FLASHES FROM EVERYWHERE

A series of analyses of six meteorites by two Cornell professors, Dr. Jacob Papish and Zaida M. Hanford, have resulted in the discovery of two chemicals heretofore regarded as practically non-existent elsewhere than on earth. The two chemicals are arsenic and germanium.

Professor F. F. Hintze, geologist of the University of Utah, has announced the discovery of a supply of helium gas in Southeastern Colorado, believed to be the richest in existence. William J. Hoffman, school prinicipal of Harriman, N. Y., has been asked to appear before state education authorities here to explain why his license should not be taken away from him because he refused to employ Miss Anna Mullholland, of Plattsburgh, as a teacher because she was a Catholic.

Wesleyan University here has opened a little theater, the gift of the class of 1892. The theater is in old Rich Hall, until recently the college library.

Northampton, Mass. — Professor Sidney Bradshaw Fay, of Harvard University, author of "The Origins of the World War," said in an address here recently that in his opinion the newspapers of the United States are the most informative of the world.

...on the track it's SPEED!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"A BIRD IN THE HAND is worth two in the bush." Good taste—what smoker would trade it away for any number of cigarette claims?

No Chesterfield smoker would. For its mild fragrance, its deeply satisfying character—in short, its taste—has always been the one thing smokers wanted:

"TASTE above everything"

MILD... and yet
THEY SATISFY
