SLANTS AT THE CROWD

There is a persistent rumor around the campus (the instigator of which no doubt knows his okra) that our senior yell leader has a very good and altogether sufficient reason for having the Aggies give this "Ladies" yell so consistently. For the past two weeks this has been a standard one at practically every yell practice and the boys seem to be getting a big thrill out of it. The odd part of it all is that Hop seems to be getting more kick out of it than anyone else. He makes it plain for everybody to "bear down" on that final part which goes "We Love You Ladies!" and we all "bear down." It's having a wonderful effect on the blonde headed boy from Bastrop though. He gets going strong on this one and those brown eyes sparkle when that latter portion of the yell is voiced by about two thousand of Texas' pride and joy.

The rumor is that one of Hop's girl friends is present at each and every yell practice and that she sits enthralled and enraptured while its all going on so that it is absolutely necessary that the "Ladies" yell go over in a large way. And it does, too—thanks to the lusty throated Aggie boys. Who is the lady, Hop? Don't keep us in the dark. Cherchez la femme.

The principal question before the House of Representatives at the present time is this: Are A. and M. cadets shieks? We'll all admit that it is a debatable subject. Perhaps they are and perhaps they are not. But you can't tell a book by its cover and its the ability to love that makes the lover. (Pardon the couplet; it was entirely unintentional).

Who was it that said, "You gotta know, you gotta know how to love." I think it was Milton—no, believe it was Dryden. Dryden sounds good; it must have been him. Anyway, the old fellow said a mouthful. But I'm straying from the subject or merely getting deeper into it—I can't determine which it is.

There are two kinds of men at this school of higher learning; those that DO and those that DON'T. Be broad-minded now and don't take exception to my statement. The two kinds that I'm speaking of under this particular classification are those that do enjoy the pleasure and companionship (every now and then) of the opposite sex around this vicinity and

No Sleep for Nick tonight

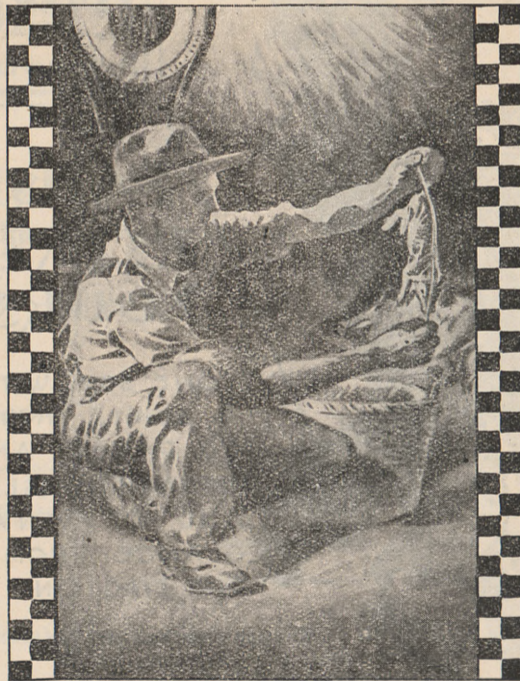

A SOW is pigging tonight on the Purina Farm. And Nick is right there—seeing to it that everything goes off all right just as you'd do.

But even after the pigs are here safe, Nick still has a big job ahead.

He'll weigh every one before it even sucks.

He'll measure them. He'll clip and mark their ears. And he'll write up a full report on the lot before morning.

For Purina Mills is experimenting with feeds for sows—so that you won't have to. The Purina Farm is an experiment farm—so that yours won't have to be. Every Purina Chow must go through several years test on stock at Purina Farm—so that you won't have to guess at your results.

For 34 years the private test has been Purina's way of protecting you.
