earning a second in the fancy diving. The medley relay race in which A & M bowed to Houston and accepted a second place concluded the meet.

The seven men to receive letters for the closing season are Dan Humason, Houston; Robert L. Suggs San Antonio; S. H. Garrison Fort Worth; T. J. Evans, Houston; Ed J. Moeller, Larchmont, New York; R. C. Jorgensen, San Antonio; and J. D. Howder, Fort Crockett.

Although the team can boast of no record such as those set by teams of former years, which never met defeat, a review of the season shows that the team has won fifty per cent of the meets this year.

College Commencement

Is just around the corner. The old uniform must be laid aside for the Summer. We have just the suit—hat and shoes that will make the Vacation just what it ought to be.

Out of loss . . . a gain

When the great war placed an embargo on imports from the Central Powers, American industry found itself deprived of many necessary products. Among them the standard asbestos sheet packing then in general use.

A substitute had to be found. Accordingly Crane Co. procured every sheet packing that could be obtained. Using the old one as a basis of comparison, not one was found which could equal its tensile strength, compressive strength, or heat resistance.

So the best American sheet was chosen and its manufacturer called in. Experiment after experiment was made until a sheet was produced that not only equalled but surpassed the imported product. It was named Cranite.

The story of Cranite is typical. For 76 years Crane Co. has striven unceasingly to produce and sell only materials of the highest quality. When progress calls for entirely new materials, our engineers are never satisfied until they have made that product or that substitute surpassingly fine. When in practicing the branch of engineering you are now studying, some piping problem arises, bring it to Crane Co. You will find just such co-operation.
