top, they should finish on top of the pile when the last whistle blows. Even if they do win these four games, the Farmers may be so battered that they will limp in behind another team but the fact that we have our greatest rivals on our own lot balances this somewhat. S. M. U. has to meet D. X. Bible's Cornhuskers and that is two assignments in itself.

The Athletic Department wishes to announce that tickets for the general public for the Texas and S. M. U. games will be placed on sale November 1 and until that date it will be useless to try to purchase them. However tickets are being mailed to the ex-students in good standing. By a new rule passed at the recent meeting each ex-student may purchase only two tickets in the ex-students section with an additional ticket for graduates of ten years, and two tickets for those that entered the college 15 years ago. At present 2000 tickets for the Texas game and 1600 for the S. M. U. game have been mailed out.

keep about 100 men in uniform. As these men show lack of Varsity ability other men will be given their uniforms and this process continued until all the men have had a chance to show their grid ability. Many real stars will be overlooked and many inferior men will have their positions, but with this large number of candidates it is impossible for any coach to do better. If these men that are disappointed really love the game and believe that they are of Varsity calibre, intramural football is still open to them to demonstrate their wares. And if they have anything that the Varsity can use, an invitation for spring training will be issued. It will be noted that Captain Tom Mills of the '29 Aggies came up from the intramural ranks.

Coach Roswell Higginbotham, who will begin his third year as freshman mentor, will be assisted by Coach Frank Anderson, track and cross-country, Coach "Red" Petty, former star Aggie wingman.

Work will begin about September 23 when it is expected that the fish will be through with the trials of registration and settled in their surroundings.

not find one in the fifteen offered then additional ones will be "put on the market."

Intramural sports come closest to the idea of athletic sports—the ideal of "sports for sports sake." Sometimes we all feel that too much emphasis upon the part of the student to take part for what they can get out of it, rather than for the fun and recreation that comes to them. A program that is designed to stimulate the interest of students with every degree of ability—whether he have gross lack of co-ordination or be very proficient—is a valuable program. And that is the aim of intramurals—"sports for all and all for sports."

The benefits derived from intramural sports are immeasurable. It is safe to say that wise participation in intramural sports has beneficial effect upon scholarship as well as physical development of the individual. This improvement comes directly from a healthful recreation which builds up one's energy rather than dissipates it. The intramural athletics have for their objectives, recreation, group spirit, social benefits, better health development of interest in sports, bodily prowess, and scholarship.

15 Sports Offered.

The department offers in her program a wide field of different sports and in the coming year it is the policy to make these sports more interesting and to try to get every student to participate in the pro-

Here's Winfield Killam, University of Texas, all set for a hop between classes. His extra hours for flying come from doing his school work quickly and easily via Parker Duofold.

Elliott Coleman, Louisiana State University, feels fortified against adverse flying conditions when in his Command-aire plane. Likewise, he feels fortified against the stiffest exams when he grasps his trusty Parker Duofold Pen.

Here are Bill Banker, Tulane's All-American "Blond Blizzard," and The Sewell, former captain of University of Texas' football team—all set for a hop in a Command-aire plane. When it comes to speedy writing, both are Parker Duofollows.

*To prove Parker Duofold is a pen of lifelong perfection, we offer to make good any defect, provided complete pen is sent by the owner direct to the factory with 10c for return postage and insurance.

Now numbers of colleges have their flying clubs and landing fields—but the thing that students like best to pilot through their studies is the light-flying Parker Duofold Pen that leaps to its work like a dart and writes with Pressureless Touch.

Pressureless Touch is Geo. S. Parker's 47th Improvement, combining capillary attraction with gravity feed.

A census of pens in 13 technical schools disclosed that Parker leads in popularity 2 to 1. It was voted the favorite by students in 55 colleges. And a nation-wide poll conducted by the Library Bureau proved Parker the preference by 25% above the second pen, and 48% above the third.

Non-breakable barrels of jewel-like, colorful Permalite, smartly black-tipped—28% lighter than rubber—holding 24% more ink than average, size for size.

Step to any good pen counter and select your point. Imitations can't deceive you if you look for the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD."
