

BEARS BOW TO AGGIE ATTACK

Sport Sidelights

By W. J. Faulk

"To stop these staggering Gentlemen!" will be the purpose of the Maroon and White from Aggie-land, fresh from their overwhelming win over Baylor, when they tangle with Coach Homer Norton's crew Saturday afternoon.

The affair Saturday will mark the second attempt of the Aggies this year to grab a victory from a Pelican State team, and showing the stuff they did against the Green Wave early this season, Coach Matty's boys should show the Gentlemen a few things.

If the phrase "We learn by our reverses" holds true as it did after Rice Institute's defeat by Oklahoma, then Captain Carl Moulden and his scrappers may be shown a few things themselves—since Coach Ray Morrison's Ponies let the Gents down with a very, very few "hits" and absolutely no scores last week-end.

The cadet corps and the A & M band may have some competition in team supporting if "All the Louisiana Governors" show up.

Such names as they do call our "poor little" Aggie ball carriers is amazing. Imagine Jix Tucker, Sports Editor of the Waco News-Tribune, speaking of Nelson Rees, who tips the scales at barely one hundred and fifty pounds, as being pestiferous. And just because Nelson ran around, over, through and away from the whole Baylor team.

The display of the offensive strength by the Aggies in the two final quarters, when they made 13 first downs and 33 points was quite a boost to the hopes of Aggie football followers with Coach Matty's boys facing four tough assignments in the next five weeks. And judging from the way Rees carried the ball Saturday afternoon, looks as if Joel Hunt, backfield coach of the Aggies, had been showing him a few things.

For the second time this season Big Dooley Dawson proved himself a tower of strength in the Aggie line, Saturday afternoon, when he repeatedly repulsed the bear running attack and refused them a gain over his position. Showing such a brand of play, Dawson has proved himself a capable and dependable tackle to fill the shoes of Maggie Magrill. At the other tackle post Captain Carl Moulden has Charlie Cummings, powerful sophomore, to replace him when necessary.

With the tackle posts now filled with capable reserves the last weakness on the Aggie forward pass has been removed, and every position is supported by capable and dependable reserve strength.

An interesting feature to football followers presented itself Saturday afternoon when Iowa State, a member of the Big Six conference, won its first conference game in three seasons. Not since 1928 had the Iowa team been triumphant over a conference rival until they took the measure of Missouri to the tune of 21-0.

The powerful Tulane Green Wave, winner over the Aggies by sheer luck three weeks back, seems to be showing the way in the southern conference for the third consecutive year. Their 33-0 slaughter of Georgia Tech's Golden Tornadoes proved that the 19-0 win over Vanderbilt was not an upset but that the Greenies really have the stuff.

Probably the greatest surprise of the past week-end was Harvard's smashing victory over the powerful Longhorn eleven. "Texas was not weak," said an eastern sport critic, "but they just had the misfortune of meeting one of the strongest teams the east has produced in a decade."

The fact that the Texas forwards outplayed those of Harvard for near the entire first quarter is sufficient to say that the Steers do have a power in that vaunted forward wall.

As a camouflage for corruption prohibition has been useful.—Ezra Pound.

Pretty good poetry, said Professor Copeland of Harvard, is like pretty good eggs.—David Carb.

THESE WILL BE STOPPED SATURDAY

Some of the men expected to give Coach Matty Bell's boys plenty of trouble in the game Saturday afternoon, when the Aggies and Gents tangle on Fair Park field in Shreveport, are shown above. Nolan and Womack starred in Centenary's win over Baylor, while Cameron was outstanding when Centenary lost to S M U Saturday. Lee is an end of much ability and as much can be said for Johnson and Thompson at their respective guard positions.

Water Polo To Be Played By Swimmers In Inter-College Contests This Year

Headed by co-captain R. M. Smith, letterman from Houston, Texas, the A & M Swimming team with five letter men and six squad men from last years team, has embarked on an early pre-season training period. Previous to this year the water polo has not started until after the Christmas holiday season, but because such an extensive program has been planned for this years team, it was necessary that the team begin their workouts earlier.

For the past week the aquatic sportsmen have been going through their limbering up training exercises. The next two weeks will be devoted to the practice of Soccer Water Polo, a new sport, hitherto unplayed by the team.

This water polo is probably the most trying of all sports. A team is made up of seven men, and only one position on the team is designated, and that being guard; all other players are free to rove at will.

When the two weeks training period is over one game a week will be played in the "Y" pool between members of the team.

Games have been scheduled with the strong Dallas Athletic Club and the Houston Y. M. C. A. Triangles. The tentative date for these contests has been set for January.

R. L. (Soapy) Suggs, three letterman, San Antonio, Texas; and R. M. Smith, one letter, Houston, Texas, will be co-captains of the team. The other three lettermen returning from the team of last year are: J. E. Moeller, breast stroke, two letters, Larchmont, New York; J. D. Howder, free style sprints, two letters, Galveston, Texas; R. C. Jorgensen, 220 free style, one letter, Galveston, Texas. The squadmen from the team of last year are: R. R. Osburn, breast stroke, San Antonio; G. P. Cook, free style sprints, Houston, Texas; C. J. Charske, 220

From The Enemies Camp

DALLAS, Oct. 28.—A group of forty enthusiastic, snorting young Mustangs reported to Coach Morrison Monday afternoon with more pep than a cage of monkeys in preparation for their coming game with Texas University that is to be played in Dallas next Saturday. These lads have been waiting now for twelve long months to even a score of 25 to 7 that was handed them last year in Austin when Coach Clyde Littlefield's Longhorns battled them completely off their feet. Many of the boys that tasted defeat in its bitterest form last season are determined to even things up this week-end by beating the Steers from the very start.

