

Sport Sidelights

By W. J. Faulk

Either the Aggies "Ride those Ponies" or those "Ponies ride" to a conference championship, when they meet on Kyle Field Saturday afternoon. A win for the Mustangs would virtually cinch the title for Coach Morrison's high stepping Ponies, who have already whipped half the conference teams in their mad rush for the crown.

A win for the Aggies will keep them in the running for the title, and slightly dampen the chances of the Ponies. A defeat at the hands of the Mustangs would eliminate the Aggies from the race—completely.

After the Mustang game the Aggies have only Rice and Texas, both losers to SMU this year, to complete their schedule. The Mustangs must meet Baylor and TCU in remaining conference games.

And now the Aggies have at least two men for every position on the team—Again Saturday, against the Gentlemen from Centenary, "Dooley" Dawson, the pride of Crockett held down a tackle post for a full half and repeatedly refused to allow the Gents to pass.

Again Jimmie Aston, who plays the double roll of fullback position and calls signals, played a bank up game against the Gentlemen from Centenary. His play in backing up the line and his off-tackle thrusts, which accounted for several first downs, would be commendable in any ball game.

Along with the remainder of the Aggie secondary defense Jimmie figured prominently in the pass defense which kept the Gents from completing but one long pass all afternoon.

With both regular tackles out of the line-up the TCU Horned Frogs may find themselves on the short end of the score when the final gun sounds Saturday afternoon, to end their tilt with the Rice Owls.

The Frogs barely nosed out the Razorbacks, conceded to be the conference's weakest team, in their game at Fayetteville Saturday afternoon, while Coach Meagher's eleven displayed a world of power in downing Texas and twice scoring on the Mustangs.

The lowly Longhorns, beaten in their last three starts, will try to stage a comeback to win a victory over Baylor's Golden Bears. The Longhorns will be favored to win but may expect plenty of trouble from Baylor's aerial attack, since the Steer secondaries were the victims of 13 completed passes out of twenty tried by SMU last week.

Although interest in Southwest football circles will be centered on the Aggie-Mustang battle, the Owl-Frog scrap in Fort Worth promises to be one of more than casual interest and may also figure in the championship, ere the season closes.

Rice, SMU and TCU, all play six conference games while A&M, Texas and Arkansas play only five. Should A&M win from SMU and Rice drop TCU all four teams will have a chance at the title. Rice, TCU, and SMU will have a slight edge on A&M because of their playing one more conference game.

The remaining schedule favors SMU after Saturday's game, with only Baylor and TCU left as conference games as TCU and Rice meet all their conference opponents on successive week-ends as does Rice.

The habit seems to be catching—this kicking out on the five yard line. In the Tulane game McFadden repeatedly punted out on the enemy's four and five yard line. Then Saturday afternoon Graves and Domingue copied his performance by kicking out within ten yards of the Gents goal line, with amazing regularity.

"Pete" Robertson's pass defense against Centenary bids no good for the Mustang aerial thrusts. Robertson formerly played at end but was converted to center when Willis Nolan was injured in the Tulane game. Since that time Pete has divided time with Earl Rudder at the pivot position.

Should his knee continue to show improvement Willis Nolan may be found back at his regular position at center in the game Saturday.

The Aggies chances to win the conference championship will either be enhanced or demolished beginning at 3:00—so be there—Army—and let's "Ride these Ponies"

Tenth Olympiad To Be One of Largest In History of Games

2000 Athletes Of Thirty-five Nations To Compete In Los Angeles, California, This Summer.

Los Angeles, California, Nov. 3.—First announcement of the final and complete official program of the Games of the Xth Olympiad to be held in Los Angeles from July 30 to August 14, inclusive, 1932, was made by the Los Angeles Organizing Committee, following receipt of a cable of confirmation from Count de Baillet-Latour, president of the International Olympic Committee from Lausanne, Switzerland.

