

Want a drink?

No, thanks. I just paid two dollars for my dinner.

—Green Goat.

There are certain streets in Manhattan where it is unsafe for a woman to walk unescorted. Only just yesterday a woman had her face lifted on 44th street.

—Sniper.

Pete—I'm going to Willoughbrook Sanitarium tomorrow.

Repeat—Are you going for a week-end?

Pete—No; lung trouble.

—Buccaneer.

"I don't mind washing the dishes for you," wailed the hen-pecked husband. "I don't object to sweeping, dusting, or mopping the floors, but I ain't gonna run no ribbons through my night-gowns just to fool the baby.

—Whirlwind.

The month's best music hit—"I don't mind your looking up my family tree, but let my limbs alone."

—Owl.

Soph—When you sleep your noble brow reminds me of a story.

Frosh—What story, Sleeping Beauty?

Soph—No, Sleepy Hollow.

—Longhorn.

Bob—Cheer up Bill, it's time to kiss the bride.

Bill—You're wrong—it's time for me to quit.

—Bison.

I walked a mile and a half for that Camel—I thought the guy would never throw it away.

—Pelican.

Host (appearing on darkened veranda)—Are you young folks all enjoying yourselves?

(Absolute silence.)

Host (returning indoors)—That's fine.

—Life.

A fool and his money are some party.

—Log.
