Tumblers Begin Daily Workouts Early Next Week

The acrobatic artists that represent A and M in the sport of tumbling started official workouts on Monday, October 5, to open a long and strenuous program that covers the greater part of this school year.

The Tumbling Team, headed by Captain and Coach V. D. Want of San Antonio, Texas, who has lettered the last two years on the team, has six letter men back to form the nucleus of this year's team which will be made up of twelve members. The letter men back from last year are: Lorenzo Manzanaera, two letters, San Antonio, Texas; J. H. Caddess, one letter, Winona, Miss.; J. G. Burton, one letter, Cleburne, Texas; R. E. Porter, one letter, San Antonio, Texas.

Coach Want announced that he has sent challenges to several of the Southwest Conference Colleges and other neighboring schools. This is being done in the hope that sufficient interest may be aroused in the Southwest Conference College sports of the Conference.

The Tumblers are working full speed ahead for their most important exhibition of this fall which will be the act they are scheduled to put on between halves of the Thanksgiving game between A. & M. and Texas University.

Invitations have been received by the Tumbling Team from Baylor College for Women in Belton, Tex., for an appearance to be made there this year at some future date, which as yet has not been set. Rice Institute has also asked the Team to give a performance between the halves of the A. & M. and Rice game to be played in Houston on November 14. Last spring the Tumbling Team made a very successful appearance at the Groveton County Fair.

All students that are interested in trying out for positions on this year's team, are requested to see Coach Want any afternoon this week between five and six-thirty, in the gymnastic room of the Memorial Gym. The team will be given a late table in the Mess Hall the latter part of this week.

New Tennis Courts Under Construction

Net men of A. & M. will be interested to know that work on the three new tennis courts are nearing completion, and plans call for a number of others constructed in the near future. D. W. Carlton, business manager of athletics, has announced. The new courts which are being completed are located north of Kyle Field, just across the campus roadway to the north of the auxiliary gymnasium.

The three new courts are to be of red clay, which will replace the three concrete courts which were destroyed to make room for the construction of the main unit of the new chemistry building.

The new courts to be built later on will be distributed over the campus. Some of them will be reserved for members of the college faculty. The three new courts now being worked on are to be completed by the middle of October.

Introducing Iowa University Grid Stars

OLIVER SANSEN

In the Texas A. & M.-Iowa U. grid contest today fans will have an opportunity to judge whether or not the claim that "marriage ruins athletes" is true.

Above, however, is pictured the Iowa captain, Oliver Sansen. On the football field he bosses the team but off the grid field Mrs. Oliver Sansen is co-captain. He is playing his fourth year at Iowa and his jersey number is 44.

RANDAHL F. HICKMAN

Last year when the going was tough Randahl F. Hickman simply bowed his powerful neck, geared up his speed and turned out to be the leading ground gainer of the season on the University of Iowa grid team. And in today's game the Texas Aggies must stop this 175-pound power machine if they win their second inter-sectional football game of the season.

NELSON TOMPKINS

If the Iowa running plays work today, it probably will be due in part to the fine blocking of Nelson Tompkins, one of the best guards ever to play on a Hawkeye team. Tompkins weighs 186 pounds, is fast and a deadly tackler. He has had two years' experience and is expected to be one of the leading linemen at Iowa during his third year.

JAMES C. GRAHAM

Coach Ingwersen, before game time, was expected to send James C. Graham, 170-pound speedster, on the field as general of the starting Hawkeye team against the Aggies. Graham has had one year's experience and in addition to being an excellent signal caller he is rated as a fine ball carrier.

Sport Sidelights

By W. J. Faulk

Defeated—but never beaten—is the great Maroon and White team which fought so valiantly in a driving rain, and in a sea of mud against a heavier Tulane team, which was doped to win by two touchdowns and which only by a "break" and plenty of luck barely emerged with a lone touchdown victory.

But the season is not over yet; in fact it has only begun and the eyes of the Southwest critics will no doubt be turned in the direction of A & M within the near future to learn what it is that Coach Matty Bell has developed that can completely outplay a great Tulane team in the Greenie's own back yard.