Coach Morrison will work on his passing offense all this week, in an effort to make some progress through the air. Saturday against Centenary the Mustangs had to rely upon their running plays for most of their offense. Only four passes completed out of fifteen attempts was their record. The passing arm of Bob Gilbert could be used to a good advantage just now, but present reports indicate that he will not be able to play until a much later date.

The burden of passing will fall upon Mason and Travis until the return of Gilbert. Both are good at hurling the pigskin through the ozone, but need more experience. They have not passed enough under fire to pick out their receiver very accurately.

The Longhorns defeat at the hands of Harvard is going to be in their favor against the Ponies. No one likes the idea of being whipped twice in a row. For that reason the Steers will be twice as tough Saturday as under ordinary circumstances.

The game this week-end may determine a conference championship. It will have a bearing on the final standing, even though neither of the two win. If Texas should win, it will be the first Pony defeat this year. If the Mustangs win it will practically eliminate Texas from the pennant race, and put the Mustangs just one game closer to a conference crown.

Reid To Have Four Lettermen For Basketball

Four lettermen will be on hand when practice begins Monday afternoon and Coach John Reid strats moulding his 1931-32 Aggie cage team. But the presence of lettermen for four of the five positions cannot decrease the momentous task which face Coach Reid in replacing Cecil "Shiro" Hoke, all-conference center and high scorer on the Maroon and White team last year, who graduated last June.

The loss of "Beau" Bell, who graduated along with Hoke, is likely to be sorely felt in the search for capable forwards. Bell was third in the Aggie scoring last year.

Besides the four returning lettermen, Coach Reid will have a wealth of material from last year's freshman team along with a number of Squadmen and Intramural stars.

The four men who have already gained a letter are: Charlie Beard, Ft. Worth, captain who plays forward; Lester "Squawk" Veltman, San Antonio, guard; Joe Moody, Corpus Christi, forward; and Clarence "Bull" Marcum, Estelline, guard.

Three men who will likely make a hot fight for the vacant pivot position are Charlie Malone, Dallas; Oran "Dooley" Dawson, Crockett; and Joe Merka, Bryan. Malone and Dawson are squadmen while Merka is a freshman numeral man from last year. Malone and Dawson, with three other prospective members of the team for the approaching season, Clifford "Frenchy" Domingue, Port Arthur; "Pete" Robertson, Austin; and Ray Murray, Mercedes; are members of the football team and will not be available for basketball until after Thanksgiving.

Others expected to report for the first workout are: George Fix, Dallas, squadman, guard; J. E. Roberts, Terrell, squadman, forward; C. G. King, Fort Worth, squadman, guard; A. M. Doche, Amarillo, squadman, guard; C. M. White, Camp Normoyle, freshman numeral, forward; C. O. Dalton, Blazon, Wyoming, freshman numeral, guard.

With basketball in midseason and speedball fast getting underway, participation in Intramural sports is daily making noticeable gains.

In class A basketball, Battery F is leading league A with one win. Company B Signa Corps is leading league B with two wins and no defeats. Troop A Cavalry is leading league C with one victory. The band is setting the pace in league D with two wins and no defeats. Company E Infantry has won two games without a loss to top league E.

In three of the four leagues in class B basketball two or more teams are tied for the top in their respective leagues. In league A (?) Troop is leading with two wins and no defeats. In league B Troop C and Company F are fighting it out for the top, each having won two games. Three teams are battling it out for the leading position in league C. They are Battery C, Company A Signal Corps, and Company C Engineers; each having one victory to their credit. In league D Battery B and Battery F are struggling for honor positions. Both teams having won one game.

Aston's Pass To McFadden In 3rd Quarter Paves Way For Victory

A powerful running attack, which uncovered a new star in Nelson Rees, who hails from Dallas; coupled with a neat combination of forward passes, completely bewildered the Baylor defense and changed an apparent defeat into an overwhelming 33-17 victory for the Aggies, Saturday afternoon, over Baylor's Golden Bears.

The triumph was the first for the A & M in a conference tilt since the Thanksgiving game on Kyle field in 1929. It was the second victory for Coach Bell's boys in a major game this season and the first win from a major team on Kyle Field this year. And as a result, the victorious Aggies are now in a three way tie for third place in the conference race with the Rice Institute Owls and Baylor's Golden Bears, Saturday's victims. All three teams are credited with one win and one reverse conference play this year, for an even average of 500 percentage.

Throughout the first two periods of Saturday's battle the big Maroon and White machine was held in check by Baylor's vaunted aerial offense, which proved itself worthy of the praise it has received by crossing the Aggie goal line first. Although A & M got the first break early in the game, when Murray recovered a fumble by Alford, Baylor safety man, deep in Baylor's territory. But the Bear line lived up to the stubborn animal's nature for which it is named, and thwarted three attempts to score and A & M was forced to kick. The game continued to be a punting duel between both teams until late in the first quarter when Petty, stellar Baylor end, broke through, blocked and recovered an attempted punt by Graves, and raced to the A & M 12 yard line before being run out of bounds. But the Aggie line then held and A&M took the ball on downs. The Baylor boys, not to be refused a score, again showered the air with passes and before the quarter was half over the goal line had netted them a touchdown.

Baylor on Defense, Aggies Score

Confident that their seven points lead was sufficient, Baylor's Golden Bears settled down at the start of the third quarter to hold the Maroon and White. But the quarter was still young when the Aggies got the ball on their own 39 yard line. On the first down Aston