The program will open in Olympic Stadium (Coliseum) on Saturday afternoon, July 30, with the historic Ceremony, a part of which will be the impressive Parade of Nations, in which 2000 sons and daughters of 35 nations, led by their respective flags, will participate in the March past the Tribune of Honor.

Oath To Be Taken

One athlete will then step from the drawn-up ranks to take the Olympic oath for all of the teams of the participating nations. As the oath is administered the Olympic flag will be raised; the Olympic torch will blaze forth atop the massive peristyle of the Stadium and in the presence of representatives of foreign countries, world-wide Olympic organizations, and officials of state, the Games of the Xth Olympiad will be declared officially opened. Many other beautiful features of pageantry will mark the Opening Ceremony.

The Olympic Games will bring to Los Angeles the greatest gathering of dignitaries ever to assemble on the Pacific coast. Members of royal houses from all parts of the world will attend the Opening Ceremony as will official delegations from their governments. In accordance with Olympic traditions that the ruling head of the nation pronounce the Games opened, President Hoover will be officially invited to open the Games of the Xth Olympiad.

Competition In Every Sport
Something of the magnitude of the program is suggested by the fact that during the 16 days the Games are in progress, more than 135 distinct programs of competitions from 15 branches of sports will be held mornings, afternoons and evenings at 9 or more stadiums auditoriums or water courses.

Competitions will be held in the following world-wide sports: track and field athletics, boxing, cycling, equestrian sports, fencing, field hockey, gymnastics, modern pentathlon, shooting, rowing, swimming, diving and water polo, weight lifting, wrestling, yachting, national demonstration, international demonstration and fine arts.

Olympic Stadium (Coliseum) in Olympic Park (Exposition Park) with a seating capacity for 105,000 persons, will be the center of Olympic activity. In it will be held, (Continued on page 3)

Freshmen To Play Allen Academy Next

The Aggie Fish Football team is scheduled to play its second game of the season, against Allen Academy, Wednesday night, November 11, beginning at 8 o'clock at Kyle Field.

Having lost their first game to Brownsville Junior College the Fish are looking forward to this encounter.

Although the squad is not as large this year as it usually is, all lost quantity is made up by the good playing of the team.

Of the squad that went to Brownsville, W. H. Kimbrough, R. W. Russi, W. L. Zunker, W. E. Caswell, and Moehlman are the players that seem to be doing the best work on the Fish team at the present time. The following players went to Brownsville: Ends—O. M. Conoley, V. T. Tracy, W. O. Watson, B. F. Spain, and H. M. McClain; Tackles—W. T. Jordan, G. J. Cooper, and W. Suggs; Guards—John Crow, N. Willis, J. R. Knotts, and S. N. Maxwell; Centers—J. B. Roach and W. E. Hurst. The backfield men that went were J. C. Stringfellow, J. West, B. Puckett, J. C. Gregory, W. L. Young, R. Good, E. O. Fowler, S. T. Marten, and W. H. Randow. Other members of the 'A' squad are M. M. Diggs, R. E. Connolly, H. N. Brendley, and E. White.

to offer, Rees, Domingue, Hewitt, and Barfield. In this quartette the Aggies can match the Mustangs in shiftiness almost man for man, but the speed to be found behind the Pony line is lacking in the Aggie line-up. In Aston and Spencer, the team is well supplied with plenty of power on the defense and some excellent blocking on the offensive.

The Aggies forward wall will be only slightly handicapped in weight advantage by that of the Ponies. But, in the Mustang line, the Aggies will meet a fast charging aggregation which completely stopped the heavier Longhorn forwards and tore gaping holes in the Orange and White line when the Ponies carried the ball. Past records show that the Maroon and White line has done equally well this season in stopping four teams whose forwards held an advantage of from ten to twenty pounds per man. The Horned Frog forwards are the only ones to hold the Aggies in check for four full quarters.

