top. If the person who got the long lost pennant will kindly return it to the athletic office, "no questions asked," it will be deeply appreciated by Mr. Sully.

Well, they finally did it—the Owls certainly did upset all dope buckets when they trimmed the Longhorns for their first conference victory since 1927. As a result—the Owls enjoyed a holiday Monday—not such a bad idea at that.

It was just another case of a determined team fighting a team that had their minds upon another game—namely, the S M U game—whom they haven't beaten since 1920.

Friday will bring a clash between the freshmen and Allen Academy on Kyle Field at 3:30. The freshmen have a strong team this year and the game will be well worth seeing.

George Lord, product of San Antonio high schools, continued his brilliant work at guard Saturday, thereby placing his name in line for an all conference berth at that position. Lord was down the field on virtually every punt—slashing, driving, and most of the time tackling the receivers the instant they caught the ball.

McFadden upheld his reputation as one of the South's outstanding kickers Saturday. His average for ten kicks was better than 45 yards. He also turned in a nice game at end.

This little Bernard Uptmoor of Arkansas is not soon to be forgotten after the game he turned in last Saturday. He ran, passed, and kicked the ball, and may it be said that his kicks were averaging right up with our own Mac's.

The coming clash with the Gents will be a heated battle. Last week, the Gents used "Baylor shall not pass," as a slogan—and sure enough—they didn't. This week—their slogan is "Show us that Aggie goal line." Fellows, it's up to you!

It is easy riding when all is well—but the real test comes when all looks blackest. Now is the time to show that real Aggie spirit. The team needs it—and you need it. A team is helped a lot by individual contact—when you see a player—slap him on the back and say you're with him.

University of Kansas, bad boy of the Big Six, has been ousted from the conference because one, Jim Bausch, star halfback and candidate for all-American honors, receives $75 a month from an insurance company as advance commissions on premiums he will sell later. Well, $75 is pretty small for any one as good as that.

The Gents are coming down here with the intentions of continuing their undefeated season over conference teams—get that determination way down deep—and we will celebrate a victory Saturday night.

indicate that a special train bearing between six and seven hundred Centenary students and Shreveport fans will make the trip here with the Gents, and one of the largest crowds of the year is expected to witness the game.

As has happened in nearly all of this season's games, the A & M team will enter the field the underdogs, fighting on Kyle Field for the honor of Aggieland, and fighting to break into the win column.

Aggies Drop—

a 45-yard run by Holmes had placed the ball on the Aggie 10-yard line. Holmes and Ledbetter executed a series of line plunges to carry the ball across.

The Aggies best opportunity to score came in the third after McFadden had punted to Arkansas' 12 yard line where they fumbled and A & M recovered. Two passes received by McFadden placed the ball on the five yard line. Dansby then passed over the goal line, Arkansas getting the ball. Again in the last quarter a chance to score was broken up when Dale intercepted an Aggie pass after the ball had been advanced to the Hog's 30 yard line by a series of passes.

George Lord, guard, was easily the outstanding Aggie player, turning in his best game of the season with his sensational offensive and defensive, usual hard playing.

Freshmen, Allen—

team mate of Domingue; W. O. Watson, who was virtually unanimous choice for all-state end last year despite his playing with Gilmer high school, a Class B team; Ted Spencer, fullback from Gilmer, who had six years of high school and academy experience before coming to A & M; Joe Golasinski, brother of August Golasinski, guard on the A & M varsity squad, and all-city guard at Houston last year; and Milton Von Minden, 192-pound tackle from La Grange high school.

Line up announced by Coach Higginbotham for the Allen game follows: ends, Murray and Roberts or Watson and Robertson; tackles, Nolan and Von Minden or Frazier and Benson; guards, Haynes or Ingram and Golasinski; centers, Rudder or Reicherdt; quarters, Brown or Domingue; left halves, Barford or Warnock; right halves, Williams or Schulz; fullback, Spencer, Bumpas or Moore.

Aggies Start—

Cleburne; Oran Dawson, Crockett, Aggie tackle; and Harry Stiteler, track man from Smithville. All these football members of Coach Bell's grid team will not be able to join the cage candidates until after the close of the football season Thanksgiving.

Coach John Reid is beginning his second season at A & M, after coming here from the North Texas State Teachers College at Denton. In his four years there, his teams were among the strongest in the T I A A League, including a conference championship in 1925-26. In his first year at A & M, Coach Reid turned out a team that did very well in the conference, and was a credit to his first year with the Aggies.

Coach Reid wishes to announce that if there are any boys in school who feel that they could make the varsity, and have not reported to him, now is the time to do so. There is open competition for places on the squad, and there is room for several more members on the squad.

Provisions for the founding of a college were left in a will of the late Mayor Anthony M. Ruffu jr., of Atlantic City, who was killed in an automobile accident. The mayor had hoped to establish the college in his life time.
