

Texas Wins Last Game From A & M

Bringing the 1931 basketball season to a close, the re-inspired University of Texas Longhorns rallied in the closing seconds of play to win from the Texas A & M cagers by a 29-28 score in Austin Saturday night.

This game brought to a close the career of two members of the Aggie basketball team, Captain Shiro Hoke, center and Beau Bell, forward.

The Aggies took the lead in the early part of the game and held it until the final minutes of the game. The first three quarters of the game were dull and uninteresting to the spectators, but with only a few minutes to go, Price, Texas forward, sank a shot to put the Steers in the lead by a 26-25 score. Charlie Beard looped a basket to return the Aggies lead.

With just a few seconds to go, Taylor, a Texas guard, sank an easy shot that won the game. Moody was the outstanding player of the A & M team in both floor play and high scoring. He was high point man of the game with 14 points; Taylor of Texas was next with 8 points.

This was the final game for both quintets.

minutes of the half to go. The Mustangs were never again in the lead, and the half ended 17-15.

T C U came back in the second half to jump into a lead that practically settled the game. With seven minutes of the half left, they had a 31-24 lead over the Ponies. Skeeters, S M U guard, left the game at this point on fouls.

The Mustangs opened up a series of long shots, but few of them went through for points. With but four minutes to go the Frogs began a stalling game in which they merely passed the ball around. The Ponies were unable to break through this and the game ended 37-28.

Reynolds of T C U and Roberson of the Mustangs tied for high point honors with 11 each.

believe that Hoke is the best man of the two even though Dietzel led the conference in scoring. Hoke is the better player of the two. Dietzel is extremely lucky at hitting the basket from almost any position, but in playing their respective positions, Hoke holds the advantage. Hoke is a hard man to guard, an excellent jumper, a good man for scoring and defensive work.
