

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

(Editor's note: Have you taken advantage of this opportunity to let Santa know of your wants and those of your friends? Better send them in this week, for it won't be long 'till Christmas. Address communications to Santa Claus Editor, The Battalion.)

Dere Santa:

Please bring me your latest developments in Patent-Leather Hair Oil and some of your best Moustache Wex.

Love,
Mike T. Halbouty.

P. S. I have been a good boy.

My Dear Saint Nicholas,
You will no doubt be surprised to hear from me, since you know that I get almost everything I want around the College, but Friend Nick, I would certainly appreciate it if you would bring me some means of preventing these horrible Cadets from listening to the awful music which Mr. Casey's radio brings daily.

Anything you can do for me will be highly appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,
Tommie Mayo.

Dear Sanny Clause:
I have a secret—at least, it use to be a secret but now all the boys

"razz" me about it—but I know, Santy, that you will see my side and won't think it strange for me to have this desire. In order to keep up with one in whose tracks I am trying to follow closely, I want you to bring me a guitar for Christmas. Please do this, Santy, and I won't want anything else.

Ralph Howe.

Dear Santi Claws:
I believe in looking ahead—far ahead—and in keeping with this belief, I want to ask you to bring me a baby carriage for Christmas.

Lovingly,
Clifford Brown.

SOTO-HALL UPSETS BELIEF

That the word "America" was derived from the ancient mountain of Amerique and the city of Americopan rather than from the explorer and geographer Amerigo Vespucci, is the belief of Dr. Maximo Soto-Hall, Gautemalan historian. Dr. Soto-Hall declares that the name "Americopan" given to a city near the fabulous El Dorado, meant in the Mayan language the principal city in America, the Mayan suffix "pan" meaning principal city.

THREE WEEK-ENDS

In order to allow members of the student body to be at home on three week-ends during the Christmas holidays, dates of the Yuletide vacation have been changed so as to extend from December 21 to January 6, it was announced following a meeting of the faculty last week.

According to the original plans students would have left school on Thursday and returned on Thursday two weeks later, but under the present plan, the holidays will start Saturday and school will be reopened on Monday, allowing a normal resumption of classes at the beginning of the week.

The champion Rambouillet wether at the recent international livestock exposition at Chicago was bred by the animal husbandry department of A. and M. according to professor A. K. Mackey, who accompanied the livestock judges to Chicago.

According to a letter written to the student body of New Jersey State College for Women by Miss Mildred Schroeder '31, who is studying in Berlin, when a German professor lectures overtime, his students create a racket by shuffling and stamping.
