

lose the ball by downs. With the play on the seven-yard line two attempts to carry the score across were smeared, a short pass, Dorsey to Mills put the Aggies on the 4-yard line, fourth down up and two minutes to play, a pass Mills to Zarafonetis over the goal line netted the matching touchdown. The hard feature of the game was the failure to kick goal.

OWLS COMING.

ing of Bible the Rice boys had been stepping on the Farmers at will. In 1914 A. and M. swamped the Owls 32-7, the following year the Owls got a 7-0 victory, and not being content with that, they beat the Aggies 20-0 in 1916.

Then Bible appeared and declared against such a situation and the Farmers have suffered only the one defeat. Bible's first team, which was undefeated and S. W. C. champions, walloped the Feathery Tribe 10-0. The Aggies did not meet the Owls again until 1920 and that year administered a 7-0 beating. In 1921 Bible's team, which won another championship and defeated Centre College, Champions of the United States 22-14, barely tied the Owls, the score being 7-7. In '22, the Aggies retaliated with a 24-0 win, but next year the Farmers met defeat 7-6. The Aggies won the next four games easily; 16-13, 17-0, 20-0, and 14-0.

Again this year the Owls are weak—maybe. They displayed plenty fight against the Longhorns and nearly whipped the Texans. All the critics said the Institute boys were playing above their heads and would probably lose the remainder of their games by large scores. But again, Saturday, the Owls gave the dope bucket another kick and held the mighty T. C. U. crew to a 7-0 win; they outplayed the Frogs the first part of the game and T. C. U. was lucky to score on the pass in the closing moments of play. Thus Rice came back again and it is just as possible for the Rice boys to outfight the Aggies and maybe win—the Owls have their feathers ruffled and are fighting to remain in the Conference; so we are going to have to fight the Owls just as hard as we fought the Mustangs.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE, BUT

The modern college youth is not much worse than his predecessors and that can be proved by the truthful story of what the A. and M. College cadets did back in the year 1880, or thereabouts. About that time there occurred a tremendous migration of negroes to the state of Kansas and the Middle Western country. Thousands of colored folks were lured to leave Texas through promises of land by colonization agents and real-estate dealers. One huge caravan of over 2,000 darkies camped one night just south of the A. and M. campus. They were traveling over-land in wagons drawn by horses and mules. The sum of the military equipment of the college at that time was a pair of small brass cannon. The cadets filled these with powder, dragged them close to the camp of the colored folks, and while the singing and dancing around the campfire was at its height, set them off. The noise was tremendous. Every horse and mule stampeded. The negroes, themselves, were frightened nearly to death and many of them ran all the way to Millican before stopping. Negroes, horses, mules and cattle were scattered all over Brazos county for several days. Many old-timers well remember the incident. So be careful, Dads, when you tell your son how the boys of your day behaved themselves.—Texas Aggie.

And She Was His Best Girl.

Senior: "Fish, do you know Helen Jones, from your home town?"

Fish: "Why, I know her so well I've been calling her by her pet name, 'Dandruff,' for a long time."

Senior: "Tell me how in the world they ever started that."

Fish: "Aw, it was nothing. A bunch of us boys started it because she was always falling on some Gink's neck."

Definition?

The latest way of distinguishing one's best girl from the rest is to just notice which one he gripes about being slow, and calls 'Pigeon

Toes' because she's always wanting to turn in.

A Russian was being led off to execution by a squad of Bolshevik soldiers on a rainy morning.

"What brutes you Bolshevik are," grumbled the doomed one, "to march me through a rain like this!"

"How about us?" retorted one of the squad. "We have got to march back."

What Shakespeare says about Coca-Cola

Drink
Coca-Cola
Delicious and Refreshing

"Ever precise in promise keeping"

The point of Lucio's remark is not what he said it about, but what he said. It surely describes Coca-Cola, for consider these facts:

Pure as Sunlight

And the proof of its purity is in the testing. Twenty-two scientific tests, covering every step in its preparation, safeguard this pure drink of natural flavors.