And the Aggie offensive may prove second to none in the Southwest conference with Frency Domingue, the scintillating sophomore, and Jimmie Aston, the line-plunging boy from Farmersville, both disposing of their jobs in grand style.

The mighty forward wall continue to improve "with use," and exhibits more power with each succeeding game, which is of course essentially necessary for any back to be successful.

The T C U Horned Frogs received a big surprise when they mixed it with the Tulsa University boys, up in the Indian country Saturday afternoon, and found the Oklahoma boys primed with a bang up passing attack that completely shattered the Frogs defense and allowed the Tulsa lads to hang up a 13-0 win.

It seems to have been Oklahoma day in Norman also, where the Sooners found little trouble in scattering Owl feathers all over the gridiron to score an easy 19-6 triumph.

But Missouri, last year's Big Ten champions, found the going not so easy when they locked horns with Coach Clyde Littlefield's powerful Longhorn machine and Texas turned the battle into a field day, or maybe a track meet, the final tally being 31-0 in favor of the Steers.

The Ponies were content to leisurely romp to a 27-10 decision over the Simmons Cowboys, without displaying anything for the benefit of scouts. Coach Morrison is apparently using more power plays this year than has been his policy in the past, as shown by the game Saturday.

Baylor was forced to take to the air to defeat the Saint Edwards University eleven, and showed very little power, as compared to other Southwest conference teams.

An even worse setback was received by the Iowa boys, our enemies for the coming week-end at the state fair in Dallas, from the strong Pittsburgh University team Saturday. However, little can be derived from such a battle since the relative strength of both teams, as compared to Southwest conference teams, is unknown.

The location of the game favors the Aggies, however. This will be the first meeting of the two schools in history, and Iowa's first trip to the south to meet a Southwest conference foe.

Should a dry field await the Aggie-Iowa tilt in Dallas Saturday, critics will have a chance to see just how well the deceptive passing attack and powerful running attack, of Coach Matty's boys, will turn out. The power plays functioned even on a wet, soggy field against the Tulane boys. It will doubtless be interesting to watch the improvement on a dry turf.

Basketball Starts Intramural Program Monday Afternoon

Basketball is the first sport billed by the Intramural Department's long program of sports this year. The first games scheduled are to be played on Monday, October 12. Up until November the 1st, games will be played in both the Memorial Gymnasium and the auxiliary gym.

Two basketball leagues will be formed by the Intramural Department to enable more students to participate in this sport. Eight sterling silver Intramural Medals will be awarded to the winners of the class A-league, and the same number of bronze medals will be given to the winners of the B-league.

Strict adherence to the official Southwest Conference basketball rules is the plan to be used by the department in all contests. Throughout the season all the games will start at four o'clock, and will consist of two 12½ minute halves with five minutes intermission between halves. In the semi-final and final games, 15 minute halves will be played.

Four men must be present, for any team to play, at the time of the game, and officials for the games will be furnished by the participating organizations.

In the past three seasons play statistics show a gain of nineteen contests in class A competition for the 1930-31 season over the 1928-29 season. Only Class A teams competed in 1928-29. 1929-30 records show that in the first year that class B competition was inaugurated sixteen teams were entered and 24 contests were played. The following year twenty-one of the twenty-five campus organizations were represented in both classes and a gain of twenty-one contests was shown over the previous years play, in the second class.

Although the school enrollment was some 400 short of the 1929-30 total, last year, this sport held its own in the number taking part for the entire season's play.

The remarkable gain in participation in class B competition is contributed mainly to the fact that last year a new policy, that of giving medals to members of championship class B teams in basketball as well as those composing the class A teams, was begun.

Cornhuskers Ready For Fighting Aggies

IOWA CITY, Oct. 8.—The unusual privilege—but a doubtful one—of playing two intersection games in succession goes to the University of Iowa football team. For the Hawkeyes, after playing Pittsburgh of the east October 3, must move to Dallas, Texas, for a game Saturday with Texas A. & M. of the southwest. It will be the first invasion of Texas by a Hawkeye football squad.

