

AGGIES SET FOR IOWA GAME

STUDENT LOANS TOTAL $20,000 DURING SEASON

Payment Of Notes Are Reduced Because Of Few Jobs

Two hundred loans to the total amount of twenty-two thousand dollars were made to students this year by the Association of Former Students. Because of the difficulty in securing employment during the summer months, a number of students were unable to meet payments on their last year's notes. On account of non-payment of notes the amount of money available for loans was thirty per cent less than last year. Despite the slackness in payments, the Association was particularly well pleased with the splendid response given by students to correspondence relative to notes.

Figures as to the amount of and number of loans made by the college this year are as yet unavailable but are being compiled this week by the Fiscal Department.

Campus Theater Club Presents Jitney Players

The Murder In The Red Barn, a comedy melodrama, which is to be performed by The Jitney Players, brought here through the auspices of The Campus Theatre Club, will furnish a highly diversified form of entertainment, something not seen here for many years.

It is just a hundred years since Maria Marten was made immortal in a barn. William Corder, the son of a squire, actually did murder Maria on May 18th, 1827, in just such a manner as the play relates and the pamphlet describing the trial sold over a million copies. John Latimer, some years later seized upon the situation for a play and his son, who ran a portable theatre, carried Maria and her tragedy all over England. The Jitneys are giving this play its first American production—appropriately enough. The action of the play is swift with lively dialogue and many screamingly funny scenes. There is a leering Villian and a pure young Heroine and they leer and swoon as a replica of little Eve crossing the ice in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Rhodes Scholarships Must Be Filed Soon

Students considering applying for a Rhodes Scholarship are notified that applications must be made to the state secretary before October 17, T. F. Mayo declared Wednesday. "As it requires some time to prepare an application, immediate action should be taken," he said. "Those who win the award this fall will enter Oxford in October, 1932."

The Rhodes Scholarship gives its holder three years at the University of Oxford, with an allowance of four hundred pounds (about $2,000) a year. Students may follow any line of study offered by the University, including Philosophy, Literature, the Social Sciences, the Natural Sciences, Engineering,

Felts Plunges Over for Only Touchdown of Game

Nollie Felts, Tulane fullback, is shown above plunging over the Aggie counting stripe to ring up the lone touchdown which cost the Aggies a tough gridiron battle in the Tulane stadium, Saturday afternoon. Captain Carl Moulden No. 44; Paul McFadden No. 25; and "Goat" Hewitt No. 11; are also shown clearly.

To the left is Lodrigues, Tulane lineman in the act of tackling Domingue, while Jerry Dairympie, Tulane's All-American end is waiting in case Lodrigues fails to stop the "Flying Frenchman."

Hawkeye Team Expected To Feature Power Play

Although defeated 7-0 by the Tulane Green Wave Saturday afternoon, Coach Matty Bell's "Fit 'n' Fightin' Aggies" will likely be favored to send the University of Iowa's corn-fed Hawkeyes home on the short end of the score when the two teams mix it at the state fair stadium on the coming week end. While the Aggies lost a close contest in which they outplayed their opponents, the Hawkeyes took a 20-0 drubbing from the University of Pittsburgh eleven.

FAMOUS ARMY BAND TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Musical Organization Has Been Head By Millions

The U. S. Army band which is appearing here on the nineteenth of this month holds records that are very unusual for an organization of its kind, reports which have been received here indicate. Not only does it's duty demand that it officiate at diplomatic functions at the White House, but it also has to be present at all Army occasions at the Capitol.

In its history the U. S. Army Band has broadcast farther and to more millions than any other musical military organization. It was the first band to broadcast from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the occasion being the radio hook-up broadcasting ceremonies attending the decoration of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh by President Coolidge, at Washington, D. C.

The Band headed by the funeral procession for the late President Harding, the Defense Day parades, the Collidge and Hoover Inaugurals, the funeral procession of the late Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, the reception for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh upon his triumphal return from Paris, the German fliers—first West to East conquerors of the Ocean-air route in a heavier-than-air non-stop plane—reception for Capt. Carranza, the ill-fated Mexican "Lindbergh," World Series entertainments and many other official and semi-official occasions, including the reception for the King and Queen of Siam, this year.

During the summer months the U. S. Army Band gives open air concerts several times a week in Washington. The East steps of the United States Capitol form the setting for at least one of the concerts each week, while the Sylvan Theatre, formed by a graceful

The Aggies lost no time in resuming their work to develop a powerful running attack to combine with an aerial offense second to none for use against the line ramming Hawkeyes, who adhere closely to the style of play used extensively in the Big Ten conference. And the Aggies, for the second time in as many week-ends will face a foe which boasts of both a heavier line and backfield than their own. However, the advantage in weight of the Iowa team will not be as much as that of the Tulane Green Wave.

Coach Bell's battlers succeeded in holding in check, and outplaying a line which outweighed them approximately 18 pounds to the man. Since the difference in weights of the Iowa forward wall as compared to that of the Aggies is only about four pounds per man, the experienced Aggie veterans should find little trouble in overcoming the apparent Hawkeye advantage. The Aggie starting backfield, which will probably be composed of Madden, Aston, Hewitt, and Graves will also be a trifle lighter than that of the Iowans by some four pounds difference also.

