Board Of Directors To Meet This Week

Action To Be Taken On New Buildings

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the college will be May 29 at which time they will act on the securing of the loan of $2,000,000 for the erecting of buildings, and making needed improvements on the campus. Following the passing of a bill by the legislature which allowed the Board to borrow this amount, the building committee was instructed to investigate the conditions on the campus, and to make its report at the approaching meeting. The results of the committee's investigations could not be learned, but it is understood that the first improvement to be made will be to completely finish the Chemistry building. Due to the amount of work to be done by the board it is doubtful as to the exact decision that will be made at this time.

The following are the members of the Board: F. M. Law, Houston, president; Byd E. White, Lancaster, secretary; E. J. Kiest, Dallas; P. L. Downs, Jr., Temple; G. R. White, Brady; Walter G. Lacy, Waco; H. C. Schuhmacher, Houston; W. T. Montgomery, San Antonio, and Joseph Kopecky, Hallettsville.

By Philip John

Wednesday, Assembly Hall — "Strangers May Kiss."

Thursday, Assembly Hall—"Cimarron."

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Palace—"City Streets."

Friday, Assembly Hall—"A Connecticut Yankee."

Saturday preview, Palace—"Up Pops the Devil."

Rating: 1 fair, 2 good, 3 excellent.

One of Norma Shearer's best pictures, is "Strangers May Kiss." It is only surpassed by the "Divorcee," the story for which was written by the same author, Ursula Parrott. The cast is excellent with Robert Montgomery, Neil Hamilton, Marjorie Rambeau, and Irene Rich.—3.

"Cimarron" is beyond a doubt, one of the year's best pictures. Richard Dix has made a name for himself in this unusual picture of the Oklahoma frontier. The picture is from the novel by Edna Ferber, and has an unforgettable plot.—3.

Gary Cooper is teamed with a new novel of the underworld and the racketeers. It is one of the best of the gang pictures of late. Sylvia Sydney is the leading lady in the picture, which is the newest of Cooper's roles.—3.

It looks as though all of the week's pictures are going to be excellent, for

Ocean Scene Visioned In Dance Decorations

Excellent Music And Entertainment Feature Last Dances

Accompanied by the throbbing and syncopating rhythm of ultra-modern music, the youth of the campus and their sweethearts will dance, some of them for the last time, in an atmosphere of deep sea fish and beautiful mermaids to close the social calendar of the term with the Final Ball Friday night. Though the setting of a huge painting exalting the deeps of a sea, which is portrayed in a subtle green, harmonizing variations of subterranean plant life develops a creative environment that with the aid of dimmed green lights will stir the hearts of the most demure of the fairer sex.

Committees in charge of the arrangements this year feel confident that the Junior Prom and the Final Ball will be one of the best in several years, and have made every effort to satisfy to provide a complete program for everyone. The decorations under the direction of J. L. Keith handle an unusual subject in a very clever manner, and with the delightful music furnished by Hogan Hancock, and his orchestra from the Gunter Hotel at San Antonio it is evident that the evenings for these dances will pass very enjoyably. The orchestra has also been engaged to play during the Junior Banquet, Thursday evening.

now we have Will Roger's latest picture, "A Connecticut Yankee." The picture is unusually funny, with favorable additions to the novel by Twain, and pleasing, droll, and natural humor from Rogers.—3.

A great human comedy is "Up Pops The Devil," with Skeets Gallagher, Stuart Erwin, Carole Lombard, and Lilyan Tashman, in roles that are very suitable. Another Stephen Fecthit, in the person of Sleep N. Eat, the nigger who doan want no gals chasin after him. The comedy is very pleasing.—3.

Unemployment Situation

This unemployment situation about which so much has been said and so little done will materially effect this year's graduates. Few men, regardless of their scholastic attainments, will be able to secure the jobs for which they have been preparing themselves, and the majority will be forced to take any employment offered them. It is to be deplored that existing conditions are such that the college graduate is in no better position than are those who have not been so fortunate in receiving an education. We can only hope that the crisis has been reached and that the nation is now on the road to prosperity. It is impossible that conditions remain stationary, they must either progress or decline. Those who are fortunate enough to secure jobs will certainly have to do their utmost to hold them, this in itself should aid in our financial recovery.

Surely we should not be too pessimistic about the senior's prospects in the business world after his graduation from college. There are many ways in which he may profitably spend his time until he can secure a position. Perhaps the best and most desirable way would be to travel. It is more or less an adventure when one "ships out" on a freighter or works his way on a passenger boat. After seeing the sights of the world he is ready to settle down to earning a living. With a broader vision of the world surrounding him, and the added experience of contact with people, he certainly has done himself no harm.
