immediately and the best players of the various organizations must be determined by the end of the week. Troop A, Troop C, and Company B have already annexed the title of their leagues and Company B Signal Corps and Troop D are tied for first place in the fourth league.

A stanting of the companies will be announced next week. Battery C was leading at the last check-up and more than likely will still be in the lead although several companies are pushing them.

RELAY MEN BACK FROM KANSAS

on the first turn. Authorities are still trying to learn if the girl either just didn't see that street car or was too busy looking at Dan who was in the front seat, but anyway she vainly attempted to park the car against a telephone pole. Coach Andy expertly sidestepped the in-offensive timber, but Dan's dear Gladstone bag was not so lucky and was completely smashed. A driving rain finished the job.

Then, as they say, came the climax. Beneath the stadium, our Daniel started to stretch to all of his magnificent slenderness, but, sad to relate, a concrete beam was in the way, and the unfortunate lad was handed a bump on the side of his head that closely resembled the rock that had come sailing through the train window.

It is rumored that once before O'Neill suffered a similar series of mishaps. When he was first coming to Aggieland to become a Fish, he stuck his head out of the window to give the nearby landscape the once over, but a passing freight car hit him hard enough to make him carry his head around in a sling for several months afterwards. And thus another chapter is added to the life of a good boy.

AGGIES HOT IN S. W. C. TRACK RACE

The Aggies were easily superior in the field, capturing five out of six possible first places. Watts of Rice won the high jump, but Tommie Mills, our best bet in the high and broad jumps, was in Austin twirling ball against the Longhorns. Floyd continued his work with the javelin; Stitler gave the Rice boys a lesson in pole vaulting; Farmer and Holsonbake placed one-two in the broad jump; Wee Willie Bartlett tossed the weighted apple a mere matter of 42 feet or so; and Farmer again distinguished himself by capturing a first in the discus, with Bartlett playing a man's second fiddle in this event.

A wave of water greeted contestants in the Kansas relays at Lawrence, Kansas, this past week-end.

of the opponents well scattered.

In the last half of the eighth inning, Lackey, who was the first man up, doubled to start the winning rally. The Capt's double was followed by Rechiberg's single, and Martin's double. Conover lammed one out to reach first; and a distinguished gentleman from Bellville, named Bell, clouted one out for three bases. Cody walked, stole second, was advanced, and came home on the pitcher's error.

The score ended: Ags. 9-Frogs 8.