In the list of starting backs for the Hawkeyes are three proven line plungers in captain Oliver Sansen, Randahl Hickman, and Jerome Kris. Sansen plays at the fullback position while Hickman and Kris are halfbacks. With Sansen and Kris running interference, for which they are apparently famous in the Big Ten conference, Hickman alone crashed through the mighty Nebraska forward wall for 162 yards last season.

Of the eleven positions in the line-up, only five have been virtually cinched on the entire Iowa team. Other than Sansen, Hickman and Kris the regulars are James Dee, tackle and Edward Dolly at guard. Both of these men are veterans of previous campaigns and proven ability. However, there is a possibility that Dolly may be shifted to the pivot position, in which he played in part of the 1930 campaign, to replace Marcus Magnusson, capable veteran Iowa center who will likely be out for several weeks because of an injury received in a recent scrimmage. But the Hawkeyes are not lacking of material to fill the center with Lyman Case, 190 pound senior left

Officers Are Named By Debating Society

A. C. Moser, Dallas, president of Forensic Society, presided over first meeting, last week, at which were elected, G. E. Schunior, vice-president; J. F. Hilliard, secretary, and J. E. Gaston, publicity director.

Meetings of the society are on alternate Wednesday nights in the Asbury room, at 7 p. m. Everyone interested in forensic work, see C. O. Spriggs.

Dairy Judging Quartet Off To National Meet

The Kream and Kow Klub met Monday night, October 5, for the purpose of sending the National Dairy Judging Team to St. Louis. The team, composed of W. B. Morris, Winnsboro; W. E. Wupperman, Austin; C. A. Taylor, Dublin; and L. M. Hovey, La Porte, left Tuesday morning, and will stop at Dallas where they will practice judging before entraining to St. Louis where they are due Monday morning, October 12.

Several interesting talks were made by Messrs. Milhollin, Buchanan, Renner, Shephardson, Darnell, Staples, and Professor Reid, all of the dairy husbandry department. Mr. Staples is head of the dairy husbandry department at Louisiana State University, and is taking a master's degree here. Short addresses were also given by members of the team. After the program, twenty men were initiated into the club, nearly all the new members being freshmen. Ice cream, chocolate milk, and milk were served after the meeting.

SADDLE, SIRLOIN CLUB RODEO TO BE HELD NOV. 6

Entertainment Will Be Benefit For Stock Judging Team

At the first meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin Club, tentative plans were made for the thirteenth annual rodeo which is to be given Friday, November 6, the night before the S. M. U. game. This rodeo is given for the benefit of the livestock Judging Team which will leave on an extended tour in the latter part of next month.

Earl H. Hudgins, Hungerford, was chosen to the post of ringmaster; Joe Richard, New Willard, business manager; A. P. Goforth, Tolar, assistant business manager; H. A. Fitzhugh, Tolar, publicity agent; Marshall Shaw, Ennis, pageant manager; C. R. Habb, Llano, chairman of decorations; and John Winslow, King of the Pageant. His queen will be selected later.

Many new novelties will be the feature of this year's rodeo. A pack-

Technoscope Plans To Send Delegate To E. C. M. A. Meet

At a meeting of the advisory board of the Technoscope, Monday night, it was decided to make an attempt to send a student representative to a meeting of the Engineering College's Magazine Association, at Penn State, October 14.

Admission to the association is very restricted, and will be advantageous to the publication, if it succeeds in becoming a member.

It was also decided at the meeting, to invite the Petroleum Engineering department to the advisory board.

Plans were made for the first issue of The Technoscope, in which many interesting changes will be made.

GIRLS MUST TAKE CHAPERON TO DENTIST

(Intercollegiate Press)

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Announcement made by the deans of women of the University of Missouri and two girls' schools here, assert that co-eds may not talk to men for more than three minutes at a time on the street, nor go to the dentist's without a chaperon.

Cold Water Treatment Revives 'Slain' Soph

James L. Zeller, sophomore Ch. E., and member of Troop D, Cavalry, believed that freshmen must be awed into fitting respect for upperclassmen. Mere obedience was not enough, nor was janitorial and messenger service efficient—nothing short of absolute respect would do, James averred. To accomplish this worthy educational endeavor he was willing, even anxious, to sacrifice his life—a true martyr.

Plans completed, a group of freshmen approaching, Zeller staggered and dropped into a pool of dark, warm "blood" obtained from the gory mouth of a paint can, while the murderer executed a thrilling dash for freedom. The freshmen did not pursue but stepped disdainfully over the prostrate body and, apparently, repaired to their respective rooms.

James L., staunch advocate of freshman erudition, not to be outdone but slightly puzzled over this breach of Aggie brotherhood, remained dead—not for an extended period, however. A deluge of cold, wet water poured from a second story window soaking his rapidly stiffening body and military accoutrements sent life pulsing thru his nerves and arteries. His life had been returned, but at the price of humiliating defeat.
