

MR. MAYO TO ADDRESS COSMOPOLITAN CLUB.

The Cosmopolitan Club has been in existence at this college for the last seven or eight years and has been functioning and carrying on its mission as its sister colleges do in other parts of the United States.

The club elects new officers for every term, and the following are in office for this term: Karter S. Garcha from India, president; Salim Ahu Karam from Syria, vice-president; Darwish Hadari from Iraq, secretary; Vicente Aldape from Mexico, treasurer.

The primary aims of this club are to generate amicable relations between America and foreign lands, to promote fraternalism, foster universal brotherhood, and to cultivate the international mind in the people, especially the youth, of the world.

Before and After - it's then clothes count. When the ball's in play nobody knows or cares what anybody's wearing. But before and afterward—that's different. Football games are our nearest approach to public style shows. We don't blame you for wanting your new clothes by Saturday. We'll see that they're ready for you, too. The club holds its open meeting once a month in which an interesting talk is given either by one of the club members about his own country or by an outstanding speaker on some subject concerning foreign countries. I take pleasure here to announce that on November 4th, Sunday afternoon at three p. m. Mr. Thomas F. Mayo will speak on "Contrast-Europe and America."

Moreover, I may invite attention of the readers to the fact that the club is going to provide, on this meeting, two well-known musicians, Mr. A. B. Kennerly, a graduate student, who will play the guitar, and Cadet Captain R. A. Kunitz, who will play the violin.

On behalf of the Cosmopolitan club I extend a cordial invitation to all students, and campus and Bryan friends to attend our meeting on November Fourth, at three p. m. in the "Y" parlors in the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. building. KARTER S. GARCHA.

AGGIELAND DESERTED OVER WEEK-END.

An attempt to relieve the monotony of college students' life was made this last week-end by approximately one-third of the cadet corps, when large numbers departed from the campus for visits to the nearby towns and cities. Many of these may have gone home and made proper use of their vacation by a good rest on Sunday, but from the general condition of those who returned Monday morning, apparently "resting" was not indulged in by the majority.

The diminished ranks of the cadet corps were at a difficulty in keeping their customary formations, and in making a presentable appearance while marching to the mess hall. Several platoons were reduced to the size of a squad, but defied being absorbed by a larger body, and marched down in "platoon front" in good order. Many were the expressions of disgust when it was found that the annex has been discontinued, and organizations were forced to scramble for "bull-neck" and "cush". Sgt. King and Co. were nearly annihilated in their attempt to guide the onrushing mealhounds to their supper tables.

The game with Arkansas made a convenient break in the schedule of home games, as the card is full from now until after Thanksgiving. The Saturday preceding Turkey Day is open, but the thought of the Austin trip will keep most of the Aggies at home. Following two strenuous games on Kyle Field, the break was welcomed, and this accounts for the large emigration Saturday.

It is hoped that the wandering cadets behaved like perfect little gentlemen while on their visits. Night life in the small towns may lead one astray, and everyone knows of the dangers likely to be encountered in Houston, the nearest city.

EDUCATIONAL METHODS.

An incident, striking in what it reveals, occurred in a classroom a few days ago. A student, who was really trying to learn something about the important subject but was prevented by the bewildering rapidity of the instruction, asked the professor the following question:

"We go so fast in this course it is almost impossible to learn anything so wouldn't it be better to take more time and cover the work more thoroughly?" The professor replied: "Yes, but we have to complete the prescribed work in the available amount of time."

Is that an example of the teaching methods in vogue at this school?