Along with the defensive play of the line, the Maroon and White pass defense functioned to perfection against the aerial thrusts of Centenary's Gentlemen Saturday afternoon, when the latter completed only one pass, for a gain of nine yards.

Results of games thus far this season show the Aggies and Mustangs to be two highest scoring machines in the conference, and the defense of both clubs has been commendable in every game. Southern Methodist has a slight lead over A&M in points scored. In six games the former have amassed a total of 131 points while the latter is credited with 123 in seven tilts. But the defense shows just the reverse, with 35 points having been made against SMU by their opponents to 20 against A&M.

For the game Saturday the following tentative line-up for A&M will find veteran Aggie tackles and guards as starters for the third time in as many conference games. The tentative starters are: Murray and Malone, ends; Magrill and Moulden, tackles; Hornsby and Moore, guards; Robertson, center; Domingue, quarterback; Graves and Davis, halfbacks; Spencer, full back.

Staff Tables To Be Moved To One Group Under New Adopted Seating Arrangement Of Mess

Revision Of Seats To Present Many Advantages Over Old Methods.

Rearrangement of the seating of the mess hall will take place during the later part of this week with the purpose of placing of the corps in such a manner as to allow every one to eat their meals and at the same time cut out as much waste as possible, following recommendations of the Mess Hall management. Waste of food from each meal has been high but due to the variable number of men eating at a table some have been experiencing difficulty in satisfying their appetites.

Under the revised plan all Seniors will eat on a group of tables nearest to the main entrance and the annex door. Adjoining these will be the corps which will occupy all but a few tables at the end of the building. These are to be used by visitors and students having guests will be allowed to eat with them on these tables. On special occasions when there are a number of out of town people on the campus, a not left at the main staff table at the meal previous to the one at which you will have visitors, places may be reserved on these tables, and a waiter will be ready to serve you during the meal.

It is to be understood that this revision is not being made in an effort to cut down the food consumption, but to decrease the un-usually large amount of waste. Under no circumstances will the amount of food prepared for a meal be decreased until an additional increase in waste warrants it, but through the placing of the same amount of food on a less number of tables, it is hoped that every one will be able to eat more satisfactorily than in the past.

Printing Contract For Longhorn To Be Let In A Few Days

Bids for the printing of the Longhorn for this year were opened Tuesday and while the contract has not been let, it is evident that there will be a considerable saving in the cost this year; enough it is hoped to offset the decrease in advertising due to the financial condition of the country. Four bids were received from the following firms: The Rein Company of Houston, printers of last year's book; Botz-Hugh Stephens Press of Jefferson City, Missouri; E. L. Steck Company of Austin, and The Staf-

Expansion Plans Of Campus Are Being Formulated

Giesecke Talks To Architectural Club About Planning Of Campus For Future Years.

The arrangement of campus buildings of nearly all colleges and universities of today afford a perplexing problem for architects, according to Dr. F. E. Giesecke, '83, and College Architect, in an address to the Architectural Club Tuesday evening. Dr. Giesecke says that the history of all colleges show that not enough foresight has been used in locating campus buildings with allowances for expansion from a practical, convenient, and economic standpoint.

The building expansion of the college from the first buildings; the old Main Building and Cathedral Hall; to the builds which stand today, was outlined by Dr. Giesecke. Also the accepted plans for location of giant building proposal made possible by money realized from oil endowment funds recently obtained, were presented to the Club. Two sketches, one by Professor Smith of Northwestern University and consultant Architect for the present building program, and by Dr. Giesecke, for the location of all buildings to be built at A and M were discussed by Dr. Giesecke.

College buildings should keep pace with the periods in which they are built and should also be pictorial of the era, according to Dr. Giesecke, but the essential thought for Architects to keep in mind is to arrange the location of buildings in such a manner that in later years there will be adequate space for expansion of the building program.

Mark Curtis, president of the Architectural Club, promises many similar addresses will be made at regular intervals during the year by other prominent Architects.
