense of the Committee that Paragraph 84 "College Regulations" should be modified to allow seniors and others listed in the Regulations to keep lights to a later hour than midnight.

5. The matter was discussed of recommending that all three lights be allowed in rooms occupied by only two seniors, in order to permit greater flexibility in the use of lights.

6. There was a discussion of the importance of lower classmen doing more studying now on account of the approaching of the first reports of grades on November 1. It was brought out in the discussion that some of the organizations are already taking steps to help the students in their organizations, and the suggestion was made that it might be possible to get someone to offer an award to the Company in the Corps which makes the best scholastic record. A Committee consisting of E. E. McQuillen, J. Humphries, and H. S. Williams was (Continued on Page 3)

than throughout the grocery chain-store system in Texas. Gee, I'm sleepy, my apologies with this weeks' bunk. So said the Eagle to Miss Liberty, "If you had wings you'd be an Angel." Said Miss Liberty to the Eagle, "Flatterer, you're a boid Yourself." Soft music. Lights.
