TAILOR PRICES INVESTIGATED BY COMMITTEE

Student Welfare Committee Hears Reports Of Exchange Store Investigation; Discusses Lowering Cleaning And Pressing Prices.

Concluding an investigation of the Exchange Store and a survey of the cleaning and pressing business on the campus in the same meeting last Thursday night, the Student Welfare Committee took an initial step toward the possible immediate reduction of cleaning and pressing prices.

The report of the investigating committee which has been underway for some time revealed that the prices of the Exchange Store were ten per cent under current prices on similar articles purchased in Austin, Texas, and fourteen per cent under uniform prices quoted from San Antonio.

The complete report of the investigating committee of the Exchange Store will be found on page 3.

The committee in concluding its report stated that as the handling of books brought little or no profit to the store, the store should be given the second hand book business to offset its loss in handling new books. The Welfare Committee voted to adopt the report.

Members of the committee making the investigation included C. M. Evans, chairman; A. C. Moser, and H. T. McWatters.

McQuillen Reports

Making a report of the cleaning and pressing prices now on the campus, E. E. McQuillen, stated that the Campus Cleaners, operating with their present volume of business, would be able to do a cash and carry business at a reduction of almost forty per cent of present prices.

Following a discussion of the advisability of abolishing all agents and discontinuing delivery service, the Welfare Committee voted in favor of the cash and carry plan, and recommended that the commandant stop student collectors, from taking up cleaning and pressing in the halls.

It was brought out that it would possibly lead into a discontinuance of local business for all cleaning and pressing concerns not located on or adjacent to the campus, as these firms would doubtless have an advantage in securing cash and carry business.

No definite action has been announced following the recommendations of the Welfare Committee to the college, but investigation of the situation is continuing by college officials.

Individual High Point Score For This College Raised Twice In Two Consecutive Weeks.

Constant improvement displayed weekly by the Aggie riflemen, National Intercollegiate champions for the past two years, brought them to what appears to be the peak of form when they fired a total of 3848 out of a possible 4,000 points. They are now preparing to enter the Hearst National matches.

The win last week gave the Aggies a total of forty victories and one loss for the season's record thus far. The defeat was administered by the University of Kentucky team which was one of the victims in the match just finished.

Defeat West Point

Outstanding in the rather elongated list of victories of the team this year was their recent slaughter of the U. S. Military Academy team, which they defeated easily 1439 to 1359 and avenged themselves of the setback handed them by the West Pointers last season.

This match was a special five man affair and was fired by a team consisting wholly of Seniors. Those participating in the match were: J. W. Dodson, who was high point man in the week's firing and incidentally established an all time record of 390 out of a possible 400 points; C. S. Porcher (team captain); F. K. McGinnis; C. W. Crass; and O. D. Price.

New Records Made

Dodson's new high mark broke the all time record for A and M students for the second time in as many weeks, Crass having fired a new-record of 388 the week previous.

In two other special matches the University of Iowa and Carnegie Institute of Technology fell before the Aggie attack.

Hearst Matches Starting

After completing the Hearst matches the team will finish the Eighth Corps area competition, and if successful in this, then they will enter the National Rifle Association's Intercollegiate matches. In four of the past five years the Aggies have won the Eighth Corps Area with little difficulty, and in the past two years have secured two "legs" on the National Rifle Association trophy. They need only to repeat as champions this year to have permanent possession of the cup.

Three Men Tie

A slight difference of opinion manifested itself throughout in the three men, Ad Dietzel, Raymond Strickland, and "Doc" Sumner each receiving six votes for first choice and one each for second, there being not even one man chosen unanimously.

It may also be noted that Strickland was named at least once for every position on the team, but was placed at forward because four first string votes placed him there. Tom Murphy, Arkansas guard, was next with five first choices and two seconds while "Doc" Sexton, (See BASKET BALL on page 4)