Relying upon a veteran trio of backs with tremendous power as runners and plungers to offset the line's tendency to shakiness, the Iowans also are prepared to foil the anticipated passing attack of the Texas.

Cripples May Recover
Improving physical conditions of some of the players is expected to help the Hawkeye situation. Possibly Harold Swaney, star sophomore, will be in shape to strengthen a weak end post, and a crack tackle, Leo Samuelson, is likely to become a regular. Francis Merten, another end who was a regular before being hurt, may be of aid.

Every method to strengthen the line will be employed this week by the Old Gold coaches. The Iowa forwards will be opposed by an Aggie line of six veterans, four of whom are seniors, with Captain Moulden, tackle; Christian, guard; and McFadden, end, as the standouts.

Fear Aggie Veterans
The Iowans also are preparing to combat a versatile attack, with two veteran halfbacks, Davis and

Aggies Lose Hard Fought Battle When Offense Fails To Function Near Goal

Truly a bitter dose was administered Coach Matty Bell's scrapping, but unfortunate Aggies, Saturday afternoon, when they were forced to accept the short end of a 7-0 decision, from the Tulane Green Wave, in what was probably one of the most bitterly contested grid-iron affairs held in the Tulane stadium in recent years.

Greeted by a constant drizzle, which frequently turned into a downpour, both teams played conservative ball from the very beginning. And it was not until the Hewitt, as the main perpetrators. Eight regulars of the 1930 team are available on the Aggie squad, the only absentees being an end, quarterback, and fullback.

Numbering more than 30 persons, the Hawkeye football party will leave Iowa City at midnight, Wednesday. The squad will work out at Kansas City Thursday afternoon, and will arrive in Dallas the following morning.

Gents And Bears To Tangle

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 5.—When the Centenary Gentlemen tangle with the Baylor Bears at the Fair Grounds Stadium in Shreveport next Saturday, it will make the fifth time since 1927 that the two foes have met.

The first time the two schools met was in 1927 when the Gents, led by the brilliant playing of Hanna, Allday and Binion, won by a score of 9-6. The next year, the Bears, thirsting for revenge, jumped upon the Gentlemen to score an easy victory. Then in 1929 the Gents came back, under dogs but managed by some very sensational playing, to eke out at 27 to 12 win over Jake Wilson & Company. Last year the Bruins with revenge in their hearts came close to winning the struggle but the Gents, backed to their goal line, stood like a stone wall and won 7-2.

Most of the boys who played with Baylor in those games have passed on. Wilson, Koch, Paradeux and fourteen other lettermen will be seen no more, strutting on the gridiron, under the Baylor colors. For the Gentlemen the loss of six regulars will leave quite a vacancy to be filled. Brown and Younger will especially be missed.

Although the loss of 17 lettermen will greatly impair the Bruins Coach Morley Jennings always puts a good team on the field and this year promises to be no exception. Alford looms as one of the best backs in the Southwest Conference this fall and coupled with the "good old Baylor line" should make his team a worthy successor to the Bears of 1930.

As for Centenary development of the center of the line carries much of their success. If the coaching staff can find suitable replacements for Younger, Biedenharn, Hilton and Crowley then something can be expected from the Gentlemen. The reserves, which mean a good deal on any ball club, are sadly lacking for their "suicidal" schedule.

"break," which enabled the Wave to cross the Aggie goal line, that either team presented anything but line plunges and straight off-tackle plays. Until that time the Aggies had successfully kept the Greenies fighting within the face of their own goal.

With the exception of the drive, which netted them the lone marker and the threat which failed to materialize late in the fourth quarter, after recovering a fumble, the highly touted Greenie offense was held in check throughout the game. The first "break" was used to advantage by the Wave, but in the fourth quarter they were unable to gain just one yard through that mighty Aggie forward wall for a second tally.

Twice during the game the Aggies pushed the oval to within five yards of the enemy goal line, only to have the attack bog down in striking distance of the counting stripe, and lose the ball on downs.

In virtually every department of the game the lighter Maroon and White warriors showed themselves superior to the boys in Green, and in none were they inferior. For every yard gained from scrimmage by the Green Wave, two were marked up for the Aggies. Six first
