Northwestern Prof. O.K.'s Love Clinics For Happy Love Life

(College News Service) Evanston, Ill., Jan. 6.—It is popularly known as a "love clinic," but Northwestern University's new domestic relations department this week was rapidly demonstrating its practical value.

Couples, either contemplating marriage or abandonment of the matrimonial state, are daily receiving expert yet sympathetic advice from experts, under the direction of Professor Arthur J. Todd, Northwestern sociologist, who believes that domestic and pre-domestic problems can be treated by specialists in the same manner as physical ills.

In this way many of the pitfalls on the road to marital happiness

Students Asked To Name Favorite Star and Show

Hoping to secure information as to the desires of the students in regard to the pictures they prefer the management of the Bryan theaters asks that students express themselves as to the actors and type of shows preferred.

The adjoining ballot is designed to determine the type of shows. Give the matter your serious consideration, and fill in the coupon. The management of the theaters has attempted to show pictures as recent as those of any cities of the state, and has succeeded in getting the earliest release and many first showings in the state.

To further this ideal arrangement, it is hoped that by sounding out the preferences of the customers, early showings will be made of shows that suit the public. Any suggestions or criticisms will be welcomed. Fill in the ballot and mail it to the management of the Palace Theater or to The Battalion, Box 259, F. E., Campus.

may be avoided, he contended in his announcement that a branch of the domestic relations clinic has been established in Chicago. Many couples, both old and young, are applying for advice, he revealed.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday—Palace—"Delicious."

Saturday night—Assembly Hall—"Rich Man's Folly."

Preview Saturday, Tuesday, Wednesday—Palace—"Confessions of a Girl Who Was Under 18."

Sunday, Monday—Palace—"Over the Hill."

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are as delightful as ever, in their latest picture "Delicious." Janet as a little Scotch immigrant tries to crash the U.S.A. and society and capture the heart of a handsome millionaire polo player, Charles Farrell. You will enjoy the tears and laughs brought to you by this Scotch waif as much as you will enjoy the music of George Gershwin. El Brendel and Raul Roulien lead the supporting cast.

"Flying High," a Broadway musical comedy brings you the stage star Bert Lahr and the screen comedian Charlotte Greenwood in a very enjoyable comedy of altitude records and airplanes.

George Bancroft takes the lead in "Rich Man's Folly," the story of a man who considered power and wealth his all, and lost the one thing in life, his boy, whom he had wished to carry on his pursuit of power. The story is very human, and possesses the usual Bancroft drive.

Marian Marsh appears in her first role as a star in "Confessions of a girl who was under 18," a modern, human, and splendidly executed story of a girl who wanted wealth at any price. The cast is excellent, with Anita Page, Joyce Compton, J. Farrell Mac Donald, Regis Toomey, and Warren Williams who will be remembered in his lead with Bebe Daniels in "Honor of the Family." With such a cast and story, the picture should be an excellent one.

"Over the Hill," score a triumphant return to the screen, in a picture that will last in your memory when all others have faded. It is a powerful drama of youth and mother love. The cast fits the parts perfectly, with James Dunn, Sally Eilers, and Mae Marsh in a splendid return to pictures. It is a picture that you all should enjoy.

Co-operation among the business men of Bryan is evident in the reduction of bus fares for student traveling to Bryan in the afternoon. This is brought about in an attempt to encourage trade, and will be a permanent change if it proves satisfactory in its thirty days trial. Students are urged to take advantage of the reduction. With show prices and bus fares reduced in the afternoons, more nights should be left open for study. A few local reductions might further increase business.

"There's none so good as LUCKIES"

"I've tried all cigarettes and there's none so good as LUCKIES. And incidentally I'm careful in my choice of cigarettes. I have to be because of my throat. Put me down as one who always reaches for a LUCKY. It's a real delight to find a Cellophane wrapper that opens without an ice pick."
