

MUSTANGS INVADE KYLE FIELD

DROP KICKS.

The 1928 Championship Aggie Cross Country team will meet the Texas Hill and Dalers here Friday in the first dual meet of the season. Recently the Steers defeated the Owls at Austin on a muddy course. The Aggie team was picked last Saturday.

The Houston Ex-Students' Club has announced that is BIG banquet in honor of the Aggie grid team will be held December 14. This is one of the largest events of its kind; last year many exes were unable to secure tickets for the famous affair because only a limited number could be seated. This is one of the strongest alumni clubs in existence. Just before every game, a telegram is delivered to the Aggie team from this bunch of livewires.

And again the Steers failed to break the S. M. U. jinx. They have not beaten the Mustangs in six seasons now, and before that the Ponies were not much in the football world. The Aggies have lost only five games to the Frogs.

It still remains for some club to cross the Steer's goal line, but they slipped slightly in their drive for their second championship when S. M. U. repulsed them for the sixth time. T. C. U. still remains our favorite. The following is the conference standing:

Team	W	L	Pct.	Pts.
T. C. U.	1	0	1.000	169
Baylor	1	0	1.000	259
Texas	1½	0	.833	120
Arkansas	2	2	.500	133
S. M. U.	½	½	.500	94
A. & M.	0	2	.000	157
Rice	0	1	.000	28

AGGIE AND PONY TRIPLE THREAT MEN PROMISE TREAT.

"Beat the Aggies as bad as they beat us on Kyle Field" is the battle cry the high stepping proteges of Ray Morrison will be chanting when that formidable aggregation steps on Kyle Field next Saturday. Reports have floated down this way that the Aggies have been crying that they have been saving their strength for the Mustang game and now are wondering if the Farmers have any strength left at all. Last year, if the Mustang supporters remember correctly, the Aggies had no semblance of strength, yet outfought, outplayed, and ejected the Mustangs from the title race. Although the Aggies are definitely out this year a win over the Ponies would do much to retain the prestige as gridiron performers that has long been the heritage of the Aggies. The Mustangs enter the game with an enviable record behind them, including scoreless ties with the powerful Nebraska Cornhuskers and Texas University elevens and a 52-0 win over Ole, Miss, and with this record should enter the game favored to cop the game.

But then the Aggies are playing on KYLE FIELD and no team has decisively defeated them on their own lot. The Mustangs, in five attempts, have hung up a victory on Kyle Field only once, in 1923 when they came off with the long end of a 10-0 count.

A game full of spectacular plays and thrills, is promised the fans who journey to Aggieland for the clash. Special trains will bring Mustang supporters from Dallas and one special will be run out of Houston and early ticket sales indicate that over 15,000 people will see the game. Added interest is given the battle in that the stadium will be ready for use for the game. A seating capacity for 34,000 will be available. Another feature is the fact that the field cover will insure a dry field and thus a fast offensive game.

Mills and Mason promise to figure repeatedly and brilliantly in the performance. Both are outstanding among the backs and both are on the passing end of the aerial game which both teams will undoubtedly present. Each is a triple threat man, each is a contender for all-conference honor, and each is among the high scorers.

The Mustang supporters are pretty cocky over this game. One bright Dallas scribe predicts a score of 21-6 and says that the reason the score will not be any larger is because they wish to save their men for the Baylor game next week. Well maybe so—but anyway we are glad that they are going to let us score on them.

ALLEN BOWS TO FISH.

The Aggie Freshmen grid team continued their brilliant brand of football last week against the Allen Academy aggregation, smashing out an easy 13-0 decision on a wet and muddy field at Bryan. It was the second consecutive victory of the season for the Fish, their first victory being a win over the powerful Brownsville high school team.

An incessant drizzle which fell on the quagmire of mud, hampered the passing attack of the Fish. They resorted to straight football to eke out the win over Puny Wilson's proteges.

The first score of the game came when Breedlove, scrappy guard, broke through and blocked an Allen punt on their 25-yard stripe. Austin, Fish signal caller, scampered around end for twenty yards and the first touchdown of the game. He also converted for the extra point.

Scoring festivities were then put to a halt until the fourth quarter,

AGGIE HARRIERS MEET

TEXAS FRIDAY

The sandy hills of Aggieland will resound with the beating of footfalls of orange and white and of maroon and white warriors here Friday when the Texas Aggie and Texas University cross country teams meet in their annual encounter. The cadets will probably be the favorites to win.

Coach Anderson's harriers have been working hard since the beginning of school, and at last will have a chance to test their mettle against a team of known worth. Two weeks ago the Longhorns took a hard-fought race from the Rice Owls. The race was run over the hills surrounding the University campus.

Judging from past competitions, Perkins will be the Aggies' ace in the affair. Saturday he ran the 3.8 mile course in 19.49 minutes. Dick Winders, conference champion in the run last year, has still to reach his peak, and so far has had to contend

EIGHTEEN REPORT FOR INITIAL BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Eighteen candidates, three of them lettermen from last year, six of them numeral men of the 1928-29 freshman squad, and the remainder varsity and intramural players, reported to Coach John B. Reid, new Aggie cage coach from North Texas Teachers College, Friday for the initial practice of the season.

In addition to Captain Keeton, all-southwestern guard and one of the high scoring men of the conference, Johnny Konecny, veteran guard of the 1926-27 and '28-'29 teams, and "Shiro" Hoke, center and forward, were the other lettermen to report. Joe Brown, who holds down the center berth of the Aggie Cage team as well as that of the Varsity eleven, and Jerome Harris, star guard on the Farmer quintet and candidate for an end berth on Coach Bell's eleven, will not report until after the present football season has closed. The Aggies lost Petty, Caudle, Davis, and Webster by graduation. Lamb, guard, did not return to school.

Only six freshmen were awarded numerals on Coach Roswell Higginbotham's strong freshman club of last year, but all of them returned and all are very promising cagemen. The 1928-29 numeral men are Bob Harling, guard; Charles Beard, forward; George Carpenter, forward; Lester Veltman, guard; Fred Keith, forward; and Robert Hunter, guard. Broiles, numeral man of the 1927-28 freshman team and the most promising guard of that squad, has again enrolled and will try for a position on Coach Reid's first quintet.

Promising squadmen from last year's team are: E. K. Martin, for-
