ARKANSAS TO OPEN STADIUM

RODEO-PAGEANT DAY BEFORE GAME

S. M. U. Mustangs Will be Rode.

The largest crowd to attend any rodeo and pageant is anticipated on Friday night November 8th. A great number of visitors for the game will have the opportunity of enjoying a splendid and grand entertainment. Cadets should take advantage of this chance to invite friends and special friends of the feminine personnel to come early for the game and enjoy the most exciting moment of a lifetime at the Wild Rodeo and Beautiful pageant.

The entertainment committee feels that the crowd will not be lacking nor will interest and thrills be lacking throughout the entire program. For those who enjoy a REAL HONEST TO FACT GOOD ENTERTAINMENT the management assures their receiving moneys worth and more.

The riders and bulldoggers have been selected and wild bronc and steers are being rounded up from over the country. "Houston" Smith the official ring master assures all that this is to be a "wild" rodeo and everything will be prearranged so that the events will go off with snap and precision. The Artillery and Cavalry wrestling contest will be hotly waged in front of a vast crowd of boosters. Wild milk cows will be brought from the bottoms for the contest in wild cow milking contest, who are urged to be prepared for swift manipulation.

A final program of events will be published later for the benefit of the interested public—but at present you can rest assured of a high class entertainment both in rodeo fashion and pageant style. Everyone near College seem interested in such an affair as it makes possible the sending of the International Livestock Judging Team from A. and M. to enter the national contest at Chicago. Cadets are urged to tell their friends about the rodeo and what it means to Aggieland.

Of course broncs will be ridden and ridden hard—but what the cadets will be interested in most is the final event of the night; that is the riding of the S. M. U. Mustang by an A.

Aggies Participate In Edison Contest

Evans Chosen to Represent Texas.

Most of us know in a general way something about the recent contest sponsored by Thomas A. Edison. ### FIRST CONFERENCE GAME PLAYED ON KYLE FIELD SAT.

New Stadium Nearing Completion.

After wandering around the country in Notre Dame style playing intersectional tilts and a conference game and undaunted by their reversal at the hands of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs in Fort Worth last week, Coach Bell and his Aggies are looking forward with renewed determination to their clash with the Arkansas Razorbacks on Kyle Field this Saturday. The game in a way will be a homecoming for the Aggies, as it is not only their first conference clash on their own lot, but it will be their first time on their own field since the opening game four weeks ago.

It is interesting to note that the 1927 Porkeer tilt was held just after

CHUCKLES FROM THE MILITARY.

The "Bull" warmed to his subject the other night and slipped the Battalion reporter the following pungent paragraph.

Manager Lipscomb of the Aggieland Pharmacy was the recipient of trade from one of the corps' few lady-like young men. The cadet was fussily insolent in the choosing of his articles but Mr. Lipscomb bore it good naturedly.

"And now," concluded the young man, "I want some insect powder. It must be very effacious, mind you, very effacious."

"Well now," said the druggist, "I'm afraid I can't sell you that."

"And pray, why not?" very indignantly.

"Well, you see," soothed Mr. Lipscomb, "there have been a great number of suicides lately ... says you, Col. Nelson, says you."
